BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor, Origin. of Burlington, New Jersey, who died January 18th, 1880. By his will he left the greater portion of his estate for the purpose of establishing and maintaining an institution of advanced learning for women. Dr. Taylor was a member of the Religious Society of Orthodox Friends, and he provided that the trustees of the institution should be members of that body. It was his desire that the college should be pervaded by the principles of Christianity held by Friends, which he believed to be the same in substance as those taught by the early Christians, and an endeavor will be made to promote this end; it was, however, his evident purpose that the college should be non-sectarian, and the trustees accordingly established it on that basis.

The college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia, at Bryn Introductory Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles to the west of the city. The Statement. site was purchased by the founder on account of its healthfulness and beauty, and the college buildings were begun during his lifetime. In 1880, the year of his death, the college was incorporated by the authority of the State of Pennsylvania, and invested with power to confer degrees. A circular of information was issued by the trustees in 1883. A president and a dean of the faculty were elected in the spring of 1884, and during the remainder of the year plans were matured and appointments made in the faculty. The courtesy of the presiding officers and instructors of existing universities and colleges facilitated an acquaintance with the prevailing college curriculum, and the domestic organisation of the woman's colleges, Vassar, Smith, and Wellesley, received careful consideration. To the Johns Hopkins University acknowledgment is especially due, since from it has been borrowed the system of major and minor electives in fixed combination to which Bryn Mawr College first gave the name of the Group System. In the spring of 1885 the first program was issued, and the college was opened for instruction in the autumn of 1885.

Admission. Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers.

Graduate Students. Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing. They may pursue any courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses.* They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations, from the instructors, and their needs are considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures.

Fellows. The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the Fellows, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Eleven resident Fellowships,† of the value of five hundred and twenty-five dollars each, are awarded annually—one in Greek, one in Latin, one in English, one in German and Teutonic philology, one in Romance languages, one in history or economics and politics, one in philosophy, one in mathematics, one in physics, one in chemistry, and one in biology. These fellowships are awarded in recognition of previous attainments as an honor. They are open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate study. Generally speaking, the fellowship is given to the candidate who has studied longest or whose work affords the best promise of future success. All applications should be made as early as possible, and must be made by the 15th of April preceding the year for which the fellowship is desired. Blank forms for application will be forwarded to applicants by the President of the College. A definite answer will be given within two weeks of the last date fixed for application. The holder of a fellowship is required to show, by the presentation of a thesis, or in some other manner, that her studies have not been without result. Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of the special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the president's office; they are not permitted, while holding the fellowship, to teach, or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. All Fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship may, by vote of the Trustees, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

* For the convenience of graduate students the courses offered in the graduate departments of the college are reprinted from this program in a separate pamphlet, which may be obtained free of charge by applying to the Secretary of the College.

Eighteen Graduate Scholarships, of the value of two hundred dollars each, may, on the recommendation of the head of the department in question, be awarded to the candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are open also to all graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of other colleges of good standing. Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, and to assist in the conduct of examinations. Graduate Scholars.

Undergraduate students must have fulfilled the requirements for matriculation, and may enter the college at any age at which those requirements have been fulfilled. The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts are stated on pages 58 to 64. Undergraduate Students.

Those students who do not wish to study for a degree are permitted to pursue any undergraduate courses offered by the College for which their previous training has fitted them; they will, in the event of a change of plan, be credited with such of their studies as may have coincided with the studies leading to a degree. Attention is called to the fact that the Group System enables all candidates for a degree to specialise in two or more subjects.

Hearers are excused from passing the matriculation examination; but they are strictly distinguished from matriculated students, and are entitled to reside in the college only when by Hearers.

so doing they exclude no matriculated student, and when the courses pursued by them are equivalent in number to those ordinarily pursued in each year by candidates for a degree. They must be women of at least twenty-five years of age, and must furnish proof that they have at some time pursued the studies included in the matriculation examination. They must satisfy the several instructors that they can profit by the courses that they desire to follow, and their admission to recitations, examinations, and laboratory exercises depends on the express consent of the instructor in charge. Hearers differ, moreover, from matriculated students in that they are not recognised by the College, and may receive only such certificates of collegiate study as may be given them by the several instructors. They may not receive degrees.

Examination for Matriculation.

The examination for matriculation must be taken by all who wish to pursue their studies in the undergraduate department of the college, either as candidates for a degree or as students pursuing special courses, with the exception of such applicants for admission as present a certificate of honorable dismissal from some college or university of acknowledged standing.*

*The examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board which are designated by Bryn Mawr College as equivalent to the matriculation examinations of the College will be accepted, subject to the same conditions which govern the Bryn Mawr College examinations.

The passing mark for both sets of examinations is the same, sixty per cent.

The matriculation examination may not be taken in more than two divisions; but, if this rule be observed, candidates may divide the divisions as they please between the examination of Bryn Mawr College and of the College Entrance Examination Board; both divisions may be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, or in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board; or one division may be taken in the Bryn Mawr College examination, and the other in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Not more than one calendar year and the summer vacation may elapse between the two divisions of the examination for admission. There is no other restriction as to time; for example, candidates may present themselves for the first division of their examination in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College, held during the last week in May and the first week in June; and for the second division at the examination held by the College Entrance Examination Board in the fourth week of June of the same year; or if they fail in the spring examination of Bryn Mawr College they may try the same subjects again in the examination of the College Entrance Examination Board three weeks later.

In case a sufficient number of sections to secure admission is not passed

The examination for matriculation is open to those also who wish to take it as a test of proficiency in elementary studies, but have no intention of entering the college; and in two divisions of the examination the sections taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the sections offered in the cancelled division (except those sections which have been also offered in the division which is to be counted) must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the sections in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of sections.

Candidates who have passed the fifteen sections necessary for admission may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations in the Bryn Mawr College or the College Entrance Examination Board examination; in the case of a condition in French or German, however, the entire examination in the language must be taken, unless the condition is in grammar only, in which case it may be removed by passing the Bryn Mawr College examination in grammar; and in the case of a condition in English Composition incurred in the Bryn Mawr College examination the entire examination in English, a and b must be passed in order to remove the condition by passing the College Entrance Examination Board's examination.

Candidates taking the College Entrance Examination Board's examinations will not be considered in the awarding of the eight Bryn Mawr competitive entrance examination scholarships, unless the final division of the examination be taken in the spring Bryn Mawr College examination. Candidates are not eligible when the finals are taken in the autumn examination.

certificates are given to those who are successful in passing the examination.*†

Blank forms of application for admission may be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

Examinations are held in the spring and autumn of every year at Bryn Mawr College, and in the spring of every year may be held at other places; they are always held in the spring in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Richmond, Utica, Portland (Oregon), and London, England, and candidates taking examinations at these places are charged a fee of five dollars for the whole or any part of the examination. Examinations may also be held at other places, if desired, but in this case the candidates must defray the whole expense of the examination, the minimum fee being five dollars. In 1907 the examinations were arranged for in Greenwich and Washington (Connecticut), Pittsburgh and Harrisburg (Pennsylvania), Washington (District of Columbia), Cincinnati (Ohio), Dubuque (Iowa), Savannah (Georgia), Indianapolis (Indiana), and Tarsus (Asia Minor).

Candidates who intend to present themselves for examination at Bryn Mawr College must apply to the Secretary of the College at least two weeks before the date set for the beginning of the examinations and the application should be made on a form to be obtained from the Secretary of the College, and must be accompanied by the fee of five dollars, charged for each division of the examination. Candidates who do not apply two weeks before the date of the beginning of the examinations will be charged an additional fee of five dollars. Candidates intending to take examinations elsewhere than at Bryn Mawr College must apply to the Secretary of the College at least six weeks before the date set for the beginning of the examinations. Candidates who fail to do this will be charged a fee of five dollars in addition to the fee charged for the examination.

The number of sections allotted to each subject indicates approximately the time which should be devoted to preparation for that subject. Thus if, for example, the candidate studies five subjects in each year during the last four years of preparation for college, then Mathematics, Latin, and English should be studied for all four years, since each counts as four sections of the examination; History and Science should be studied for one year, since each counts as one section; and the two languages (Greek and German, or Greek and French, or German and French) should each be studied for three years, since each counts as three sections, or three-twentieths of the examination.

The examination may not be taken in more than two divisions, and in each division the candidate may offer any sections she pleases, provided that, if she offer French or German, she offer in the same division of the examination all the three sections grammar and prose and verse translation.

If more than one calendar year and the summer vacation elapse between the two divisions of the examination for admission the first division is cancelled and must be repeated. In case a sufficient number of sections to secure admission is not passed in two divisions of the examination the sections taken in one division must be cancelled, and all the sections offered in the cancelled division (except those sections which have been offered in the division which is to be counted) must be offered again, together with a sufficient number of the sections in which the candidate has been conditioned to ensure her passing in the required number of sections.

* Candidates are expected to show by their papers that all the subjects required for matriculation have been studied for a reasonable length of time. Total failure in the second division of the examination in any subject, when such failure is of a character to indicate that the subject has been presented as a mere form, prevents the candidate from receiving any certificate, unless she can produce satisfactory evidence that the subject in question has been faithfully studied for a reasonable length of time.

Candidates who have passed the fifteen sections necessary for admission may remove conditions by passing the corresponding examinations before or after entering the college. In the case of a condition in French or German translation the entire examination in the language, grammar and translation, must be taken. All entrance conditions must be passed off within twelve months after the student enters the college, under penalty of exclusion from full college work during the following year. A fee of three dollars is charged for each condition examination except conditions in spelling and punctuation for which the fee is one dollar. Students are not permitted to attend the college courses in subjects in which they have entrance conditions until these conditions have been passed off.

The candidate may offer for examination before entrance the remaining language (either French, or German, or Greek,* which ever was not included by the candidate in the above twenty sections), and if this subject is not passed before entrance, the candidate must pass an examination in it before receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts.†

Candidates desiring to enter with advanced standing may offer for examination before entrance trigonometry‡ and solid geometry. These subjects are not necessarily included in the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, but students that have passed these examinations are credited with the equivalent number of hours of free elective work, each examination counting for this purpose as equivalent to two hours a week of

* Students that have omitted Greek in the examination for matriculation may substitute for the matriculation course in Greek the minor course in Latin. The minor course in Latin may also be offered for examination by candidates for matriculation that desire to enter the college with advanced standing, and, at their discretion, by matriculated students without attendance on the college classes, provided it is offered before the beginning of the student's junior year. The minor course is considered for this purpose as comprising two sections, constituted as follows:

A. Cicero, Selected Letters, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, 33, 37, 38, 39, 42, 44, 45, 47, 48, 49, 52, 75, 76, 91, 92 (Letters of Cicero, edited by F. F. Abbott, Boston, Ginn and Company), Livy, Book xxi., Latin Prose Composition, including a detailed knowledge of the more abstruse Latin constructions and some facility in turning simple English narrative into Latin.

B. Horace, Odes, except i. 25, 27, 33, 36; ii. 5; iii. 6, 15, 20; iv. 1, 10, 13; Epodes, except 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 17; Carmen Sæculare; Satires i. 1, 5, 6, 9; ii. 6; Epistles i. 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 14, 20.

No substitutions are allowed for any part of the above requirements, except in the case of students entering with advanced standing from other colleges.

There are two examinations, one in Section A and one in Section B, each three hours in length. These examinations may be taken in different years, and in the order preferred by the candidate; or one section may be studied in the college class, and the other offered for examination without attendance upon the class. Examinations in Minor Latin are held only at the time of the regular matriculation examinations at the beginning and end of the college year, and in February.

† If this examination is not passed before the beginning of the student's third year in the college, she must enter the college class in the subject.

‡ For examinations in the College Entrance Examination Board equivalent to those which may be offered for advanced standing, see page 51.

free electives for one semester. Such advanced standing examinations will enable the student to lighten her work in college or to enlarge her choice of elective studies, but will not enable her to shorten the time of obtaining the Bachelor's degree, which represents in every case four years of study in the college classes.

I. Mathematics.—(1) and (2) Algebra. (3) and (4) Plane Geometry. Mathematics

The examination in Algebra comprises Elementary Operations, Quadratic Equations, Problems, Ratio, Proportion, Variation, Arithmetical and Geometrical Progressions, the Binomial Theorem for Positive Integral Exponents.

While there is no formal examination in Arithmetic, an adequate knowledge of the subject is required throughout the mathematical examinations; in all the papers there are some numerical problems, and the correct solution of a fair number of these is regarded as essential.

In Algebra, C. Smith's Elementary Algebra (American edition, revised by Irving Stringham), and in Geometry, Phillips and Fisher's Elements of Geometry (abridged edition) or Wentworth's Geometry, will serve to indicate the preparation required for these examinations.

II. Latin.—(1) Grammar and Composition. (2) and (3) Translation at sight of simple passages in Latin prose. (4) Translation at sight of simple passages in Latin poetry. Latin. Due allowance is made for unusual words, and there are questions testing the candidate's practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

The so-called Roman method of pronunciation as explained in one of the standard Latin grammars is required.

As many schools are introducing the "natural method" as a substitute for thorough grammatical training, attention is called to the fact that special stress is laid on an accurate and ready knowledge of grammatical forms. A knowledge of paradigms and parts of irregular verbs is insisted upon.

III. History.—(1) The outlines of the History of Greece and Rome; History. or the outlines of the History of England; or the outlines of the History of the United States.

Botsford's History of Greece, Botsford's History of Rome, Andrews's History of England, Cheyney's A Short History of England, and McLaughlin's History of the American Nation, or Adams and Trent's History of the United States, will serve to indicate the preparation required.

English.—(1) English Grammar. (2), (3) and (4) English Composition. English. The examinations in grammar and composition may be divided and may be taken in either division of the entrance examination. Although in and after the spring examinations of 1906 the examination in English will count as four points it will not be increased in difficulty; it will consist of a critical composition, such as has hitherto been required, and, in addition, in order that the three sections of the examination may not depend solely on this critical paper, of one or two paragraphs in which the candidate will be asked to give in descriptive or narrative form the substance of important parts of the required reading.

In 1907 candidates must be familiar with Chaucer's Prologue and Knight's Tale; Shakespeare's Richard II, Henry IV (expurgated), Henry V, Macbeth, and The Merchant of Venice; Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, Lycidas, and Comus; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Matthew Arnold's Essay on Gray; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America, and Letter to the Sheriffs of Bristol; Wordsworth's Michael, Intimations of Immortality, "Three years she grew in sun and shower," The Solitary Reaper, "O Nightingale! thou surely art," "The world is too much with us," "Earth has not anything to show more fair," "It is not to be thought of that the flood"; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner and Christabel; Shelley's Adonais, Sensitive Plant, To a Skylark, and Ode to the West Wind; Keats's Eve of St. Agnes, Ode to Autumn, and Ode to a Nightingale; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Scott's Ivanhoe; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Pater's Child in the House.

In 1908 candidates must be familiar with Chaucer's Prologue and Knight's Tale; Shakespeare's Richard II, Henry IV (expurgated), Henry V, Julius Cæsar, and The Merchant of Venice; Milton's L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, Lycidas, and Paradise Lost, Books I and II; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Matthew Arnold's Essay on Gray; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Wordsworth's Michael, Intimations of Immortality, "Three years she grew in sun and shower," The Solitary Reaper, "O Nightingale! thou surely art," "The world is too much with us," "Earth has not anything to show more fair," "It is not to be thought of that the flood"; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner and Christabel; Shelley's Adonais, Sensitive Plant, To a Skylark, and Ode to the West Wind; Keats's Eve of St. Agnes, Ode to Autumn, and Ode to a Nightingale; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Scott's Ivanhoe; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Stevenson's Kidnapped.

In 1909 and 1910 candidates must be familiar with Chaucer's Prologue and Knight's Tale; Shakespeare's Richard II, Henry IV (expurgated), Henry V, Macbeth, and The Merchant of Venice; Milton's Lycidas, Comus, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Matthew Arnold's Essay on Gray; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Wordsworth's Michael, Intimations of Immortality, "Three years she grew in sun and shower," The Solitary Reaper, "O Nightingale! thou surely art," "The world is too much with us," "Earth has not anything to show more fair," "It is not to be thought of that the flood"; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner and Christabel; Shelley's Adonais, Sensitive Plant, and To a Skylark; Keats's Eve of St. Agnes, Ode to Autumn, and Ode to a Nightingale; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Carlyle's Essay on Burns; Scott's Ivanhoe; Thackeray's Henry Esmond.

In 1911 candidates must be familiar with Chaucer's Prologue and Knight's Tale; Shakespeare's Richard II, Henry IV (expurgated), Henry V, Macbeth, and As You Like It; Milton's Lycidas, Comus, L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso; the Sir Roger de Coverley Papers in the Spectator; Matthew Arnold's Essay on Gray; Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard; Burke's Speech on Conciliation with America; Wordsworth's Michael, Tintern Abbey, "Three years she grew in sun and shower," The Solitary Reaper, "O Nightingale! thou surely art," "The world is too much with us," "Earth has not anything to show more fair," "It is not to be thought of that the flood"; Coleridge's Ancient Mariner and Christabel; Shelley's Adonais, Sensitive Plant, and To a Skylark; Keats's Eve of St. Agnes, Ode to Autumn, and Ode to a Nightingale; Tennyson's Passing of Arthur; Carlyle's Essay on Burns; Scott's Ivanhoe; Hawthorne's House of the Seven Gables; Thackeray's Henry Esmond.

The books agreed on for the corresponding years by the Associations of the Colleges and Schools of the New England States, the Middle States and Maryland, the North Central States, and the Southern States, will be accepted as equivalents for the books prescribed for the English examinations of Bryn Mawr College.

The books prescribed for candidates taking the regular examinations for matriculation in any given year are required also of candidates taking the special matriculation examination provided for students entering the college in February of the year following. Candidates passing off conditions after admission to the college may offer the books prescribed in the examination in which the condition was imposed.

In preparing for this examination special attention should be given to paragraph-structure and sentence-structure. Robins and Perkins's Introduction to the Study of Rhetoric, Hill's Foundations of Rhetoric, Abbott's How to Write Clearly, and Bigelow's Handbook of Punctuation, will serve to indicate the preparation required for this division of the examination.

Science.—(1) The elements of one of the following sciences: —Physics, Science. or Chemistry, or Botany, or Physiology, or Physical Geography.

Carhart and Chute's Elements of Physics, or Mann and Twiss's Physics; Remsen's Introduction to the Study of Chemistry (Briefer Course); Leavitt's Outlines of Botany; Setchell's Laboratory Practice and Spalding's Introduction to Botany used in connection with either Atkinson's Elementary Botany or Barnes's Plant Life or Coulter's Plants; Martin's Human Body (Briefer Course) or Foster's Physiology for Beginners; Dryer's Lessons in Physical Geography, or Davis and Snyder's Physical Geography, will serve to indicate the preparation required. Candidates are advised, whenever possible, to offer Physics, as this study forms the best basis for scientific work. It is recommended that candidates should have some knowledge of the metric system.

IV. Two of the following languages:

Greek.—(1) Grammar and Composition. (2) Translation at sight of Greek. simple passages in Attic prose, such as Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia. (3) Translation at sight of passages of average difficulty from Homer. In (2) and (3) due allowance is made for unusual words and there are questions testing the candidate's practical knowledge of grammar and prosody.

White's First Greek Book will serve to indicate the preparation required in prose composition.

French.—(1) The examination in French is in three divisions, one to French. test the candidate's knowledge of pronunciation and ordinary grammatical forms, the other two, her power to read at sight ordinary French prose and verse.

For the examination in reading no texts are assigned, the examination being intended to test the candidate's ability to read any ordinary French whatsoever. Candidates preparing for these examinations are advised to acquire as large a vocabulary as possible; they are further advised in their study of verbs to concentrate their attention on the regular verbs, the auxiliaries être, avoir, such important irregular verbs as aller, devoir, dire, faire, mettre, prendre, pouvoir, vouloir, tenir, venir, voir, écrire, lire, croire, boire, and the typical verbs conduire, craindre, paraître, partir, and to acquire a fair knowledge of the use of the various past tenses and of the rules of the subjunctive.

The examination in French may not be divided; failure to pass in French translation involves failure also in French grammar, but failure in grammar does not involve failure in translation.

Teachers preparing students that wish to elect French in the college are advised to train their pupils to write French from dictation in order to enable them to understand lectures delivered in that language.

German.—(1) The examination in German is similar to that in French, German. and tests the candidate's pronunciation, knowledge of ordinary grammatical forms, and ability to read ordinary German at sight.

The examination in German may not be divided; failure to pass in German translation involves failure also in German grammar, but failure in grammar does not involve failure in translation.

Studies Leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must have passed examinations on work amounting to one hundred and twenty hours* and must have obtained an examination grade above that of "passed," that is, the grade of seventy per cent or over, on half of these one hundred and twenty hours; she must also possess at the time of graduation a reading knowledge of French and German and some acquaintance with Latin. In the last year before graduation, oral examinations are held to test her ability to read French and German at sight. She must have been in attendance on college classes in Bryn Mawr College, or in some other college of high standing, for a period of four years; she must have exercised regularly four hours a week in accordance with the rules of the department of Physical Culture.

If a student at the end of her junior year, or in February of her senior year, has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half of the hours that she has taken out of the one hundred and twenty to be offered for the degree, she will not be allowed to graduate at the end of her senior year; but if she wishes to continue her studies at Bryn Mawr College, must plan to remain for an additional year. She will be on probation during these two years and her work will be prescribed by a committee of the Faculty, the object being to enable her to raise the standard of her work so that she may not ultimately be disqualified by her grades from obtaining a degree.

* The word hour here means one hour a week for one semester. In calculating the standing of students under this rule every course offered for examination, including the fourth language, trigonometry, and solid geometry, when offered for advanced standing in the matriculation examination, must be included except as explained below. A grade once obtained in an examination may not be cancelled the first one hundred and twenty hours of examinations offered qualifying, or disqualifying, for a degree. Grades received on examinations offered for work not taken in the college classes must be counted in these one hundred and twenty hours, except in the case of students who enter with advanced standing from other colleges, and give notice within the first two weeks after their entrance of a desire to offer for examination subjects already pursued. Such students will, in case they fail in these examinations, be granted the privilege of cancelling them so that they shall not count in estimating their standing under the merit law, provided they enter the corresponding courses as regular students without further examination. A similar privilege will be granted to students who offer trigonometry or solid geometry or a fourth language in the matriculation examination before entering the college and also to students who offer proof within two weeks after entering the college that they have studied these subjects in school or college classes or under private tuition. These students are not required to enter the corresponding college classes provided they fail in the examination. Since this rule was passed no student who has not fulfilled the requirements as above stated has received a degree.

No student who, at any time during her course, has received a grade below seventy per cent in as many as one-half of the hours that she has taken will be permitted to hold office in any of the organisations of the College, to take part in entertainments requiring preparation, or to undertake any paid work.

The following course of study must be pursued by every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts:

Greek or French or German,* five hours a week for one year, when this subject has not been included in the examination for matriculation. Those students, however, who wish to omit Greek may substitute for the required course in Greek the minor course in Latin.†

Required Studies.

English, five hours a week for two years.

Philosophy, five hours a week for one year.

Science, five hours a week for one year.

Science, or History, or Economics and Politics, or Law, or Mathematics, five hours a week for one year.

Two Major Courses, of five hours a week for two years each, constituting one of the following Groups: any Language with any Language;‡ History with Economics and Politics, or Law; Economics and Politics with Philosophy, or Law; Philosophy with Greek, or English, or Mathematics, or Physics; Mathematics with Greek, or Latin, or Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology; any Science with any Science.

Free Elective Courses, amounting to ten hours a week for one year, to be chosen by the student. It should be noted that a single study may be taken as a free elective, without electing the group that includes it, and any courses open as free electives, may be chosen without taking the remainder of the minor course of which they may form a part.

Free Elective Courses.

* The College provides matriculation classes, five hours a week throughout one year, for those students who in the examination for matriculation may have omitted Greek, French, or German. Attendance on these classes is not obligatory before the beginning of the junior year, the student being free until then to make good her deficiencies by private study.

† A student choosing Latin as one of the languages of her Group, and not wishing to study Greek, may substitute for the year of minor Latin five hours a week for one year of post-major Latin, or of French, or of German, or of Italian, or of Spanish.

‡ For the purpose of forming a Group, Italian and Spanish may count as one language; they may be combined so as to form a course of five hours a week for two years, as explained on page 113.

Trigonometry may not be offered for examination without attendance on the college class after the beginning of the junior year.

Free Elective Courses.

Ten hours a week for one year in any subject, or subjects, the student may elect.

All candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must elect their courses in accordance with the Group System, and a comprehension of it is essential to an understanding of the courses of instruction.

The Group System.

In all departments as yet fully organised there is a course of five hours a week for two years, called a Major Course. Whenever one year of this course is of such a nature that it may be taken separately, it is marked as a Minor Course. It is required of every candidate for a degree to take two such major courses as shall be homogeneous, or shall complete each other, and major courses which fulfil this condition are designated as Groups. The object of this system is to enable the student to acquire the foundations of a specialist's knowledge; and the Required Courses, namely, English, philosophy, science, (or, if a second year of science be not elected, history, or economics and politics, or law, or mathematics) are intended in part to supplement the Group, and in part to insure a more liberal training than could be obtained if every student combined elective studies at pleasure.

*Major
Course.*

The required two years' course in English serves as a general introduction to the study of language and comparative literature. The required two years in science (or the substitute permitted of one year's course in science and one year's course in history, economics and politics, law, or mathematics), permit the student of chemistry and biology to pursue advanced courses in one or both of these branches, or to take a major course in physics; and they give for one year at least to the student of history and literature the same kind of instruction and discipline as is received by the scientific student. The one year's course in philosophy is a general introduction into the study of the laws, conditions, and history of thought.

*Required

Post-major Courses. In almost all departments post-major courses, truly advanced courses which answer to graduate courses in many colleges, are organised and may be elected by students that have completed the major, or group, work in the subject.

Free Elective Courses. All minor courses that do not presuppose required courses may be elected by any student, and special free elective courses of one, two, or three hours a week, are offered in many departments.

The following may serve as examples of some of the many combinations of studies that may be made by those candidates for a degree who wish to specialise as far as possible in particular departments: Matriculation French, Matriculation German, Matriculation Greek, and Minor Latin are bracketed as being properly included in the examination for matriculation. These bracketed courses may be offered for examination before the beginning of the junior year without attendance on the college classes.

CLASSICS. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Post-major Greek and Latin, or Classical Art and Archæology, ten hours a week for one year.

MODERN LANGUAGES (other than English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, German and French, or German and Italian and Spanish, or French and Italian and Spanish. As Free Electives, Italian and Spanish, or Post-major French or German, ten hours a week for one year.

ENGLISH. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law). As a Group, Greek and English, or Latin and English, or English and German, or English and French, or English and Italian and Spanish, or English and Spanish, or English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Latin and German, ten hours a week for one year.

MATHEMATICS (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Physics, another Science, (or Post-major Mathematics, or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law). As a Group, Mathematics and Greek. As Free Electives, Trigonometry, Post-major Mathematics, and Post-major Greek, ten hours a week for one year.

MATHEMATICS (with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Chemistry, another Science, (Geology, or Biology), or Post-major Mathematics. As a Group, Mathematics and Physics. As Free Electives, Trigonometry, Post-major Mathematics, and Post-major Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

HISTORY. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, another Science, (or Oriental History, or Post-major History, or Economics and Politics, or Law, or Mathematics). As a Group, History and Economics and Politics, or History and Law. As Free Electives, Post-major History and Economics and Politics, ten hours a week for one year.

LAW. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, another Science, (or History, or Economics and Politics, or Mathematics). As a Group, History and Law, or Economics and Politics and Law. As Free Electives, Economics and Politics and Oriental History ten hours a week for one year.

PHILOSOPHY (with Greek). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Post-major Greek and Post-major Philosophy, ten hours a week for one year.

PHILOSOPHY (with English). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin]. English, Philosophy, Science. (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law). As a Group, English and Philosophy. As Free Electives, Post-major Philosophy and French and German, ten hours a week for one year.

PHILOSOPHY (with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics). As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Law). As a Group, Philosophy with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics. As Free Electives, Post-major Philosophy, Trigonometry and Post-major Economics, or Mathematics, or Physics, ten hours a week for one year.

SCIENCE. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science, (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Physics and Chemistry, or Physics and Geology, or Physics and Biology, or Chemistry and Geology, or Chemistry and Biology, or Geology and Biology. As Free Electives, Mathematics and Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, ten hours a week for one year.

PRELIMINARY MEDICAL COURSE. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Minor Physics, Major Physics. As a Group, Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Post-major Biology and Post-major Chemistry, or Minor Latin, (if not taken as a required study) ten hours a week for one year.

The following combinations may be adopted by those who wish to pursue a three years' course in history, economics and politics, or science, yet do not wish to elect an historical, economic, or a scientific or language group.

I. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, any Science, Mediæval History. As a Group, any Language with any Language, or Chemistry and Biology. As Free Electives, Modern History, five hours a week for one year, and Post-major History five hours a week for one year.

II. As above, but for Mediæval History substitute Minor Economics and Politics, and for Modern History, Major Economics and Politics, and for Post-major History, Post-major Economics and Politics.

III. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology. As a Group, any Language with any Language. As Free Electives, Major and Post-major Physics or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology, five hours a week for two years.

IV. As Required Studies, [Matriculation French, or Matriculation German, or Matriculation Greek, or Minor Latin], English, Philosophy, Science (Physics, or Chemistry, or Geology, or Biology), another Science, (or Mediæval, or Oriental History, or Minor Economics and Politics, or Minor Law, or Minor Mathematics). As a Group, Greek and Latin. As Free Electives, Minor and Major English, five hours a week for two years.

Every student is expected to consult the President in regard to the details and best arrangement of her various studies, and to register her course of study in the president's office before entering upon college work.

The studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, may, as a rule, be taken in any order preferred by the student, but students are advised to plan their work carefully in advance with reference to the lecture schedule in order that a conflict of hours may not later in their course prevent them from electing all the studies which they desire. Students who elect English as a major study, for example, must take the general English literature lectures and essay work in their first and second years in the college because they are required to complete this work before entering the major course in English; again, a student choosing philosophy as one of her major studies must take the general course in philosophy in her first year if she wishes to elect post-major work in philosophy. Students choosing a scientific group, such as chemistry and biology, must arrange their courses so as to avoid conflicts in the hours for laboratory work. Trigonometry is required for the work of the minor course in mathematics and for the work of the major year of the group course in physics.

Those students who have not decided on their group may in the first year pursue required studies only, or may elect one of the courses belonging to the group to which they most incline, with the understanding that if they should desire to change their group that course will be counted as a free elective; those students whose tastes are already fully formed, or who are uncertain how many years they shall remain in college, may enter at once on free elective studies and on the study of both subjects of their group. There are obvious advantages for the student in deferring as long as possible the choice of her free electives and her group, inasmuch as the required studies, by accustoming her to the methods of laboratory work, and to the study of languages, literature, and history, afford her every opportunity of ascertaining her true tastes and aptitudes.

The students are not divided into the traditional college classes, and there is no limit of time for graduation; in order to pursue a wider course of reading in connection with single subjects, or to attend a greater variety of lectures, the ablest students may choose to defer graduation; personal considerations only determine the time spent in completing the studies required for a degree. Nevertheless these requirements constitute strictly a four years' course; that is to say, if the time given to lectures and class work be, as is usual, fifteen hours a week, a student passing the ordinary matriculation examination, and availing herself of the preliminary courses of the college in the subjects which that examination did not include, in all cases requires precisely four years. To give more time for advanced studies and to lighten the college course, students are permitted to take examinations in certain subjects included in the course without attending the college classes in these subjects. Trigonometry and the fourth language (Matriculation French, or German, or Greek, or Minor Latin) may be taken in this way if offered before the beginning of the junior year. A student who can furnish proof that she has acquired advanced knowledge of German or French by attendance on regular advanced classes conducted by a school, or college, or by visiting teachers, or by residence abroad, or by study under German or French governesses at home, is permitted to take examinations for advanced standing in reading and composition in these languages, but only in the first three weeks after entering college. It is impossible for a student to reduce the length of the college course by one year unless she enters with knowledge considerably in advance of that required by the entrance examinations; otherwise the student will not be permitted to undertake the extra work which is too much to be accomplished during the summer vacations. Students entering college at the beginning of the second semester are not permitted to register for more than fifteen hours of college work, or to offer advanced standing examinations in order to complete the work required for a degree in less than four years.

The Bryn Mawr European Fellowship.

The Bryn Mawr European Fellowship is awarded annually to a member of the graduating class of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship. The holder receives the sum of five hundred dollars, applicable to the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they have received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not in itself qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

Studies Leading to a Second Degree.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College, and must have studied for one full year in the graduate school of Bryn Mawr College, devoting herself to systematic advanced work approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee on or before the second Wednesday in November. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department, or an oral examination in the presence of the members of the Faculty, as may be preferred by the heads of the departments in which she has studied.

*The Degree
Master of Arts.*

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study.

*The Degree
Doctor of Philosophy
and
Arts.*

The candidate must have pursued, for at least three years after having received the first degree, a course of liberal (non-professional) study at some college or university approved by the Academic Council, and must have spent at least two of these years at Bryn Mawr College. She must have written, on some subject connected with her chief subject of study, a dissertation that bears satisfactory evidence of original research, and must have passed a written and an oral examination in the presence of the members of the Faculty on one major or chief subject, and a written and an oral examination on two minor subjects. In special cases where one minor subject is substituted for the two minor or secondary subjects, the time spent on the one minor subject must be equal to the time usually spent on the two minor subjects, and every combination of major and minor subjects for the final examination must have been submitted to the Graduate Committee, by whom, after due consultation with the heads of the departments concerned, it is submitted to the Academic Council. The candidate may be required to pursue certain auxiliary studies in connection with the subject that she has elected; the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is given to no one who cannot read French and German, or who is unacquainted with Latin. The dissertation must have been printed by the candidate before she is admitted to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy will in no case be conferred by the College as an honorary degree.

*The Mary E.
Garrett European
ships.*

Two European Fellowships, founded by Miss Garrett of Baltimore, are open to graduate students who are enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. One, founded in 1896 and named by the donor the President M. Carey Thomas Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship, to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College; the other, founded in 1894 and known as the Mary E. Garrett Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. These Fellowships, of the value of five hundred dollars each, are intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

*Research
ships.*

A Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology has been founded by a donor whose name will be announced later, and will be awarded for the first time in 1907. It is open to graduate students who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy or who have completed equivalent work. The Fellowship is of the value of seven hundred dollars, and is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The result of the year's study is to be embodied in a thesis.

A Research Fellowship in Chemistry has been founded and will be awarded for the first time in 1907. It is open to graduate students who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy or who have completed equivalent work. The Fellowship is of the value of five hundred dollars, and the holder is required to reside at Bryn Mawr College for one year and to assist the head of the department of Chemistry in research work.

For undergraduate students and hearers the charge for Tuition. tuition is two hundred dollars a year, irrespective of the number of courses attended or the actual time of attendance, and is payable in advance.* For graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures, and for fellows and graduate scholars the tuition fee is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance. For other graduate students who do not wish to devote all their time to graduate work the fees are as follows, payable in advance: for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester.† This arrangement is made especially for non-resident graduate students, but those who wish to take five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the entire year (or in the case of graduate students for the semester) becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office. No reduction of this fee can be made on account of absence or for any other reason whatsoever.* Graduate students are admitted to residence or to attendance on lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board and room-rent and for tuition. Every student who enters the college must register immediately at the bursar's office, and must register her courses at the president's office within two weeks after entrance under penalty of exclusion from the college. Any change made later in the courses registered must be reported immediately to the president's office, or the courses will not be permitted to count, and a charge of one dollar will be made for each change made in the course after it has been definitely registered.

* Students that intend to take the degree of Bachelor of Arts in February will be charged only one half the regular tuition fee if they register this intention in the bursar's office before beginning their college work, provided their entire academic work can be completed in the first semester.

† The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate student is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition with no extra charge except the laboratory fee; a two and a half hour undergraduate laboratory course or a five hour graduate laboratory course is considered in respect to charges for tuition as a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees as stated on page 70 are charged in addition to the charge for tuition.

For undergraduate students there is an additional charge of ten dollars a semester for materials and apparatus for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and of five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week. Not more than one laboratory course is required of candidates for a degree.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses or its equivalent in laboratory courses are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester, with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to ten hours a week the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, are charged ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in Geology each hour of field work is counted as one hour of laboratory work.

Residence. Residence in the college buildings is required of all undergraduate students except those who reside with their families in Philadelphia or in the neighborhood. Of the students in daily attendance at the lectures and class work of the college, about one-seventh have always lived in their own homes. The expense of board and residence in the college halls for undergraduate students is three hundred dollars a year and upwards, according to the room or rooms occupied by the student; in about one-third of the college rooms the expense of board and residence is three hundred or three hundred and twenty-five dollars. Of this charge two hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Graduate students are charged two hundred dollars a year for board, and seventy-five dollars a year for room-rent. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expense of furnishing, service, heating, and light.*

* see first footnote, page 69.

The health of the students is under the charge of Dr. Thomas F. Branson, of Rosemont, Attending Physician of the College, and Dr. Ella B. Everitt, a physician practising in Philadelphia, who spends two afternoons a week from four to six at the college, and may then be consulted by the students free of charge; she may also be consulted at other times by appointment.

Every student entering the college will be vaccinated unless she can furnish satisfactory proof that she has been successfully vaccinated not more than two years previously.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students' Association for Self-Government, which was organised in 1892. All persons studying in Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

The College reserves the right to exclude at any time students whose conduct or academic standing renders them undesirable members of the college community.

Plans of Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall West, Pembroke Hall East, and Rockefeller Hall, with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, may be obtained by application to the Secretary of the College. Each of these halls (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, provides accommodation for from sixty to seventy students, and is under the charge of a resident warden. Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for rooms is very great and since every room unnecessarily reserved may prevent some other student from entering the college, a room-contract, which may be obtained on application, must be signed and returned with a fee of fifteen dollars to the Secretary of the College before any application will be registered. In case the applicant enters the college in the year for which the room is reserved, the amount of the deposit is deducted from the first college bill. If she changes the date of her application or files formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before July first* of the year preceding the academic year for which the application is made, the deposit will be refunded. If for any reason whatever the change or withdrawal be made later than July first, the amount will be forfeited. Students making application for a room in February forfeit the deposit if they do not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before December first of the academic year for which the room is reserved. Rooms are assigned to the entering class during the summer preceding the academic year for which application is made. No particular room or set of rooms may be applied for. Applicants are allowed to choose in turn from among all the rooms left vacant, the order of choice being determined by the date at which the application is registered. Cheques should be drawn payable to Bryn Mawr College.

A deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year.† This sum will be forfeited if formal notice of withdrawal is not filed at the secretary's office on or before May first of the current year.

All students, or candidates for matriculation, reserving rooms who do not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before September first preceding the academic year for which the room is reserved, are responsible for the rent of the room for the entire academic year.‡

*An applicant taking her final examinations under the College Entrance Examination Board is permitted to change the date of her application or to withdraw before July fifteenth of the year preceding the academic year for which the application is made.

† Any student except a member of the freshman class who changes her room from one hall to another is charged a fee of ten dollars and any student except a member of the freshman class who changes from one room to another in the same hall is charged a fee of five dollars. This entitles her to have five pieces moved free of charge.

‡ An exception is made in the case of candidates who try, but fail to pass, the autumn examinations for matriculation, but even in such cases the deposit of fifteen dollars is forfeited, unless the candidate wishes to apply for entrance in February of the same academic year, in which case the fee may be transferred to that date. Any candidate applying for a room in February will be responsible for the rent of the room for the semester, if she does not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before January 1st. An exception is made in the case of candidates who try, but fail to pass, the February examination for matriculation, but even in such cases the deposit of fifteen dollars is forfeited.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam; the air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. Electric light is introduced into every room. The students' personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for 50 cents a dozen, or about $8 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week. On account of the danger of infectious diseases students in residence are not permitted to send their washing to private laundresses.

No charge is made for sending meals to students that are in the infirmaries by the order of a physician.

Accommodation is provided for students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at a rate proportional to that paid by them for board and residence during the college year.

Students who expect to spend any part of the Christmas or Easter vacations in Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia, or the immediate neighborhood, not in their own homes and not in the college halls of residence, are required to consult the Secretary in regard to the arrangements that they wish to make.

The charge for tuition is $200 a year for undergraduate students and $125 a year for graduate students, payable* in advance. Summary of Expenses.

The charge for residence in the college halls, exclusive of board, is for undergraduate students $100, and upwards, and for graduate students $75 a year, payable in advance.

The charge for board is $200 a year, for undergraduate and graduate students, payable half-yearly in advance. The charges for tuition and room-rent for the year, and for board for the first semester are due as soon as the student registers in the college and must be paid at the bursar's office before November 1st; the charge for board for the second semester must be paid before March 1st. The charges for tuition and room-rent are not subject to remission or deduction under any circumstances; in case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or more a proportionate reduction in the charge for board will be made. Students whose fees are not paid by the dates above specified will not be permitted to continue in residence or in attendance on their classes.

The charge for board, residence, and tuition, is therefore, for undergraduate students, $500 a year and upwards; and for graduate students, $400. Students in residence are charged $5 a year,

* Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures or lecture and laboratory work equivalent to less than six hours a week of lectures are charged reduced fees for tuition; see page 69. This reduction is not made in the case of Fellows and Graduate Scholars.

payable in advance, for the support of the college infirmary and the payment of trained nurses. The fee for graduation is $25. For laboratory charges, see page 70.

Loan Fund.

THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND OF BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The Fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Mrs. Samuel Emlen, Jr., 229 East Johnson Street, Germantown, Philadelphia; Miss Helen Strong Hoyt, Low Buildings, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Herbert Seymour Darlington, Villa Nova, Pa., and Mrs. Warren Parsons Thorpe, 1523 Locust Street, Philadelphia. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be made to the Secretary of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

FOUNDATION OF SCHOLARSHIPS.—The sum of five thousand dollars given or left by will to the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College, will found a perpetual scholarship giving free tuition to one student every year. The scholarship may be given in memory of and named after any person designated by the donor.

Scholarships.

SCHOLARSHIPS—Eight competitive entrance scholarships, four of the value of $300 and four of the value of $200, were founded by the Trustees in 1896. They are awarded annually to candidates receiving their final certificates in the spring matriculation examinations of Bryn Mawr College, a first scholarship of the value of $300 and a second of the value of $200 being open to candidates from each of the following districts:—(a) The New England States; (b) New York, New Jersey, and Delaware; (c) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the States west of the Mississippi River; (d) Pennsylvania and all places not included in (a), (b), and (c). The district to which a candidate is considered to belong is determined by the school at which she receives her final preparation, or in case of preparation by private study by the place of residence during the year preceding the final examination; but candidates may present themselves for examination at any place where such examination is held. These scholarships, which are to be held for one year only, are awarded in each of the above named districts on the basis of the sum total of marks obtained by the candidate; but no one is eligible for the first scholarship who has received more than two conditions in the twenty sections of the examination, and no one is eligible for the second scholarship who has received more than four conditions in the twenty sections of the examination. When the examination has been divided no account is taken of those conditions incurred in the first division which have been passed off in the final examination. The competition is limited to those who intend to spend at least one year in residence at Bryn Mawr College, who have not studied at any other college, and have not cancelled any division of the Bryn Mawr College matriculation examinations. All those who present themselves are ipso facto candidates for these scholarships, no formal declaration of candidacy being required.

Eight scholarships for non-resident students of $200 each, entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four consecutive years, were founded by the Trustees in 1893, and were presented to the public schools of Philadelphia through Dr. Brooks, the Superintendent of the Public Schools of Philadelphia, on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examination of Bryn Mawr College in the High Schools for Girls, Philadelphia; 2. She shall have been recommended by the Board of Education of Philadelphia, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College; 3. The scholarship shall be renewed annually by the Trustees, until the holder has completed her fourth year at college, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

The L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship. In 1893 the Alumnae Association of the Girls' High and Normal School of Philadelphia founded at Bryn Mawr College a scholarship entitling the holder to free tuition, renewable for four years. This scholarship is awarded every four years to the graduate of the Girls' High School who passes the matriculation examination of Bryn Mawr College for that year with the highest credit. In 1904 the scholarship was renamed the L. C. B. Saul Memorial Scholarship.

One scholarship of $200 entitling the holder to one year's free tuition, was founded by the Trustees in 1895, and was presented to the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, Montgomery County, Pa., for the benefit of graduates of the High School of Lower Merion Township, Ardmore, Pa., on the following terms: 1. The candidate shall have complied with the requirements for admission to Bryn Mawr College, and shall have received all her preparation for the entrance examinations in the Lower Merion High School; 2. She shall have been recommended by the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, and their recommendation shall have been approved by the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College; 3. If in any year there shall be, in the judgment of the School Board of Education of Lower Merion Township, no satisfactory candidate in the graduating class, the scholarship may be renewed during the following year for the benefit of a former holder, provided her conduct and academic work have been satisfactory to the authorities of the college.

One competitive scholarship of the value of $200, renewable till graduation, is open annually for competition to members of the Society of Friends who are unable to pay the full charge for tuition and residence. This scholarship is awarded, as far as possible, under the same rules as those governing the award of the eight competitive entrance scholarships of Bryn Mawr College. Two additional scholarships of the value of $200 each are open for competition to graduate students who are members of the Society of Friends and need financial assistance. Three scholarships, of $400 each, for one year, are open to those graduates of Earlham, Penn., and Guilford Colleges respectively, who in the preceding year have completed the course of their several colleges with most distinction. These scholarships have been established by the Trustees in accordance with the desire of the Founder of the college to promote the advanced education of women in the Society of Friends, of which he was a member.

Four scholarships of $500 each, renewable for four consecutive years, were founded in 1885 by the Board of Managers of the Bryn Mawr School, of Baltimore, Maryland. One of these scholarships is open annually to the graduate of the Bryn Mawr School who has completed the school course with most distinction.

The James E. Rhoads Memorial Scholarships, two in number, each of the value of $250 for one year, were founded in 1897 by the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College, in memory of the first President of the College, Dr. James E. Rhoads. The first of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Sophomore Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than ten and not more than twenty-two and a half hours (three semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. The second of these scholarships is the James E. Rhoads Junior Scholarship, and is open to those students only who have completed college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than thirty-seven and a half hours (five semesters' work) for a year, and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. To be eligible for either of these two scholarships a student shall have obtained a high degree of excellence in her work, shall express her intention of fulfilling the requirements for the degree of A.B. at Bryn Mawr College, and shall prove her need of financial aid to the satisfaction of the nominating committee. In case either scholarship is awarded to a non-resident student, its value shall not exceed $150. The nominating committee consists of the President of Bryn Mawr College, two members of the Academic Council of the College, appointed annually by the Council, the President of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College and three other members of the Alumnae Association appointed by the executive committee of the Alumnae Association. Applications for the scholarships should be addressed to Miss Mary H. Ingham, 333 South Sixteenth Street, Philadelphia, the Chairman of the Committee.

The Mary E. Stevens Scholarship of the value of $160 founded in 1896 by former pupils of Miss Mary E. Stevens's School is awarded to a member of the Sophomore class who needs financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College during the junior year. It is open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than forty and not more than sixty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than three semesters. Applications for this Scholarship should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

Two Maria Hopper Scholarships of the value of $200 each were founded in 1901 by the bequest of the late Maria Hopper of Philadelphia. They are awarded, on the ground of excellence in scholarship, to two members of the freshman class who need financial assistance, to be held at Bryn Mawr College during the sophomore year. They are open to those students only who have registered for college work amounting to not less than twenty and not more than forty-five hours for a semester and have been in attendance upon lectures at Bryn Mawr College not less than one semester. Applications for these scholarships should be addressed to the President of Bryn Mawr College.

The Anna M. Powers Memorial Scholarship of the value of $200 was founded in 1902 by Mrs. J. Campbell Harris in memory of her mother, Anna M. Powers. The holder is nominated by the donor subject to the approval of the President and Faculty of the College.

The Maria L. Eastman Brooke Hall Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100 was founded in 1901 in memory of Maria L. Eastman, Principal of Brooke Hall School for Girls, Media, Pa., by the Alumnae and former pupils of the school. It is awarded each year on the ground of scholarship, irrespective of the need of financial aid, to a member of the junior class to be held during the senior year. No application for the scholarship is necessary.

The Elizabeth Duane Gillespie Scholarship in American History of the value of $60 was founded in 1903 by the Pennsylvania Society of Colonial Dames of America, in memory of Elizabeth Duane Gillespie. It is awarded annually to a member of the sophomore or junior class, on condition that the holder of the scholarship devote to the study of American history at least four hours a week for one year during the last two years of her college course. The candidate is to be selected by the Faculty of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship.

INSTRUCTION.

Libraries. The college library has been collected within the past twenty-two years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about fifty-two thousand bound volumes, and eight thousand doctors' dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 82 and 116 of the program.

The sum of four thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, over seventeen thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past nine years for expenditure in special departments. Three hundred and sixty-four serial publications and reviews in the English, German, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Norse, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

Academy; Acta Mathematica; *Advocate of Peace; Allgemeines Statistisches Archiv; American Chemical Journal; *American Economist; American Federationist; American Friend; American Historical Review; American Journal of Anatomy; American Journal of Archaeology; American Journal of Mathematics; American Journal of Philology; American Journal of Physiology; American Journal of Psychology; American Journal of Religious Psychology and Education; American Journal of Science; American Journal of Semitic Languages; American Journal of Sociology; American Journal of Theology; American Naturalist; Anatomischer Anzeiger; Anglia; Anglistische Forschungen; Annalen der Chemie; Annalen der Physik; Annales de Chimie et de Physique; Annales Politiques et Littéraires; Annales Scientifiques de l'Ecole Normale Supérieure; Annali di Matematica; Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science; L'Année Psychologique; Archiv für Anatomie und Physiologie; Archiv für das Studium der Neueren Sprachen und Literaturen; Archiv für die Gesamte Physiologie; Archiv für die Gesamte Psychologie; Archiv für Entwicklungsmechanik der Organismen; Archiv für Geschichte der Philosophie; Archiv für Lateinische Lexicographie; Archiv für Mikroskopische Anatomie; Archiv für Protistenkunde; Archiv für Systematische Philosophie; Archives de Physiologie; Archivio Glottologico Italiano; Arkiv for Nordisk Filologi; Astrophysical Journal; Athenæum; Atlantic Monthly; Atti della Reale Accademia delle Scienze di Torino; *Baptist Missionary Magazine; Beiblätter zu den Annalen der Physik und Chemie; Beilage zur Allgemeinen Zeitung; Beiträge zur Geschichte der Deutschen Sprache und Literatur; Beiträge zur Kunde der Indogermanischen Sprachen; Berichte der Deutschen Chemischen Gesellschaft; Berliner Philologische Wochenschrift; Biblical World; Bibliographical Contributions from the University of Nebraska; *Bibliographical Contributions of Bowdoin College Library; *Bibliographical Contributions of Harvard University; Bibliotheca Mathematica; Bibliotheca Sacra; Bibliothèque de la faculté des lettres de l'Université de Paris; Biological Bulletin; Biologisches Centralblatt; Biometrika; Bolletino di Bibliografia e Storia delle Scienze Matematiche; *Book News Monthly; *Bookbuyer; Bookman; Bookman (London); Bookseller; *Boston Evening Transcript; Botanische Zeitung; Botanisches Centralblatt; British Journal of Psychology; Bryn Mawr College Monographs; Bulletin Bibliographique et Pédagogique; Bulletin de Correspondance Hellénique; Bulletin de l'Institut Psychologique; Bulletin de la Société des Anciens Textes Français; Bulletin de la Société Mathématique de France; Bulletin des Sciences Mathématiques; Bulletin Hispanique; Bulletin Italien; Bulletin of American Mathematical Society; *Bulletin of Bibliography; *Bulletin of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; *Bulletin of the Free Library of Philadelphia; *Bulletin of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; *Bulletin of the New York Public Library; *Bulletin of the University of Minnesota; *Bulletin of the University of Missouri; *Bulletin of the New York State Department of Labor; *Bulletins of the New York State Library; *Bulletins of the University of Wisconsin; Burlington Magazine; Centralblatt für Mineralogie; Centralblatt für Physiologie; Century Magazine; Charities; Chaucer Society Publications; Chicago Seminary Quarterly; *City and State; Classical Journal; Classical Philology; Classical Review; Columbia Law Review; *Columbia University Quarterly; Comptes Rendus des Séances de l'Académie des Sciences; Contemporary Review; Country Life in America; La Cultura; *Deaconess' Advocate; Deutsche Literaturzeitung; Deutsche Monatsschrift; Deutsche Rundschau; Dial;

The library is open daily from eight A.M. to ten P.M. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Philadelphia Library, which contains about 220,145 volumes and 39,500 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation. Private subscription, for four volumes, $12 a year, or $10 for nine months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 190,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets. Private subscription, $2.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

* Presented by the Publishers.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 57,950 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 265,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the College.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 277-000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

There are offered each year to undergraduates major courses of five hours a week, for two years, in the following subjects: Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Italian and Spanish, History, Economics and Politics, Philosophy, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, and Biology; and elective courses in the above and in Biblical Literature, Law, Experimental Psychology, Education, History of Art and Classical Archæology, and Meteorology.

Graduate courses are offered in Sanskrit, and Indo-European Philology, Greek, Latin, English Philology including Anglo-Saxon, Early and Middle English, English Literature, German Literature, Gothic, Teutonic Philology, Old Norse, Old High German, Middle High German, Old Saxon, Modern and Old French, Italian, Spanish, and other Romance Languages, Celtic and Slavonic Languages, Hebrew, Aramaic, Assyrian, Biblical Literature, History, Economics and Politics, Law, Philosophy, Experimental Psychology, Education, History of Art and Classical Archæology, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Physical Chemistry, Geology, Mineralogy, Palæontology, Morphology, Physiology, and Physiological Chemistry.

*Courses in Language
Literature.*

The courses in language and literature are meant, first of all, to be complete in themselves, and extensive enough to meet the needs of special students, and secondly, to facilitate the study of comparative philology or of comparative literature. Whenever it has been practicable, as in Greek and Latin and in the modern languages, one half of the major course has been devoted to strictly linguistic studies, and the other half to the history of literature. The group work in English is constructed on this model, one half of the course being devoted to philology, and the other half to literary interpretation. Courses of parallel reading are required of all students of language and literature, precisely as laboratory work is required of the students of chemistry or biology; these courses are intended to acquaint the students with the works of numerous authors, and it is especially hoped that students of Greek and Latin will, by this means, accustom themselves to read these languages without assistance.

The courses in ancient and modern languages are of equal difficulty, and are placed on a footing of equality. The traditional separation between ancient and modern languages has been disregarded, because, although strictly classical students may always be inclined to combine Greek and Latin, there is, nevertheless, no modern literature of which the study may not fitly be preceded, or supplemented, by the study of Latin or Greek.

Whenever possible, as in the courses in Greek, Latin, English, Lectures. German, and French literature, in history, politics, philosophy, the history of art, mathematics, and science, the instruction is given by means of lectures. It is the object of these lectures to give a clear and succinct statement of facts and principles; to enumerate and criticise with frankness hand-books, authorities, and editions; to bring the student's knowledge up to date, and to inform her, step by step, what things have been definitely ascertained and what things remain to be investigated. It is intended that the notes taken on these lectures, in addition to their immediate practical use, shall be of lasting value for reference, and be the starting-point, or at least the schedule, of studies to be undertaken at some future day. Every isolated student knows how difficult it is to be initiated into the modern scholastic movement otherwise than orally; and, therefore, in addition to the lectures, the several instructors appoint certain hours in which the students may consult them freely. The lectures are accompanied by class work, prescribed reading, and by frequent examinations; they are strictly special, not popular.

The Professors or Associates appointed are the recognised heads of their departments, and only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work.

Courses of Instruction. The undergraduate and graduate courses offered in the years 1906-07 and 1907-08 are as follows:

Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the College. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. Lectures on Comparative Philology, and Philological Seminary, Dr. Collitz.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are expected to be familiar with German and French; a short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Aryan group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course, which covers what during the last few years has been the field of the most active research, the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticise the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

Elementary Sanskrit, Dr. Collitz.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar and Lanman's Reader are used.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule, be given in the same year.

* In and after 1907-08 the course announced by Dr. Collitz will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

Advanced Sanskrit, Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course selections from the Rig-Veda are read.

Iranian, Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended mainly as an introduction to the study of the Avesta. In order to study Iranian students must be familiar with Sanskrit.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Lecturer and Associate Professor (elect) in Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, Dr. Caroline Louise Ransom, Associate in the History of Art and Classical Archæology, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Greek. The instruction offered in Classical Greek covers twenty-three hours of lectures and recitations a week apart from courses in Classical Art and Archæology and New Testament Greek; it includes five hours a week of Matriculation Greek; ten hours a week of under-graduate major and minor work; three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Greek; and five hours a week of graduate work.

A course of five hours a week throughout the year is provided for those students who wish to study Greek, but whose examination for matriculation did not include it. Grammar and Composition are studied. Xenophon's Anabasis or Memorabilia and selections from Homer are read. Students that wish may substitute for this course the minor, or first year's course in Latin. Either the matriculation course in Greek or the minor course in Latin is required of all candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts that have not passed the matriculation examination in Greek. This course is given by Miss Kirk under the direction of Dr. Wright.

Matriculation Course.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester.

In 1907-08 the course in Homer will be given by Dr. Wright.

Private reading: Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 1-1080 and 1218-1313 must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Euripides, Alceste, ll. 476-961 must be read by students taking the course in Homer only; Sophocles, Philoctetes, ll. 729 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Euripides and Greek Prose Composition, omitting the course in Homer. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Demosthenes, Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Aristophanes, Frogs , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
History of Greek Literature, Ionio-Dorian, and Attic periods, Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Greek who has not completed all the work of the minor course.

Private reading: Æschylus, Prometheus Vinculus, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Æschylus Persæ, ll. 1-680 must be read by students taking the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes, omitting the course in Greek literature; Æschylus, Prometheus Vinculus, ll. 1-436 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Demosthenes and Aristophanes. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

2nd Semester.

Thucydides, Book ii or iii , Dr. Sanders.	Two hours a week.
Sophocles, Œdipus Rex , Dr. Sanders.	One hour a week.
History of Greek Literature, Attic, Alexandrine, and Græco-Roman periods, Dr. Wright.	Two hours a week.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Greek who has not completed all the work of the minor course.

The second year's work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also. The lectures on Demosthenes and Thucydides and the one-hour courses in Aristophanes and Sophocles may not be elected separately.

Private reading: Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 1 to end must be read by students taking the five-hour course; Æschylus, Persæ, ll. 681 to end must be read by students taking the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles, omitting the course in Greek literature;

Æschylus, Prometheus Vincit, ll. 437-876 must be read by students taking the course in Greek literature, omitting the courses in Thucydides and Sophocles. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Greek courses.

Group: Greek with any language, or with Philosophy, or with Mathematics.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Free elective courses, amounting to four hours a week, are offered in the History of Art and Classical Archæology; see pages 133 to 134.

A free elective course of two hours a week in New Testament Greek is offered in each year; see page 117.

Free
Elective
Courses.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

No student that has not completed the minor and major courses in Greek is admitted to any post-major course in Greek.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. The graduate courses in Greek are varied from year to year in two series. Attic Tragedy, Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Plato and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. In and after 1907-08 students electing the Greek seminary are required to take also the two hour course given in the same year. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Greek as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Greek is the only minor subject offered, and one five hour course when two minors are offered. The post-major courses also are open to graduate students. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department; and reports on this reading are from time to time required of the students. The course in comparative philology conducted by Dr. Collitz is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in History of Art and Classical Archæology, which may be offered as a minor by students taking Greek as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see page 134.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Greek Seminary, Dr. Sanders.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1906-07 Greek orators are studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek Rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphon, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Isæus, Æschines, Hyperides and Demosthenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators. In 1906-07 the Greek Seminary met for four hours a week.

In 1907-08 the main subject of the seminary will be the Greek Historians. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be Attic Tragedy. One hour a week is devoted to the reading of general and critical papers on selected passages of Æschylus by members of the seminary. One hour is devoted to the interpretation of Aristotle's Poetics and the application of his theories to the drama. A third hour is occupied in reading and criticising papers and recording and analysing current classical literature, especially that bearing on ancient tragedy. Reports on journals are also made at these meetings.

Plato, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the Theætetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarising the students with the achievements of German scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Analyses of German and Latin dissertations are expected from the class. Lutoslawski's Origin and Growth of Plato's Logic is studied and criticised in detail.

Aristophanes, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The aim of the course is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archæological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of Latin and German dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class.

The Homeric Question, Dr. Wright.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1909-10.)

This course will consist of a review of the discussions of the Homeric Poems since the publication of Wolf's Prolegomena. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archæologists, linguists, historians of myths, and æsthetic critics will be taken up and criticised in detail. A reading knowledge of German is essential.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, and Dr. Tenney Frank, Associate in Latin. The instruction offered in Latin covers twenty-four hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; eight hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Latin; and six hours a week of graduate work.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)*

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Livy, Books xxi and xxii, Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Wheeler.

One hour a week.

Horace, Odes, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

Private reading: Stories from Gellius (first half) must be read by students taking the courses in Livy and Latin Prose Composition; Sallust, Catilina (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Horace. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

2nd Semester.

Cicero, Letters, Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Wheeler.

One hour a week.

* For regulations regarding the passing off of the Minor Latin, see foot-note, page 54. Students passing off the Minor Latin course for advanced standing are not required to take the separate examinations in private reading.

Major
Course.

Horace, Selections from the Satires and Epistles and Vergil, Eclogues, Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

Private reading: Stories from Gellius (second half) must be read by students taking the courses in Cicero, and Latin Prose Composition; Sallust, Catilina (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Horace. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

SECOND YEAR.

1st Semester.

(Given in each year.)

Tacitus, Annals, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

The reading is devoted chiefly to those parts of Books i-vi bearing on the character of Tiberius, a study of which forms one of the main objects of the course. Other important topics are Tacitus's method as a historian, his style as a writer, the peculiarities of "Silver" Latin, etc. Several lectures are given on these and other subjects.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Lectures on Latin Literature, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

The lectures in this course treat the history of Latin Literature from its earliest beginnings down to the end of the second century of the Christian era, including all the authors from whose writings any important remains have been preserved. Questions of literary history and historical criticism are discussed, such as the indebtedness of the Roman writers to the Greeks, their influence on each other, and their influence on modern literatures. The libraries in each hall contain texts and translations of the most important authors and extensive reading is required.

Private reading: Cicero, De Senectute (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Tacitus; Tacitus, Agricola (first half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

2nd Semester.

Latin Comedy, Plautus and Terence, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

The origin, development and characteristics of Roman comedy are studied. Much attention is devoted to the peculiarities of archaic and colloquial Latin and to the reading of the simpler metres. Such topics as the theatre, stage, and actors receive special treatment in lectures. Three or four plays are read in class.

Lectures on Latin Literature (continued), Dr. Frank. Two hours a week.

The second year's work of the major course may be divided so as to cover a period of two years; but if elected for the first semester, the lectures on literature must be elected for the second semester also.

No student is admitted to any part of the major course in Latin who has not completed the work of the minor course. The major courses may not be offered for examination for advanced standing without class attendance.

Private reading: Cicero, De Senectute (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Comedy; Tacitus, Agricola (second half) must be read by students taking the course in Latin Literature. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester by all students pursuing the Latin courses.

Group: Latin with any language or with Mathematics.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-Major Courses.

No student that has not completed the minor and major courses in Latin is admitted to any post-major course in Latin.

In 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Roman Elegy, its Origin and Development, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read and the readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic diction. Each student is required to prepare a paper on an assigned topic in each semester.

In 1908-09 this course will be given two hours a week.

Roman Epic, Ennius, Vergil, Lucan, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

This course consists chiefly of studies in the history of the Roman Epic, and in a rapid reading of the last six books of the Aeneid.

Pliny, Letters, Martial, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

Special attention is paid to a study of the political and social conditions of the period embraced in the course.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

Roman Elegy (continued), Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week.

Seneca's Works, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

The first half of the semester will be devoted to a study of the Tragedies of Seneca. During the remainder of the course a study will be made of representative selections from his prose writings, special attention being given to his philosophical and religious views, and to the literary characteristics of the school of writing which he represents.

Vergil, Bucolics and Georgics, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

In 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major courses are offered:

1st Semester.

Latin Satire, its Origin and Development, Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucilius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare one paper on an assigned topic in each semester.

Lucretius, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

The first three books of the De Rerum Natura and selections from the remaining books are studied.

Lectures on Roman History, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week.

Collateral reading will be assigned from the Latin sources and independent reports on special topics required.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition, Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

Latin Satire (continued), Dr. Wheeler.

Two hours a week.

Cicero and Cæsar, Dr. Frank.

Three hours a week.

An effort will be made by means of lectures and discussions and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Cæsar.

Catullus and Horace, Epistles, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week

In connection with the reading of Horace's Ars Poetica special stress will be laid upon his theories of literary criticism.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition (continued), Dr. Frank.

One hour a week.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method, its object being not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work and the handling of materials. The courses cover five hours a week. Three hours each year are devoted to the study of one department of Latin literature or one Latin author. The subject selected varies from year to year (Latin Lyric Poetry, Comedy, Elegy, etc.), so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for several successive years. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Latin Seminary, Dr. Wheeler.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1906-07 the subject of the seminary is Latin Comedy. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students; single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc.

Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903-04, and with Dziatzko's text of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884. The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix (Leipsic, Teubner, 1888-1901), and by Lorenz (Berlin, Weidmann, 1876-86), and the plays of Terence, annotated by Dziatzko (revised by Hauler), 1898 and 1903 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905 (Weidmann), are also recommended.

In 1907-08 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminary. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort will be made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject will be treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students will be encouraged to familiarise themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The text recommended is the Oxford Clarendon Press edition of Catullus, Tibullus, and Propertius edited by Ellis, Postgate, and Phillimore, 1906 (one volume).

In 1908-09 Lyric Poetry of the Republic is the subject of the seminary. The poems of Catullus are studied in detail. Each student is expected to present a paper at least once during the year on some subject connected with the seminary.

Students should provide themselves with Catulli Carmina, edited by Robinson Ellis, Oxford, 1904, and with the annotated edition of Catullus by E. T. Merrill, Boston, 1893.

Roman History from the Sources, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

The object of this course is to examine in detail the course of events during the last years of the Roman Republic, and to familiarise the student with the sources of historical knowledge for that period. The course will consist largely of research work on the part of the student.

Latin Epigraphy and Paleography, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

About two-thirds of the course will be devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau's Inscriptiones Latinae Selectae will be used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt will form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.

Latin Syntax, Dr. Frank.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Latin Journal Club, Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Frank.

One and a half hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and the advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

Professors and instructors: Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Dr. Hermann Collitz, Dr. Fonger DeHaan, M. Lucien Foulet, Dr. Albert Schinz, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Dr. Clarence Carroll Clark,* Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Dr. Percy Waldron Long, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Miss Rose Chamberlin, Miss Helen Strong Hoyt, Miss Katharine Fullerton, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Miss Katharine Lord, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, Miss Georgiana Goddard King and Miss Bertha Marion Pillsbury (elect) and Miss Helen Ward (elect).

English.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Professor of English, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Lecturer in English, Dr. Clarence Carroll Clark,* Associate in English, Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Associate in English Philology, Dr. Percy Waldron Long, Lecturer in English Literature, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in Elocution, Miss Helen Strong Hoyt, Miss Katharine Fullerton, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Miss Katharine Lord, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, and Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Readers in English, and Miss Bertha Marion Pillsbury and Miss Helen Ward, Readers (elect) in English. The instruction offered in English covers forty-four hours of lectures and recitations a week, and includes two years of lectures on literature and language required of every candidate for the Bachelor's degree; two years of Minor and Major English, which presuppose as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected in combination with the major course in any other language, or as a free elective; two courses of free elective work; six hours a week of composition; two hours a week of elective courses in elocution, and graduate courses in English literature, Anglo-Saxon, and Early and Middle English.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07. The courses announced by Dr. Clark are given by Dr. Long in 1906-07.

Required Course.

The required course consists of lectures on literature and language, in which the history of English literature is regarded as far as possible from the point of view of European literature generally; a study of the principles of English composition with constant practice in writing; and courses of private reading, which are meant to familiarise the student with English authors. The instruction in English composition is given in three ways: in introductory lectures, in written corrections on papers written by the students, and in conferences between the instructors and students. The course in English composition and rhetoric is connected with the lectures on literature and language and may not be elected separately.

FIRST YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Lectures on the history of the English language and Anglo-Saxon literature, with an introduction into the study of early Teutonic literature and mythology, Miss Donnelly. Two and a half hours a week.

The Principles of Articulation, Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

This course deals with a system of oral gymnastics, by which a distinct, firm, and fluent articulation can be acquired. The means of instruction for improving the quality of the speaking voice, and for acquiring a correct production, are pointed out. Special attention is paid to the cure of nasality and other vicious habits of speaking. The common errors of articulation and the vulgarisms constantly heard in everyday speech are clearly defined. A special class will be formed to assist those students whose defects of articulation are so marked as to make it difficult for them to work with the other members of the class.

English Composition and Rhetoric, Miss Donnelly, Miss Hoyt, Dr. Crandall Miss Lord, Dr. Hatcher, Miss King. Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of the English language and the course in English composition and rhetoric may not be elected separately. The work in English composition consists of five short papers each week on subjects drawn from the student's personal experience, and one longer paper each fortnight on a subject drawn from the lectures on the history of the English language and literature. In the rhetoric course the principles of English composition are studied and their practice taught in the papers written by the students. A written examination is held on the work in English composition and rhetoric at the end of the semester. Written examinations on the lectures are held from time to time during the semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of English literature to the death of Spenser, inclusive, with an introduction into the study of mediæval literature, Miss Donnelly. Two and a half hours a week.

The Principles of Pronunciation, Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

The lectures deal with the subject of pronunciation under the following heads: (a) general tendencies of vowel sounds in accented and unaccented syllables; (b) general tendencies of accent; (c) general tendencies of syllabification; (d) general tendencies due to grammar; (e) general tendencies due to the nature of sounds and action of the organs in passing from one articulation to another.

English Composition and Rhetoric, Miss Donnelly, Miss Hoyt, Dr. Crandall, Miss Lord, Dr. Hatcher, Miss King.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition and rhetoric may not be elected separately. The work of the second semester is divided into two parts. The first part exactly continues the arrangement of the first semester; in the second part the work consists of one short paper each fortnight on a subject drawn from the student's personal experience and two long papers on a subject drawn from the lectures. In the rhetoric course the principles of English composition are studied throughout the semester and their practice taught in the papers written by the students. A written examination on the work in English composition and rhetoric is held at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Lectures on the history of English literature from the death of Spenser to the Restoration, inclusive, with a short account of the influences of the contemporary continental literatures, Miss Donnelly.

Two and a half hours a week.

The Sonant Properties of Speech, Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

This course consists of a detailed study of the principles of inflection, pitch, and rhythm, together with special treatment of emphasis and rules on pausing. Students are required from time to time to read aloud in order that individual faults may be corrected.

English Composition, Miss Donnelly, Miss Fullerton,, Dr. Crandall, Miss Lord, Dr. Hatcher, Miss King.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition may not be elected separately. The course in English composition consists of one short paper each week on a subject drawn from the student's personal experience, two argumentative papers, and one critical paper on a subject drawn from the lectures on the history of English literature. A written examination on the work in English composition is held at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and at the end of each semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on the history of English literature from the Restoration to the present time, Miss Donnelly.

Two and a half hours a week.

The Sonant Properties of Speech (continued), Mr. King.

One hour a fortnight.

English Composition, Miss Donnelly, Miss Fullerton, Dr. Crandall, Miss Lord, Dr. Hatcher, Miss King.

Two hours a week.

The lectures on the history of English literature and the course in English composition may not be elected separately. The work of the semester in English composition consists of one short paper each week on a subject drawn from the student's personal experience, one twenty-four page critical paper on an author chosen by the student with the approval of her instructor, and two shorter so-called imitative papers during the writing of which the principles of imitative writing are discussed in the lectures. A written examination is held on the work at the end of each semester. Written examinations on the lectures on the history of English literature are held from time to time during the semester and at the end of each semester and credit is given for the style and structure of the papers.

Major Course.

The major course in English differs slightly from the other major courses of the college, in that it must always have been preceded by two years' study of English in the required undergraduate courses, and is intended for graduate students or for those undergraduate students who are anxious to specialise in English. Any of the courses, except the courses in English Drama, in Classical and Romantic Prose, and in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, may be taken separately as free electives by students that have completed the required course. Students wishing to specialise in language may substitute the course in Middle English Romances or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, or the course in Critical Reading of Shakespeare for the course in Classical and Romantic Prose; and the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts for either the course in English Poetry from 1780 to 1832 or the course in English Drama.

FIRST YEAR.

Minor Course. (Literature.)

English Critics of the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Clark.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The essayists and critics after 1832 are studied. In the first semester the authors usually chosen are Carlyle, Matthew Arnold, and Newman; in the second semester Ruskin, Pater, and Mr. Swinburne, are discussed. Short papers and one long essay must be prepared by the students attending the course.

English Poetry from 1780 to 1832, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

This course consists of a detailed study of the poetry of Cowper, Burns, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Scott, Byron, Shelley, and Keats; special attention is paid to the rise and development of the Romantic movement in English poetry, with occasional reference to similar movements in France and Germany. The course in English Drama or the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts may be substituted for this course if desired.

Minor Course. (Language.)

Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The course begins with an outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar as presented in Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader. Selections in prose and verse from Bright's reader are next read with the class. In the second semester after a brief study of alliterative verse selections from Beowulf are read. Throughout the year lectures are given outlining the literature of the period and texts are read in translation. The course on English Poetry from 1780 to 1832, or the course on English Drama may be substituted for this course if desired.

Critical Reading of Shakespeare, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1906-07.)

This course is designed to give a careful training in Shakespeare's grammar, diction, and literary development; six plays are read and their sources discussed. In 1906-07 the plays studied are Othello, Henry V, Hamlet, Winter's Tale, Romeo and Juliet, and Antony and Cleopatra. The course in Classical and Romantic Prose, or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, or the course in Middle English Romances may be substituted for this course if desired. This course will not be given after 1906-07.

Middle English Romances, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1908-09.)

Selected romances are read by the members of the class. The lectures treat the development of romance literature in English with special reference to the romances of Germanic origin and the Arthurian cycle. The course in Classical and Romantic Prose or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, or the course in the Critical Reading of Shakespeare, may be substituted for this course if desired.

SECOND YEAR.

(Literature.)

Classical and Romantic Prose, Dr. Clark.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

In the first semester the writings of Edmund Burke are considered with special reference to Classicism and Romanticism, and to the ideas of the French revolution. In the second semester the works of Lamb, Hazlitt, and De Quincey are studied. This course is open only to those students who have taken the course in English Critics of the Nineteenth Century. The course in critical reading of Shakespeare or the courses in Middle English Poetry and Chaucer, or the course in Middle English Romances may be substituted for this course if desired.

English Drama, Miss Donnelly.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course is intended to give students that have completed the required course in English a more intimate knowledge of the later Elizabethan and the Jacobean drama. The lectures follow the development of the realistic and romantic tendencies in the comedy and tragedy of the period both as an expression of the national life and of the individual genius of the various dramatists. Selected plays of Shakespeare, Heywood, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, and other dramatists are read in connection with the lectures. This course is open only to those students who are taking the English group. The course in English Poetry from 1780 to 1832, or the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and the reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts may be substituted for this course if desired.

(Language.)

Middle English Poetry, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the first semester.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The course begins with an outline of Middle English grammar sufficient to enable the students to read ordinary texts intelligently. Selections are then read from Layamon's Brut, Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle, Barbour's Bruce, Richard Rolle, Robert of Brunne's Handlyng Synne, Langland's Vision of Piers the Plowman, Gower's Confessio Amantis, and other pieces of Middle English literature. Lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during this period. The course is designed as an introduction to the course on Chaucer given in the second semester but may be taken independently. This course is open only to those students who are taking the English group. The course in Classical and Romantic Prose or the course in Critical Reading of Shakespeare, or the course in Middle English Romances, may be substituted for this course and the course on Chaucer if desired.

Chaucer, Dr. Brown.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

In this course the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer's sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time. It is desirable but not essential that this course should be preceded by the course in Middle English Poetry. It is open only to those students who are taking the English group.

The course in Classical and Romantic Prose or the course in the Critical Reading of Shakespeare or the course in Middle English Romances may be substituted for this course if desired.

Group: English with any language, or English with Philosophy.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Free Elective Courses.

English Letter Writers, Miss Donnelly. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

The more important letter writers of the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries will be studied and special stress will be laid on their characters, their relation to their times and their style. The students will be required to write short papers from time to time. This course is open only to those students who have attended the first and second year general courses in English literature and have received no grade below that of merit or have received the grade of credit in at least two semesters of these courses.

Prose Writers of the Queen Anne Period, Miss Donnelly.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Among the writers studied will be Addison, Steele, Swift and Bolingbroke. Two short papers will be required in each semester.

This course is open only to those students who have attended the first and second year general courses in English literature and have received no grade below that of merit or have received the grade or credit in at least two semesters of these courses.

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Clark.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

The history of the novel up to the nineteenth century is presented briefly. The novels of Jane Austen and Walter Scott are studied as an introduction to the work of the second semester. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century (continued), Dr. Clark.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

The development of fiction is considered in the works of Thackeray, Dickens, Trollope, George Eliot, Mr. Meredith and others. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

Victorian Poets, Dr. Clark.

Two hours a week during the first semester.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The works of Tennyson, Arnold, Clough, Fitzgerald, and Landor are studied. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

Two hours a week during the second semester.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The Pre-Raphaelite movement is considered and the works of Morris, Rossetti, Swinburne and Browning are studied. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

Early English Drama, Dr. Brown.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1906-07.)

The development of the miracles and moralities up to the time of Heywood is considered by means of lectures and discussions. The various national elements which merged in Elizabethan drama are thus traced from their origins. Selections which present linguistic difficulties are read in class. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

The English Ballad, Dr. Brown.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course is designed as an introduction to the study of popular poetry. Selections from the ballad literature of England and Scotland, representative of various types and periods, are read in class. The lectures illustrate the origins and history of the ballad as developed in English and other literatures, together with a study of various imitations of the genuine ballad. The course is open only to those students who have completed the two years' required course in English.

Argumentation, Miss Hoyt.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1907-08.)

In the first semester the course takes up the technique of Argumentation, and in the second semester establishes the relation between the laws of thought emphasised in the first semester and the ordinary forms of prose composition. The course is open to students who have obtained the grade of merit in two semesters, or of credit in one semester of the required course in English Composition, but no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition. This course will be given in 1907-08 by Dr. Crandall.

Descriptive and Narrative Writing, Miss Fullerton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

Lectures are given on the theory and practice of description and on the style and methods of the best modern writers of short stories, both English and French. Students are required to write papers each week. The course is open to qualified graduate students, to undergraduate students who have completed the two years of required English Composition and have obtained the grade of merit in two semesters or the grade of credit in one semester of the work, and to students that have taken the major course in English literature. It may not be substituted for any other essay course or for any part of the major English course, and no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition.

Advanced Course in Descriptive Writing, Miss Fullerton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1908-09.)

Various fundamental problems of style are discussed in the lectures with reference both to description and to narration.

This course is open only to those students who have taken the course in Descriptive and Narrative Writing, and no student may take this course at the same time that she is taking another course in English Composition.

Milton, Miss Pillsbury.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

In this course Milton's Minor Poems, the Areopagitica, certain books of Paradise Lost, and Samson Agonistes are studied.

A Literary Study of the King James Version of the Bible, Miss Pillsbury

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

This course includes a history of the successive French translations of the Bible previous to 1611, and a literary study of the form and characteristics of the different books of the King James Version.

Seventeenth Century Prose Writers, Miss Pillsbury.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

In this course Bacon, Hakluyt, Fuller, Taylor, Browne, Izaak Walton, Bunyan, Evelyn, Pepys and Dryden are studied.

English Drama from 1642, Miss Pillsbury.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

General Reading of Prose Authors, Mr. King.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is open only to those students who have attended the lectures in Elocution given in the general course.

Reading of Shakespeare, Mr. King.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course is open only to those students who have taken the course in General Reading of Prose Authors. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who expect to teach English literature, and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils, are given special attention.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. There are offered each year distinct graduate courses in English literature and in English language, and these courses are varied so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for three or more successive years. The graduate courses in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature years of the English group; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year in the English group.

Students who choose English as the chief subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have, if they specialise in literature, at least as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon, and, if they specialise in language, at least as much knowledge of literature, as is obtained in the courses required of those students who make English one of the chief subjects of undergraduate study, and must have taken at least the equivalent of the English Composition in the required English course.

The graduate instruction in English includes the direction of private reading and the assignment of topics for investigation.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Seminary in English Literature, Dr. Clark.

Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1906-07 seventeenth century prose writers are studied. The authors usually chosen for discussion are Bacon, Milton, and Hooker.

In 1907-08 the literary movement of the eighteenth century will be studied in connection with Johnson.

In 1908-09 romantic criticism will be the subject of the seminary. The overthrow of eighteenth century standards and the rise of a new school of criticism is studied in the works of Coleridge, Hazlitt, and Lamb. Though the class meets only three times a week, the time required for reading in connection with the lectures makes the work equivalent to that of a five hour course.

Seminary in Middle English, Dr. Brown.

Language.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

In 1906-07 the beginnings of English Drama are the subject of the seminary. The English mystery plays are studied in the four cycles and in the extant separate plays with the Towneley group as the basis of comparison. The development of the dramatic elements of the liturgy is followed through the liturgical drama and thence through the mystery plays. The moralities and the secular drama are studied historically up to the time of Heywood. In addition to the reading and discussion of selected plays, lectures are given by the instructor with the object of setting various elements of dramatic development in proper proportion. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1907-08 Middle English Romances will be studied. After an introductory study of the development of Romance literature in France, the romances of Germanic origin, the Arthurian and the Classical cycles, as represented in Middle English are taken up in the order named. By means of lectures and reports the different groups are studied in relation to their general European development. Careful investigations of various elements in individual romances will be undertaken from time to time by the students.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be Middle English Grammar and Literature. Students taking the course are expected to have as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year of the English group. Representative examples of ecclesiastical, courtly, and popular mediæval literature are read with the class. Attention is paid to historical development and dialects. Special topics in the recent criticism of Middle English literature are assigned to the students to report on.

Beowulf, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

This course gives in the first place a general survey of Beowulf criticism, including textual problems, theories as to the composition of the poem, and an enquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts, or its equivalent.

Cynewulf and Cædmon, Dr. Brown. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures will be given furnishing an introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts, or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar, Dr. Brown.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

In this course the development of the English language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English.

Seminary in Elizabethan Drama, Dr. Hatcher.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

The history, development, sources, types, and later tendencies of the Elizabethan drama are lectured on and studied.

English Journal Club, Dr. Clark and Dr. Brown.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year

(Given in each year.)

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

German.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz,* Professor of Comparative Philology and German, Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Associate in German Literature, and Miss Rose Chamberlin, Reader in German.

The instruction offered in German covers thirty-one hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation German; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; six hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in German, and ten hours a week of graduate work in modern German literature and in Teutonic philology.

Matriculation Course.

A class for beginners in German, under the direction of Miss Rose Chamberlin, five hours a week throughout the year, is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include German may with less difficulty obtain the reading knowledge of it that they must possess before receiving a degree. By great diligence such students may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted, should they desire it, into the first year of the major course in German.

Major Course.

The major course in German presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject.

* In and after 1907-08 the courses offered by Dr. Collitz will be given by an instructor whose appointment will be announced later.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the earliest times to the time of Klopstock, exclusive, Dr. Collitz.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in German and, beginning with an account of German civilisation as described in classical authors, discuss Ulfilas, the authors of the time of Charlemagne, the fragments of heathen poetry, the Heliand, Otfried, the Nibelungenlied, and the Heldenbuch, the time of Wolfram, Gottfried, Hartmann, the Minnesingers and Meistersingers, Sebastian Brandt, Hans Sachs, etc. The course includes the reading, in modern German translations, of specimens selected from Old and Middle High German authors. For these selections Conrad's Alteutsches Lesebuch in neudeutschen Uebersetzungen (Leipzig, 1889) will be used.

This course is open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

Private reading: Lessing, Emilia Galotti, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Goethe, Egmont, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

Critical Reading of Modern German Authors, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

German Grammar and Prose Composition, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course in critical reading consists of translations of modern German novels such as G. Keller's Kleider machen Leute; E. von Wildenbruch's Der Letzte; H. Böhlau's Ratsmädelgeschichten and especially of modern German essay prose. For translation of English into German, Hawthorne's Tales of the White Hills and Sketches, or texts of similar difficulty are used. German grammar is carefully reviewed in von Jagemann's German Syntax (Henry Holt and Co., New York).

The course in Critical Reading and the course in Grammar and Prose Composition may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided. The courses are open as a free elective to all students that have passed the matriculation examination in German.

Private reading: Schiller, Geschichte des dreissigjährigen Krieges, Book III, (Ed. Palmer, New York; Henry Holt & Co.), must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Goethe, Hermann und Dorothea, and Schiller, Bräut v. Messina, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attendance on college classes, in the reading and grammar of the minor, three hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies these courses must be taken in the semester in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

* See footnote page 100.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the History of German Literature from Klopstock to the present time, Dr. Jessen. Two hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in German and discuss the great classical authors, as well as the most modern poets and novelists.

Selected Reading, Dr. Jessen. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course in selected reading is planned to illustrate the lectures on literature. Neither the lectures nor the reading may be elected separately.

Private reading: Goethe, Iphigenie, and Lessing, Nathan der Weise, must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Sudermann, Frau Sorge and Hauptmann, Die Versunkene Glocke, (New York: Henry Holt & Co.), must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned, by all students pursuing the German courses.

Goethe, Faust (2nd Part), Dr. Collitz.* } One hour a week throughout the year.

German Prose Composition, Dr. Jessen. } One hour a week throughout the year.

In the course in Prose Composition the students translate selections from Matthew Arnold's essays, from English into German.

The course in Faust and the course in Prose Composition may not be elected separately, and the examination in these subjects may not be divided.

Private reading: Goethe, Faust, (1st part), must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Goethe, Tasso, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the German courses.

An advanced standing examination, or an examination taken without attendance on the college class, in the prose composition of the major, one hour a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under German governesses the necessary advanced knowledge, and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination on the private reading that accompanies this course must be taken in the semester in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

Group: German with any language.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Elementary Middle High German, Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course has been arranged primarily for undergraduate students who wish to be able to read the Middle High German classics in the original. A general acquaintance with the history of early German literature, such as may be obtained from the lectures on the history of German literature in the minor course, is presupposed. Wright's Middle High German Primer (2nd edition, Oxford, 1899) is used.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the first semester

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

Post-
Major
Courses.

* See footnote page 100.

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller's, Storm's, and C. F. Meyer's works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, as well as of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Schiel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the Present Time (continued), Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism, as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Liliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Luise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helene Böhlau, Isolde Kurz, Clara Viebig and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; Neo-romanticism and Heimatsdichtung.

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School till 1850, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersede the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotthelf, are the principal topics discussed.

German Drama in the Nineteenth Century, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The drama of Heinrich von Kleist is studied with special reference to that of the classical period, and to the dramatic efforts of the Romanticists. The place of Grillparzer in German literature is defined, as well as the significance of Grabbe and Raimund. This leads to Otto Ludwig and to Friedrich Hebbel, who is the central figure, chronologically as well as in importance, of the German drama during the nineteenth century. The course ends with a review of Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Sudermann, Hauptmann, and of other modern writers of less importance.

Advanced Critical Reading, Dr. Jessen. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works.

German Syntax, Advanced Reading, and Composition, Miss Chamberlin.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Attention is given in this course to the needs of students wishing to make teaching their profession. Each student is required to lecture to the class at least once during the year. In 1907-08 this course will be a free elective course.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses offered in German Philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology. Graduate Courses.

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted by Dr. Jessen according to the seminary method. The courses are varied so that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Seminary in German Literature, Dr. Jessen.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Although the seminary meets only two hours a week throughout the year, the amount of reading required makes the course equivalent to five hours a week. It is hoped that the students will become familiar in these courses with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1906-07 among the subjects studied is Goethe as a lyrical poet.

In 1907-08 Goethe's life and works are the subject of the seminary. Goethe's views on aesthetics and philosophy, translations by and from Goethe, Goethe and romanticism, text criticism applied to selected works, studies of Goethe's style and use of words, and similar subjects are investigated.

In 1908-09 the Romantic School and the Volkslied will be studied.

Goethe's Weltanschauung, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

In this course the philosophy of Goethe is studied with a view to its importance in understanding the currents of thought underlying modern German culture. Its unscholastic character gives it special interest. The students are referred to the writings of Wilhelm Bode, Moritz Heynacher, Hermann Siebeck, and others on the subject.

Germanic Antiquities, Dr. Jessen. One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

This course deals with the study of ethnic conditions and characteristics, the racial and social conditions of the Germanic peoples and the important influences exerted by classical study and the Christian religion. The recent scientific discussions of Comte Gobineau, H. St. Chamberlain, and others have emphasised the importance of the subject. Tacitus's Germania will be read with reference to Müllenhoff, Deutsche Altertumskunde.

German Metrics, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1907-08.)

This course consists of lectures on Deutsche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1907-08.)

Lectures will be given on Deutsche Poetik and Stilistik.

German Literary Criticism, Dr. Jessen.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The lectures trace the development of literary and æsthetic criticism in Germany from Leibniz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative in character, and French and English literary criticism are taken into consideration. Lessing's Laoköon and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on æsthetics are studied. A good reading knowledge of French and German is required.

The German Essay, Dr. Jessen. One hour a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1908-09.)

The history of the essay in German literature is studied, and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed; the influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is investigated. Incidentally questions touching on the evolution of modern German prose style are dealt with.

GENERAL TEUTONIC PHILOLOGY.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz,* Professor of Comparative Philology and German. Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative Teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in Teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Platt-Deutsch, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The courses in introduction to the study of Teutonic philology, Gothic and Middle High German grammar (first year course), are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year. The courses given in each year will be planned to meet the needs of the graduate students.

Students intending to elect Teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Introduction to the study of Teutonic Philology, Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

Graduate Courses.

These lectures deal with the following topics: a discussion of Teutonic in its relation to the cognate Aryan languages; a brief sketch of the various Teutonic languages, accompanied by an account of the chief grammatical and lexicographic works on each; a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, including problems such as the relationship of dialects, and the consistency of phonetic laws; a brief history of Teutonic philology, and the outlines of general phonetics.

Gothic, Dr. Collitz.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar. Wright's Primer of the Gothic Language (2nd ed., Oxford, 1899); or Braune's Gotische Grammatik (6th ed., Halle, 1905) are used as text-books.

As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible.

* See footnote page 100.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts (first year course), Dr. Collitz.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar, with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Part of Hartmann's Armer Heinrich is read; it is followed by selections from the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the "Nibelungenfrage" and of the manuscripts of the Nibelungenlied. Students of Middle High German should be provided with Paul's Mittelhochd. Grammatik (6th ed., Halle, 1904), or Michels's Mittelhochd. Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900).

This course is required of all students that make German the minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Old High German, Dr. Collitz.* Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is offered to students acquainted with Gothic and Middle High German, or at least modern German, and includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Middle and Modern High German. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the differences between the Old High German dialects.

Middle High German (second year course), Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for students that have followed the first year's course in Middle High German. The first semester is devoted to the Höfisches Epos (Veldeke Wolfram, Gottfried von Strassburg, Rudolf von Ems, Konrad von Würzburg), and the second semester to Minnesangs Frühling and Walther von der Vogelweide.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The work presupposes on the part of the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic, Anglo-Saxon, and Old High German. Holthausen's Altsächsisches Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1899); the Heliand (in Sievers's, or Heyne's or Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altsächsischen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894) are used.

Old Norse, Dr. Collitz.*

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course may, by request, be substituted for the course in Old Saxon.

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course attention is paid to the relation between Gothic and Norse, and to the differences between the East Teutonic and West Teutonic branches. Among the texts read selections from the younger and the older Eddas take a prominent place. The critical reading of songs from the elder Edda is supplemented by a discussion of the different views on the structure of the old Germanic alliterative verse.

The books used are Sweet's Icelandic Primer (Oxford, 1886), or Holthausen's Altisländisches Elementarbuch (Weimar, 1895); and Hildebrand's Edda (2nd edition, Paderborn, 1904), with Gering's Glossar (2nd edition, Paderborn, 1896).

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, Norse periodicals, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar (1st Part), Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic,

* See footnote page 100.

Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic as distinguished from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

Teutonic Seminary, Dr. Collitz.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

This seminary is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The exercises consist mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. The subjects for discussion are announced in advance, and the members of the seminary are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In addition to the above courses, others in Old Frisian, Dutch, Middle Low German, or Modern Low German may be arranged for students that have previously studied Gothic, Old and Middle High German, Anglo-Saxon, and Old Saxon.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of M. Lucien Foulet, Professor of French Literature, Dr. Albert Schinz, Associate Professor of French Literature, and Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate in French Philology and Italian.

The instruction offered in French covers thirty-one hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes five hours a week of matriculation French; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in French; and eleven hours a week of graduate work in modern French literature and in Old French literature and language.

A class for beginners in French, under the direction of Dr. Schinz, five hours a week throughout the year, is provided, in order that those students whose matriculation examination did not include French may with less difficulty obtain the reading knowledge of it that they must possess before receiving a degree. By great diligence such students may acquire sufficient knowledge to be admitted, should they desire it, into the first year of the major course in French.

Matriculation Course.

Entrance to the major course in French presupposes as much knowledge as is required to pass the matriculation examination in this subject. All the courses in French are conducted in the French language.

Major Course.

* See footnote page 100.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature of the eighteenth century, accompanied by collateral readings of representative French authors, M. Foulet.

Three hours a week throughout the year

These lectures are delivered in French, and students are expected to take notes and answer questions in French. The aim of the lectures is to familiarise the students with the spoken language of France and form and direct their literary taste.

Private reading: Marivaux, Les fausses confidences; Montesquieu, Lettres Persanes (46, 74, 93, 94, 95, 97, 102, 103, 124, 144), Voltaire, Siècle de Louis XIV (Heath, Boston), must be read by students taking the course in the first semester. Voltaire, Correspondance (Heath, Boston); Rousseau, Confessions, Dialogues, Rêveries (Hachette, Paris, Extraits); Chénier, L'Aveugle, Hymne à la France (the first fifty lines), La jeune captive, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned, by all students pursuing the French courses.

Critical Readings in French prose and poetry. Practical Exercises in French Syntax and Composition, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The class is conducted in French, and students are expected to take notes and to answer questions in French.

Private reading: Balzac, Les Chouans, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; de Vigny, Grandeur et Servitude Militaire must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the French courses.

The advanced standing examinations, or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes, in the reading and composition of the minor, two hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college, by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry) into English. V. Hugo's Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Warren's Selections from Victor Hugo (Holt, New York), will give an idea of the kind of translation required. The examination in composition will as a rule consist in translating a few detached sentences of every-day idiomatic English, such as may be found in Sweet's Primer of Spoken English, or the German edition of it (Elementarbuch des Gesprochenen Englisch. Oxford, Clarendon Press), or Chardenal's French Exercises for Advanced Pupils (Allyn and Bacon, Boston). The private reading examinations must be taken in the semester in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures on the history of French Literature from the earliest times to the end of the seventeenth century, accompanied by collateral reading, Dr. Schinz.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures are delivered in French. The collateral reading in connection with the lectures, on which examinations are held at stated intervals, consists, for the period preceding the seventeenth century, of passages chosen from such works as Gautier's Épopées Françaises or Petit de Julleville's Histoire du Théâtre en France; and for the seventeenth century of selections from the leading authors of the time. Malherbe, Boileau, Corneille, Racine, Molière, La Fontaine, Descartes, Pascal, La Rochefoucauld, Mme. de Sévigné, the great pulpit orators, and others, find a place in the course. During the first semester a number of selections from sixteenth century writers are also read in class, one hour out of the three being specially devoted to this purpose.

Private reading: Chanson de Roland (traduction Gautier), and Bédier, Tristan et Iseut, must be read by students taking the course in the first semester; Corneille, Le Cid, Cinna; Racine, Andromaque, Athalie; Molière, Tartuffe, Les Femmes Savantes, must be read by students taking the course in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the French courses.

Critical Readings and Studies in the Great Masterpieces of French Literature, M. Foulet.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Molière, Ecole des Femmes, Critique de l'Ecole des Femmes, Impromptu de Versailles, Don Juan, Le Misanthrope, L'Avaro, Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme, Le Malade Imaginaire (Ed. Thirion, Hachette, Paris), V. Hugo (selections from the novels and lyric poems) are read and studied.

Studies in French Style, Composition, etc., M. Foulet.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The two one-hour courses given by M. Foulet may not be elected separately.

Private reading: Renan, Souvenirs d'Enfance et de Jeunesse, must be read by students taking the courses in the first semester; Rostand, Les Romanesques, must be read by students taking the courses in the second semester. Examinations on the private reading must be taken at one of two stated times during the semester for which the reading is assigned by all students pursuing the French courses.

The advanced standing examinations or examinations taken without attendance on the college classes in the reading and composition of the major, two hours a week for two semesters, may be taken by those students only who are able to submit satisfactory evidence that they have obtained before entering the college by regular and systematic study, or by residence abroad or work under French governesses, the necessary advanced knowledge and are able to pass the examination in the first three weeks after entering the college. Failure to pass at the first trial will disqualify from further trials. The examination in translation will consist of sight translation from French (usually poetry), into English. V. Hugo's Les Châtiments (Hachette, Paris), La Légende des Siècles, id. (the first two volumes), or Warren's Selections from Victor Hugo (Holt, New York) will give an idea of the kind of translation required. More difficult passages will be selected than for the minor advanced standing examination. The composition consists of one or two pieces of connected English, taken from such books as Stevenson's Treasure Island, Jerome K. Jerome's Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow. No specific question on French grammar is asked; students are expected to show their knowledge of grammar in the composition. Cameron's The Elements of French Composition (Holt, New York), and Storm's French Dialogues (Macmillan, London) will be found useful in composition work. The private reading examinations must be taken in the semester in which the advanced standing examination is offered.

Group: French with Italian and Spanish, or with any language.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The French Novel from Lesage to Flaubert, M. Foulet.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

The lectures treat of the origin of the modern novel in Lesage and Marivaux, the influence of Rousseau on its further development, the romantic novel of Mme. de Staël, Chateaubriand, Vigny, Hugo, and the realistic novel of Stendhal, Mérimée, and Balzac.

Post-
Major
Courses.

The Romantic Drama of the nineteenth century, M. Foulet.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1907-08.)

The lectures deal with the origin and development of the romantic drama in the works of Victor Hugo, Alexandre Dumas père, Alfred de Vigny, and Alfred de Musset. Its renaissance in the latter part of the century in Richepin and Edmond Rostand is then discussed.

Origin, development, and decline of realistic comedy, M. Foulet.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1908-09.)

The lectures treat of the origin of realistic comedy in Beaumarchais; its period of highest development in Augier, Dumas fils, Pailleron, and Sardou; its decline, the comédie naturaliste; new systems and new writers, Jules Lemaitre and Edmond Rostand.

French Lyric Poetry of the nineteenth century, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

In the first semester the lectures treat lyric poetry until the year 1866. Special attention is paid to the period from 1850 to 1866, while Lamartine, Hugo, Sainte Beuve, de Vigny, and de Musset are treated only so far as is necessary for the understanding of the evolution of lyric poetry in their successors, Baudelaire, Gautier, de Banville, Leconte de Lisle, etc. The lectures of the second semester treat contemporary lyric poetry from 1866 to 1900. A careful study is made of the Parnassian and Symbolist schools.

The short story (nouvelle) in the nineteenth century, Dr. Schinz.Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The genre nouvelle is studied in connection with the following writers: Xavier de Maistre, Chateaubriand, Nodier, de Vigny, de Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, Gautier, Laboulaye, Daudet, Bourget, Maupassant, France, Bazin, Rod, Coppée, Loti, Villiers de l'Isle Adam, de Régnier, Paul Adam, Masson Forestier and others.

Teachers' Course in Advanced French, Dr. Schinz.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is especially intended to give students the practical knowledge of French required for teaching the language. A correct pronunciation will be taught by means of a study of French phonetics, of the comparative value of sounds, of the tonic and oratorical accents, and of the rhythmical language. Classical texts will be analysed as a preparation for exercises in composition and lectures on the principles of French rhetoric will be given.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. There are offered each year two distinct graduate courses in French, one in literature and one in language, and these courses are varied so that they may be followed by the graduate student throughout three years. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Graduate students interested in the study of literature will find it to their advantage to attend the lectures on French literature two hours a week throughout the two years of the major course in French.

Literature. Seminary in French Literature, M. Foulet.

Three hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

In 1906-07 and in 1909-10 the subject of the seminary is La 'Matière de Bretagne' et l'épopée courtoise. The course includes a careful study of the Lais of Marie de France, the poems referring to Tristan, the Romans of Chrétien de Troie, and selected poems on the Holy Grail; these are studied in connection with the question of their origin in Celtic countries and their later development in France. The different theories that have been proposed as to their origin and evolution are examined and discussed and an attempt is made to determine their relative value.

The subject of the seminary in 1907-08 will be Ronsard and the Pléiade, the object being to determine the origin, the extent, and the success of the Renaissance movement in France. The chief works of Ronsard and his successors, especially Du Bellay and Baif, will be read and discussed.

The subject of the seminary in 1908-09 will be Molière; French Comedy before Molière, Molière's comedies, their Latin, Italian, and French sources, his style and method of composition, the nature of his "comique," his philosophy and his morality will be discussed.

Victor Hugo as a lyric, epic, and philosophical poet, Dr. Schinz.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

Among the subjects discussed are: Victor Hugo, the Royalist and Catholic poet; what Victor Hugo owes to Chateaubriand and other contemporaries; Victor Hugo in relation to Napoleon I, the Republic, Napoleon III; Victor Hugo's social, political, and religious ideas as expressed in his latest poetical works.

Life and Writings of J. J. Rousseau, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

Special attention is devoted to the following points: Rousseau as the father of the Romanticism of the nineteenth century; Rousseau as the first representative of cosmopolitan literature, Joseph Texte's ideas on "Cosmopolitisme littéraire;" the personality of Rousseau, a study of his works with special reference to the theories of his insanity.

Seminary in Old French Literature, Dr. Schinz.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The subject of the seminary is the religious and popular narrative poetry of the middle ages. In the first semester the collection of Contes dévots of Adgar, Gautier de Coincy and Le Marchand will be read, and also those stories of the Vies des Pères that are accessible. Comparisons with collateral stories will be made and some features of Gautier's style will be studied in their relation to religious Latin poetry. In the second semester fabliaux, dits and contes will be read to test the Arian, oriental and anthropological theories of the origin of the stories.

The course in Old French Philology is intended for students in their first year of graduate study; the Old French Seminary is designed for students in their second or third year of graduate study; the Journal Club may be attended by students in their first, second, or third year of graduate study. The course in Old French Readings is designed to be taken in connection with the seminary in French Literature. Language.

Old French Philology, Dr. Holbrook. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

This course consists of lectures on the Phonology, Morphology, and Syntax of Old French, and is designed not only for students whose main pursuit is Romance philology, but also for those who wish to acquire more precise knowledge of the French elements in Middle English. The main principles of Historical Grammar will be illustrated by a minute study of the Extraits de la Chanson de Roland, published by Gaston

Paris, and of various texts in Bartsch and Horning's Chrestomathie (Leipsic, 1901). Other books used are Nyrop's Grammaire Historique de l'Ancien Français (vol. 1, 1904, and vol. 2, 1903), and Schwan's Grammaire de l'Ancien Français (latest French edition), Old French Readings, Dr. Holbrook. One hour a week throughout the year.

The purpose of this course is to study from a scientific point of view various typical Old French masterpieces. The essential facts of Old French grammar will be reviewed and all rare or difficult locutions will be minutely studied for the sake of precise interpretation; dialectal features will be considered and attention will be given to the relation of manuscripts to printed texts. In addition to the works named below, students are expected to supply themselves with Gaston Paris's Littérature française au moyen âge.

The following courses may be rearranged to suit the needs of students in any particular year.

In 1907-08 Epic and Historical literature will be the subject of the course. The texts required are Stengel's edition of the Chanson de Roland (Leipsic, 1900); the Pèlerinage de Charlemagne (ed. by Koschwitz, Leipsic, 1900); Aliscans (ed. by Wienbeck, Hartnacke and Rasch, Halle, 1903), and the Extraits des Chroniqueurs Français (Villehardouin, Joinville, Froissart, Commines), ed. by G. Paris and A. Jeanroy, Paris, 1893.

In 1908-09 Dramatic Literature will be studied. Various mysteries and miracle plays will be critically examined with regard to their origin, construction, language, and versification; but this course will deal mainly with purely mediæval comedy (ca. 1260—ca. 1530). The texts most needed will be Adam de la Hale's Jeu de la feuillée (edition of Rambeau, Marburg, 1886, and of Langlois, Paris, 1895); Paul Lacroix's Recueil (Paris, 1859), and the facsimile of Guillaume Le Roy's Patelin (1486?), printed by Protat frères of Mâcon, France.

In 1909-10 various texts will be read with a view to deriving from them a first-hand knowledge of every-day life—customs, manners, dress, and habits of thought—in mediæval France. Linguistic features will be examined in accordance with the introductory statement.

Old French Seminary, Dr. Holbrook. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The work of the seminary is on the most important Old French dialects. Texts in Norman, Picard, French proper and Franco-Provençal are studied with reference to their dialectal features in order that the student may acquire the power to determine approximately the origin of other texts in which the same dialectal features occur.

Romance Languages Journal Club, M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year
(Given in each year.)

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Italian.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate in French Philology and Italian.

The instruction offered in Italian covers eleven hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes eight hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; one hour a week of free elective work open to students who have a reading knowledge of Italian; and two hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five or three hours a week for one year of the minor course or of the minor and major courses in Italian with five hours or seven hours a week for one year of the minor and major courses in Spanish forms a major course and may be taken with any other language to form a group. Any of the undergraduate courses in Italian may be taken as free elective courses.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

Italian, Dr. Holbrook.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Major Course.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

This course is designed to prepare beginners for the study of Italian literature, as well as for the practical use of the language. Reading is taken up from the start, a careful pronunciation is insisted upon, and the essentials of the grammar are taught by a critical observation of the texts used and by graded exercises in the rendering of English into Italian. The books read are the following, and are taken up in the order indicated: C. H. Grandgent's Italian Grammar (Boston, 1905); Bowen's Italian Reader and Grandgent's Italian Composition; selections from Pellico's Le mie prigioni and all his tragedy of Francesca da Rimini (Milan, 1906); selections from the prose of Renato Fucini and others; selections from the autobiography of Benvenuto Cellini (Bacci's smaller edition, Florence, 1900), and, if possible, Dante's Vita Nuova.

Representative Italian Classics in English Translations, Dr. Holbrook.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective.)

This course deals with typical masterpieces of Italian literature from Dante to Cellini. The author's life, character, and surroundings, his place in literary history, and his translators are discussed.

The works studied are as follows: Dante and his Circle (for early lyrics), Vita Nuova, most of the Inferno, parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso; Boccaccio, Life of Dante and several tales translated by John Payne and others; Petrarch, selected Letters, Sonnets and Triumphs; Ariosto, Orlando Furioso; Tasso, Jerusalem Delivered; Castiglione, The Courtier; Cellini, Autobiography. Students are asked to provide themselves at the beginning of the course with Edmund Gardner's Dante, Rossetti's The Early Italian Poets (ed. by Edmund Gardner, Dent, 1904), and Carey's translation of the Divine Comedy. Knowledge of Italian is not required.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Italian Classical Literature, Dr. Holbrook.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The work in this course is three-fold: first, a brief outline of the rise of Italian literature with special attention to Dante; second, a critical translation of the whole Inferno and of selected parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso; third, the study and translation of parts of Pulci, Morgante Maggiore; Bojardo, Orlando Innamorato; Ariosto, Orlando Furioso, and Tasso, Gerusalemme Liberata. For the third section a study of difficult modern Italian prose and poetry and composition may be substituted. The lectures on literature are delivered in Italian.

Group: Italian and Spanish with any language.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Free
Elective
Course.

Italian influences on English Literature, Dr. Holbrook.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures will be given on the influence of medieval and modern Italy on various English writers, such as Chaucer, Wyatt, Surrey, Ascham, Shakespeare, Coryat, Milton, Byron, Landor, and George Eliot. A reading knowledge of Italian is required.

Early in the course each student will choose some theme or author upon which she will give a written report in the second semester.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate
Courses.

Italian Philology, Dr. Holbrook.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course presupposes a knowledge of Old French philology and the equivalent of the minor and major courses in Italian offered at Bryn Mawr College. The work is founded upon Meyer-Lübke's Grammatica Storico-Comparata della Lingua Italiana e dei Dialecti Toscani (Torino, Loescher, 1901). A few pages of the Decamerone (Fanfani's edition) will be examined critically, and each word treated with regard to its phonological and morphological aspects.

Old Italian Readings, Dr. Holbrook.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Students should provide themselves with the first volume of D'Ancona and Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana (Florence, 1904).

Romance Languages Journal Club, M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Professor of Spanish.

The instruction offered in Spanish covers eighteen hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; two hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in Spanish; and six hours a week of graduate work.

A combination of five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Spanish with five hours a week for one year of the minor course in Italian forms a major course, and may be taken with any other language to form a group. Students may thus elect ten hours of Spanish, or five hours of Spanish and five hours of Italian to form a major course. Students may also elect seven hours of Spanish and three hours of Italian to form a major course.

FIRST YEAR.

*(Minor Course.)(Given in each year.)Major
Course.

Spanish, Dr. DeHaan.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish, and to ground them thoroughly in the essentials of the grammar. As a preparation for understanding the spoken language, two half-hours a week during the second semester are devoted to dictation. The books studied are the following (taken up in the order indicated): DeHaan's Cuentos Modernos; Pérez Nieva, Tomás el torrero (Madrid, Colección Klong); DeHaan's Selected Works of G. A. Bequer; Hartzenbusch, Los Amantes de Teruel (Obros, vol. III.); Zorrilla, Granada (Madrid, 1895, 2 vols.).

Private reading: Palacio Valdés, José; Galdós, Mariela.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History of the Nineteenth Century, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Composition, Dr. DeHaan. One hour a week throughout the year.

Critical Reading in Spanish, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Private reading supplementing the lectures on literary history comprises representative works in the various branches of literature.

Group: Spanish, or Italian and Spanish with any language.

The lectures are supplemented by extensive private reading of important works.

Essays in Spanish, Dr. DeHaan. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Romance Languages Journal Club, M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz, Dr. Holbrook. One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

CELTIC, SLAVONIC AND BALTIC LANGUAGES.

Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German, will offer courses in these languages to students of comparative Aryan or of comparative Teutonic philology. Such students will find it of great advantage to gain at least some knowledge of Old Irish and Old Slavonic. Courses will also be arranged for students that prefer to study Lithuanian or any of the more important living Slavonic languages (Russian, Polish, or Servian).

SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages and Miss Maud Downing, Reader in Semitic Languages. The instruction offered in this department includes five hours a week of Oriental History, three hours a week of free elective courses in Biblical Literature, and ten hours a week of graduate courses in Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. The contents of these two libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighboring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

MINOR COURSE.

(Given in each year.)

Minor Course.

Oriental History, Dr. Barton.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

(May be taken as a free elective or may be substituted for the second year of required science.)

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilisation of the classical orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phoenicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabæans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archaeological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

The courses in Biblical Literature are intended primarily for undergraduate students, but may be elected by graduate students also.

History of the New Testament Canon, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

This course, which alternates with the course on the Old Testament Canon consists of a study of the New Testament.

The History of Christian Doctrine, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

In the first semester Christianity is studied as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A. D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.

History of the Old Testament Canon, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the Old Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and readings are assigned in the Old Testament itself and in modern literature concerning it.

New Testament Biography, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester, to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The instruction is given in lectures, and the Gospels and Epistles are read together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated by photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.

This course alternates with the course in Christian Doctrine.

Biblical Geography and Archæology, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year, when the time of the department permits.)

The course begins with a survey of the physical features of Palestine and an estimate of their effect upon its civilisation. The succession of races dominant in Palestine since the beginning of history is then reviewed, after which the positions of the places important in the Biblical narratives are carefully noted. The principal Biblical narratives are studied in connection with the geography of the country and the archæological remains of the period. In this way the narratives of the Patriarchs, Kings, Prophets, and Apostles, as well as the life of Christ, are illustrated. The course is illustrated by photographs. Use is made throughout the course of the publications of the Palestine Exploration Fund, and of other modern explorers.

New Testament Greek, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year, when the time of the department permits.)

This course presupposes a knowledge of classical Greek. After some introductory lectures on the formation and peculiarities of the New Testament Greek, one hour a week during the first semester is devoted to lectures on the history of the New Testament text both in its written and in its printed form, the helps extant for emending it, and the method of using them. The remainder of the time is devoted to the interpretation of the New Testament Epistles, especially those of Paul. The students are expected to read privately during the first semester the text of one of the Gospels, and during the second, either the Acts of the Apostles, the Apocalypse, or the Epistle to the Hebrews.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. As students of Semitic languages, in addition to the work of investigation, must master the elements of a number of dialects for use in Semitic philology, those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialise in Hebrew or Assyrian. They must offer as subjects in the examination Hebrew, Assyrian, and Arabic, and must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of Aramaic and Ethiopic. Students that offer Semitic languages as the minor subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must show that they have a knowledge of three Semitic languages.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least five hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew, even if such a course should not be announced for the year in question.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

FIRST AND SECOND YEAR.

(Given in 1907-08 and in 1908-09.)

Semitic Languages.

Elementary Hebrew, Miss Downing Three hours a week during the first semester.

This course comprises a thorough study of the elements of the language, and the interpretation of parts of Genesis and Deuteronomy; it enables students to read ordinary Hebrew at sight.

Elementary Assyrian, Miss Downing.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

This course includes a study of the elements of the language, the interpretation of selections from the royal annals, and exercises in writing Assyrian.

Elementary Arabic, Miss Downing. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the elements of the language, the interpretation of selections from Brünnow's Chrestomathia and from the Thousand and One Nights, together with Arabic prose composition.

Hebrew, The Prophets, Dr. Barton. One hour a week throughout the year.

The text of one or more of the Prophets is critically interpreted, and Hebrew syntax and composition are studied.

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton. Two hours a week throughout the year.

For students that specialise in Hebrew the work of the seminary consists of a critical study of one of the following subjects: the Psalter, Job, Canticles, Ecclesiastes, or one of the historical or prophetic books; for those who specialise in Assyrian a critical study is made of one of the following subjects: Old Babylonian texts and the Sumerian problem, administrative records of the temple at Telloh, Assyrio-Babylonian epic and mythological poetry, Assyrio-Babylonian religious and magical texts, Babylonian contracts, or the Laws of Hammurabi.

Hebrew Literature, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of Old Testament poetry and of the apocalypses, Jewish and Christian.

Aramaic, including Syriac and Biblical Aramaic, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to Syriac. After the forms are learned, which is an easy matter for students acquainted with Hebrew, selections are read from the Syriac versions of the New Testament, from the chronicles of Barhebräus, and from the hymns of Efrem. The second semester is devoted to Jewish Aramaic, which is the dialect of large parts of the books of Daniel and Ezra, as well as of the Targums.

THIRD YEAR.

(Given in 1909-10.)

Assyrian, Historical Texts, Dr. Barton. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to the interpretation of royal annals, both Assyrian and Babylonian.

Hebrew Literature, Dr. Barton.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch, and the historical books of the Old Testament.

Assyrian Literature, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Assyrio-Babylonian literature, history, and art are briefly reviewed.

Arabic Literature, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Arabic civilisation and its chief literary products are studied.

Advanced Arabic, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester portions of the Qur'an are read and in the second semester portions of the Mu'allakât poems are interpreted; special attention is given to syntax. The grammars of Socin and Wright are used.

Comparative Semitic Grammar, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course is devoted to Semitic phonetics and grammatical forms with a comparison of old Hamitic. In connection with the work selected Egyptian texts are read, to supply the student with Hamitic linguistic material. The first semester is devoted to phonetic material and its laws, the second to the pronoun and verb

FOURTH YEAR.

(Given in 1906-07.)

Semitic Seminary, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

One of the subjects of the preceding year will be continued.

Ethiopic, Dr. Barton

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Dillmann are used, and in the latter part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.

Semitic Epigraphy (Phœnician, Aramaic, and Sabæan), Dr. Barton

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The course begins with a study of the Moabite stones the language of which differs only slightly from Hebrew. As the grammatical forms of Phœnician do not greatly differ from those of Hebrew, the Phœnician part of this course is practically a course in Hebrew epigraphy, the Aramaic is practically an extension of the Aramaic course, while the Sabæan is in part a review of Arabic forms. Lizdarski's Nordsemitische Epigraphik, Cooke's North Semitic Inscriptions, and Hommel's Südarabische Chrestomathie are the text-books used.

Semitic and Hebrew Religions, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the fundamental conceptions of the Semites as to gods and men, sin, sacrifice, and atonement are studied; in the second semester the religion of Israel is compared with the Semitic religion, and the preparation for Christianity is traced.

Comparative Semitic Grammar, Dr. Barton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The Semitic verb is completed and the noun is studied. Selected Coptic texts are read to gain some variety of Hamitic material.

*Biblical Literature.*New Testament Seminary, Dr. Barton. One hour a week throughout the year(Given in 1906-07 and in 1907-08.)

This course may be given occasionally as the time of the department permits. Portions of the Greek text of the New Testament are critically interpreted. Students are assisted in familiarising themselves with the facts and theories of textual and historical criticism, or in investigating such problems as their previous training has fitted them to attack.

History.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charles McLean Andrews,* Professor of History, Mr. Robert Matteson Johnston, Associate Professor (elect) of History, and Dr. William Roy Smith, Associate in History. The instruction offered in History covers twenty-three hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; five hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and undergraduates that have completed the major course in history; and eight hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the major course in history is three-fold. Primarily, history is taught for its own sake as a record of the development of humanity; secondarily, as a necessary accompaniment to the study of political institutions; and finally, as a framework for other forms of research, linguistic, religious, or archæological. The course is planned to develop in the students a readier historical imagination, and a consciousness of historical growth, rather than to give them a mere outline of general history. The instruction consists mainly of lectures, which are designed to create interest in the broad lines of historical development; the lectures are accompanied by constant references for private reading, to stimulate accuracy in detail and independence in judgment.

*In and after 1907-08 the courses announced by Dr. Andrews will be given by Mr. Johnston.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)(Given in each year.)1st Semester.

The History of Europe to the Period of the Renaissance, Dr. Andrews.

*Five hours a week.Major
Course.

This course opens with a few lectures on the contribution of ancient civilisation to mediæval life, with special reference to the influence of Rome. From this point the design is to trace the fall of Rome and the rise of new nationalities; the growth of Frankish power; the empire of Charles the Great; the gradual nationalisation of France and Germany; the growth and influence of the Church; the Feudal System and the rise of French monarchy; the rapid extension of Mohammedanism and its points of contact with Europe; the struggle between the Papacy and the Holy Roman Empire; the scope and results of the crusading movement.

2nd Semester.

The History of Europe from the Period of the Renaissance to the close of the Religious Wars, Dr. Smith.

Five hours a week.

The lectures trace the growth of the humanities and the phases of religious change; the broadening of knowledge in letters, geography, and science; the extension of commerce and the struggle for privileges and constitutional liberty; the weakening of the Papacy and the failure of the Holy Roman Empire; the spirit of reform; the growth of Protestantism and the counter measures; the war in the Netherlands; the religious and political struggles in France, and the Thirty Years' War. The course closes with the Treaty of Westphalia.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)1st Semester.

The History of Europe from the Treaty of Westphalia to the close of the Napoleonic Campaigns, Dr. Smith.

Five hours a week.

This course, which is a continuation of the previous year's work, treats of the territorial expansion of France in the seventeenth century; the rise of French absolutism; the theory of the balance of power; the growth of nationality and international relations; the rise of Prussia; the Seven Years' War, and the expansion of England; the political, social, economic, religious, and philosophical conditions of France leading to reform and revolution; the growth of the moderate spirit under the Directory; the rise of Napoleon and the Empire, and the general European war until the Congress of Vienna.

2nd Semester.

The History of Europe from the Congress of Vienna to the Present Time, Dr. Andrews.

Five hours a week.

This course is planned to give a general outline of the history of the nineteenth century, with special reference to France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Turkey, and Spain, and incidental reference to Sweden, Switzerland, and other minor countries. The lectures trace broadly the phases of reaction against legitimism and Metternichism, the growth of liberal ideas and constitutional government, the rise of the policy of non-intervention, the growth of the national spirit, and the conditions and circumstances which have led to the reorganisation of the political map of Europe. The contemporary history of Europe, Asia, and Africa, since 1871, is treated as far as is practicable.

Group: History with Economics and Politics, or with Law.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-Major Courses.

English Constitutional History to 1485, Dr. Andrews.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

The text-book used in this course is Stubb's Select Charters. The lectures alternate with the reading and interpretation of selected charters and constitutional documents. Each student is assigned from time to time topics upon which a report is made to the class.

Special Topics in Nineteenth Century History, Mr. Johnston.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Incidents and critical periods of nineteenth century history will be studied in detail so as to introduce the student to the use of original sources, and also to give a closer view of political action than can be obtained from general courses. Diplomacy, international law, warfare, the Monroe doctrine, and constitutional questions will be dealt with.

American Constitutional History, from 1789 to the present time, Dr. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

The lectures deal with the leading aspects of American Constitutional History to the close of the period of reconstruction. The text-books used are MacDonald's Select Documents of United States History and Select Statutes of United States History, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.

English Constitutional History from 1485 to the present time, Dr. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The lectures discuss the constitutional features of Tudor absolutism, the influence of the English reformation, the struggle between the crown and parliament for supremacy, the Revolution of 1688-89, the development of the cabinet system, the union with Scotland and Ireland, the American and French Revolutions, the Reform Bills of 1832, 1867, and 1884-85, and the South African question. The text-books used are Prothero's Select Statutes and other Constitutional Documents, Gardiner's Constitutional Documents of the Puritan Revolution, and Adams and Stephens's Select Documents of English Constitutional History. An attempt is made to familiarise the student with the investigations of such men as Gardiner, Ranke, Macaulay, Lecky, Hallam, and May. Time is allowed for discussions of documents and reports.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. Eight courses are offered to graduate students in history in addition to the direction of private reading and original research.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Historical Method and Criticism, Dr. Andrews.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

The lectures in this course discuss the great collections of material in Germany, France, Italy, England, and America, the methods employed in treating such material, and historical criticism from the Renaissance to the present time, including the different kinds of evidence and their treatment, critical analysis, aids to evidence, geography archæology, etc.

* See footnote page 120.

History of the Community in England and America, Dr. Andrews.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1906-07.)

This course is a general survey of the history of the primitive community, the manor, vill, town, and parish in England and the town, parish, hundred, county, and township-county in America.

The American Colonies in the Seventeenth Century, Dr. Andrews.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07.)

This course deals chiefly with the political, constitutional, and social problems of the period.

Historical Method and Criticism, Mr. Johnston.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1907-08.)

The questions dealt with in this course are the scope of historical work and its relations to allied subjects; the outlines of historical bibliography; the great collections of printed material; archives and MSS.; editing, criticism, and evidence.

The French Revolution, Mr. Johnston.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1907-08.)

The work is set chiefly from printed documentary material.

The Napoleonic System and Institutions, Mr. Johnston.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The work will be set largely from printed documentary material.

History of Political Theories, Mr. Johnston.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Starting from the theories of the civil lawyers before the period of Christian influence, the course will trace the great conflict for supremacy between politics and religion down to its latest modern phases. The influence of the economic development since the Renaissance will be considered in this relation, and in general a foundation laid for an historical approach to questions of economics and politics.

Historical Method and Criticism.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The course given in 1907-08 will be extended and continued throughout the year.

Seminary in American Political History, Slavery and the Negro Problem, Dr. Smith.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1907-08.)

This course begins with a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the colonial period. This is followed by a discussion of such topics as the slavery compromises of the Constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri compromise, the anti-slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican war, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scot decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments. Special attention is paid to the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of Constitutional theories.

The Period of National Development, Dr. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

The object of this course is to discuss in some detail the chief features of American history from the establishment of the national government to the election of President Jackson. Special attention is paid to the formation of the departments of government, the origin and development of political parties, the purchase of Louisiana, the war of 1812, the Monroe Doctrine, and the Panama Congress. The student is instructed in the use of congressional debates and reports, public statutes, supreme court decisions, and such other public documents as are available.

England during the Reign of George the Third, Dr. Smith.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course covers the period from the accession of George III to the downfall of Napoleon. Emphasis is laid upon the development of British colonial policy after 1763, the American revolt, the relations with Ireland leading to the Act of Union, and finally upon the attitude of England during the Revolutionary and Napoleonic eras.

Historical Seminary, Dr. Andrews* and Dr. Smith.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The seminary is attended by the instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history. At the meetings which are held once a fortnight, reports are made upon assigned topics, recent articles and books are reviewed, and the results of special investigations presented.

Economics and Politics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Raymond Mussey, Associate Professor of Economics and Politics, Dr. Charles Clarence Williamson, Associate (elect) in Political Science, and Miss Marion Parris, Reader (elect) in Economics and Politics. The instruction offered by this department covers twenty-one hours of lectures and recitations a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; five hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in economics and politics; and six hours a week of graduate work.

The object of the undergraduate courses in economics and politics is three-fold: first, to trace the history of economic and political thought; second, to describe the development of economic and political institutions; and third, to consider the practical economic and political questions of the day. Instruction is given by lectures. The lectures are supplemented by private reading, by oral and written quizzes, by written theses and reports, and by such special class-room exercises as the different subjects require.

* See footnote page 120.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)(Given in each year.)1st Semester.

Introduction to Economics, Dr. Mussey.

*Five hours a week.Major
Course.

After presenting a rapid sketch of the evolution of industry, this course describes in outline the modern economic organisation, illustrating its fundamental characteristics of freedom and competition, and pointing out the functions and the importance of capital. The growth of large scale industry, with its causes, and its economic and social effects, forms a main subject of study.

The course is designed to introduce the student to the subject-matter and the problems of economics, to familiarise her with the leading concepts of the science through definition and concrete illustration, and to prepare the way for an intelligent study of economic theory during the second semester. A large amount of reading in the standard authors is required and oral and written quizzes are held frequently.

This course will be given by Dr. Williamson in 1907-08.

2nd Semester.

Economic Theory, Dr. Mussey.

Five hours a week.

This course consists of a general survey of economic science, presenting the leading features of the theory of value and distribution. A large amount of reading in the standard authors is required and oral and written quizzes are held frequently. This course will be given by Miss Parris in 1907-08.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)1st Semester.

Applied Economics, Dr. Mussey.

Five hours a week.

This course continues the work of the preceding semester, making a more intensive study of some of the important economic principles, and tracing their application to questions of practical state policy, such as the money system, the protective tariff, the legal regulation of labor and the control of corporations. The course is designed to train the student in correct habits of economic study, and to illustrate the uses and limitations of economic theory. This course will be given by Miss Parris in 1907-08.

2nd Semester.

Political Theory, Dr. Mussey.

Five hours a week.

After a rapid sketch of the development of the chief political doctrines, the present state of political theory is set forth, and the relation of current economic and political thought is discussed. The method of treatment in this course is historical, but its central purpose is to study the theory of modern democracy as the political organisation best adapted to secure individual liberty and social well-being.

This course will be given by Dr. Williamson in 1907-08.

Group: Economics and Politics, with History, or with Law, or with Philosophy.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Theories of Socialism and Social Reform, Dr. Mussey.

*Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)Post-
Major
Courses.

During the first semester the theories of representative nineteenth century radical writers are critically examined. The second semester is devoted to a study of modern social reform movements, with constant attention to the interaction of economic and political forces.

This course will be given by Dr. Williamson in 1908-09.

Public Finance, Dr. Williamson. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

This course begins with a discussion of the nature of public finance, its history and present position in the field of the political and economic sciences. After tracing the development of the public economy, theories of the economic activity of the modern state are examined. This is followed by a discussion of public expenditure, its growth in modern democratic societies, and its social and industrial effects. A rapid survey of the history and theories of taxation serves as an introduction to a special study of the problems of federal, state, and local taxation in the United States, comparisons being made with the leading foreign countries. Attention is also called to the nature and significance of other forms of public revenue. The course concludes with a discussion of the theory of public credit and the policy of national and local governments in regard to public debts.

The lectures are supplemented by assigned readings with frequent written and oral quizzes.

Modern Economic Theory, Miss Parris. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

This course is based on a careful study of Marshall's Principles of Economics. It contrasts the results of modern economics with those of the classical political economy.

Economics and Statistics, Miss Parris. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1908-09.)

This course is a study of certain concrete problems capable of quantitative treatment illustrating the use of mathematical and statistical methods in social science.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. In addition to the post-major courses, which may be elected by graduate students, six hours of graduate lectures and seminary work are offered in each year.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Economic Seminary, Dr. Mussey. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The methods of instruction in the seminary are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1906-07 and again in 1907-08, when the course will be given by Dr. Williamson, English economic theory is the subject of study.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be modern political theory, with special reference to contemporary American conditions and tendencies.

Utilitarianism and Economic Theory, Miss Parris.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

This course is a study of Hobbes, Hume, Paley and Bentham, in connection with the application of Utilitarianism by Adam Smith, Ricardo, and John Stuart Mill.

The Theory of Value, Miss Parris. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1908-09.)

A critical study of value theories from the time of Adam Smith.

Problems of Economic Theory, Miss Parris.
Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1909-10.)

A study of important problems of modern theory, illustrating the character of modern theoretical work, and training the student in methods of theoretical investigation.

Economic Journal Club, Dr. Williamson and Miss Parris.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations are presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

Law.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Clarence D. Ashley, Dean of the Faculty of Law of New York University, Non-resident Lecturer in Law. The instruction offered in this department consists of three hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, the first-year and second-year courses being given alternately. The minor course if continued throughout two years may be taken as an alternative for the second year of science required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in 1905-06 and again in 1907-08.)

Law of Contract, Dr. Ashley.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Major
Courses.

This course treats of the formation and discharge of contract as embraced in the topics of Mutual Assent and Consideration and Conditions. It is conducted by class discussion of cases contained in a collection of selected and condensed cases. A statement of each case, with a critical examination and full discussion of the principles involved, is required. The aim is to train the class in accurate legal thought, and incidentally to impart a thorough knowledge of the principles underlying the subjects covered. For collateral reading reference is made to Langdell's Summary of the Law of Contract and other standard authors.

Theory of Legal Procedure, Dr. Ashley. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course treats of the elements of jurisprudence, including the nature, scope, and divisions of law, with the distinctions between contract, tort, and quasi-contract, the nature and classification of rights, and a brief survey of the jurisdiction of of common law and equity courts.

SECOND YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

Torts, Dr. Ashley.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course that class of wrongs which violate an absolute, as distinguished from a correlative, right is discussed. The nature, character, historical development, and classification of torts are considered. The course is conducted mainly by class discussion. The text-book used is Ames's Cases on Torts, Vol. I.

Constitutional Law, Dr. Ashley.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The subject of this course is the Constitution of the United States, and its development and construction by judicial decision. This involves an examination and study of the leading decisions of the United States Supreme Court on constitutional questions. The case system of study is adopted and the course is conducted mainly by class discussion.

Group: Law with History, or with Economics and Politics.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Associate Professor (elect) of Philosophy, Dr. James H. Leuba,* Professor of Psychology and Education and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. George W. T. Whitney, Associate in Philosophy, Miss Marion Reilly and Dr. G. M. de Laguna, Readers (elect) in Philosophy, Miss Clara Jean Weidensall, Demonstrator in Psychology, and Miss Grace Maxwell Fernald, Reader (elect) in Education and Demonstrator in Psychology. The instruction offered in this department covers thirty hours of lectures a week; it includes a required course of five hours a week; ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work; five hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and undergraduates who have completed the major course in philosophy; and ten hours a week of graduate work.

A course in philosophy, five hours a week throughout one year, is required of all candidates for a degree.

The major course in philosophy presupposes as much information as is contained in the required course, and may be elected as a group in combination with the major course in Greek, English, economics and politics, mathematics, or physics. The first-year and second-year courses in psychology are given alternately, and the first year of the course may be elected by students that have finished the required course.

Required Course.

History of Philosophy, Dr. T. de Laguna. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The object of this course is to give a general survey of the history of philosophy. The first semester is devoted to a study of Greek and mediæval thought. In the second semester the lectures deal with the development of modern philosophy from Descartes to Kant. In conclusion the main features of post-Kantian idealism are briefly indicated.

Psychology, Dr. Leuba. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The text-book used is James's Psychology, Briefer Course. In connection with the lectures there are demonstrations of pertinent anatomical and psycho-physical facts.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

1st Semester

(Given in each year.)

Major Course.

Problems of Metaphysics, Dr. Whitney. Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the general course in the History of Philosophy. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1907-08. The courses announced by Dr. Leuba will be given by Mr. Ferree in 1907-08.

In this course certain fundamental questions in philosophy are discussed in detail, such as substance and cause, mechanism and teleology, monism and pluralism, idealism and materialism, optimism and pessimism. This course will be given in 1907-08 by Dr. G. M. de Laguna.

Psychology, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the general course in Psychology. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

This course counts as the equivalent of two hours a week for one semester; one hour a week is given to lectures on experimental psychology and two and a half hours a week to laboratory work.

2nd Semester.

Systematic Ethics, Dr. T. de Laguna.

Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken or who are taking the general course in the History of Philosophy. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

The aim of this course is to outline a theory of ethics. The main subjects of discussion are the psychology of the moral life, the nature of the moral ideal, the general theory of the state. Reading is assigned from time to time in the literature which bears upon the special topics chosen for treatment. This course was given by Dr. Whitney in 1906-07.

Psychology (Animal Psychology), Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the general course in Psychology. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

In this semester the laboratory work is discontinued and two hours a week of lectures are given. The genesis and growth of mental life with reference to animal psychology are treated.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Empiricism and Rationalism, Dr. T. de Laguna.

Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in Philosophy. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

This course is intended to serve as an introduction to graduate work in German idealism. The first semester is devoted to English empiricism, and in this connection Locke's Essay and Hume's Treatise are dealt with in detail.

Psychology, Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in Psychology. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

This course counts as equivalent to two hours a week; during the first semester two and a half hours of laboratory work and one hour of lectures are given in place of two hours of lectures. The lectures deal chiefly with psycho-physics and psycho-physiology. In the laboratory the experimental work of the minor year is continued.

2nd Semester.

Empiricism and Rationalism (continued), Dr. Whitney.

Three hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in Philosophy. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

In this semester the development of rationalism is traced, and, in conclusion, Kant's attempt to reconcile empiricism and rationalism is discussed. This course will be given in 1907-08 by Dr. G. M. de Laguna.

Psychology (Mental Pathology), Dr. Leuba.

Two hours a week.

(Open only to those students who have taken the minor course in Psychology. May be taken as a free elective by students not electing the philosophical group.)

A study of some abnormal psychic states, certain forms of insanity, multiple personalities, hypnotism, etc., is made, for the sake of a better understanding of normal mental activity and its hygiene.

Group: Philosophy with Greek, or with English, or with Economics and Politics, or with Mathematics, or with Physics.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-Major Courses.

Types of Metaphysical Theory, Dr. Whitney.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

Each semester is devoted to the examination of some important type of metaphysical theory. After the historical development of the theory under investigation has been traced its implications and relationships are examined and criticised. The particular subjects selected vary from year to year. This course will be given in 1907-08 by Dr. G. M. de Laguna,

The Philosophy of Kant, Dr. Whitney. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Offered in 1906-07.)

This course is devoted to a study of the problems which arise in connection with the Kantian point of view. The Critique of Pure Reason forms the basis of the work. Its relation to the rest of Kant's system is discussed in order to indicate the general tendency of the system.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

In addition to the post-major courses, which may be elected by graduate students, ten hours of graduate lectures and seminary work are offered in each year. The laboratory of experimental psychology is open to graduate students for research work.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Ethical Seminary, Dr. T. de Laguna. Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The subject of the seminary is either a study of one of the chief problems of ethics or a critical examination of some important movement of ethical thought.

In 1907-08 the special subject of the seminary will be English evolutionary ethics.

Metaphysical Seminary, Dr. Whitney. Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 the subject of the seminary is an examination of the most important metaphysical theories of the present time. The chief object of this inquiry is to indicate the fundamental postulates and tacit agreements of contemporary philosophical thought.

Philosophical Journal Club, Dr. de Laguna.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The instructors and advanced students meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Psychological Seminary, Dr. Leuba. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The work is conducted mainly according to the seminary method. One or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year: the fundamental principles and most important results of modern psychology; a comparative study of Wundt, William James, James Ward, Stout, and other psychologists; volkpsychologie; language, myths, customs; attention, apperception, the will; the psychology of religion and of ethics; the psychology of the beautiful; psychiatry, insanity; and criminology; animal and child psychology, comparative psychology; the history of psychological theories, beginning with the Greek philosophers.

Psychological Journal Club, Dr. Leuba. One hour a week throughout the year.
(Given in each year.)

The graduate students meet once a week to hear reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

Laboratory Work. Dr. Leuba.

The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

Education.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. James H. Leuba,* Professor of Psychology and Education, and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, and Miss Grace Maxwell Fernald, Reader (elect) in Education and Demonstrator in Psychology. The instruction offered covers six hours of lectures a week, in addition to the time devoted to the seminary; it includes two hours a week of free elective work, and four hours a week of graduate work.

It is the purpose of the department to offer to students intending to become teachers an opportunity to obtain a technical preparation sufficient for their profession. Hitherto practical training has been thought necessary for teachers of primary schools only, but similar training is very desirable for teachers in high schools and colleges also. Indeed it is already becoming increasingly difficult for college graduates without practical and theoretical pedagogical knowledge to secure good positions. In addition to the lectures open to undergraduates, courses will be organised for graduate students only, conducted with special reference to preparation for the headship and superintendence of schools. Education cannot be studied to the best advantage unless an acquaintance with at least the rudiments of psychology is presupposed. The elementary experimental course in psychology is therefore earnestly recommended to all students of education.

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1907-08.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Free
Elective
Course.

Education, Dr. Leuba.*

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course deals with the great educators and their systems considered with reference to modern educational methods and the problems of to-day.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. Graduate students are recommended to follow the work offered in the free elective course.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

The Methods and Principles of Teaching, Dr. Leuba.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is open only to graduate students who have already taught or to those who take the practice work announced below. For this course the following may be substituted by request.

The Psychology of Mental and Bodily Growth with reference to Education, Dr. Leuba.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

A knowledge of elementary psychology is assumed in this course.

Lectures upon school-hygiene; physical training; organisation of education in the United States and in Europe; the training of teachers, etc., Dr. Leuba.

*Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)History of Art and Classical Archæology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Caroline Louise Ransom, Associate in the History of Art and Classical Archæology, and Miss Una McMahan, Demonstrator (elect) in Archæology. The instruction offered in this department covers six hours a week of lectures; it includes four hours a week of free elective work, and three hours a week of graduate work.

The four hours of undergraduate work are divided into courses of three hours a week, and one hour a week, and these change from year to year so that every student has an opportunity, during the course of four years, of taking each undergraduate course offered in the department. The courses in Greek and Roman Art, in Early Christian, Mediæval, and Renaissance Architecture and Sculpture, and the History of Painting are designed to give an outline of the art of Europe. Students wishing a more complete introduction to the history of art are advised to elect also the courses in Egyptian Art and in Greek and Roman Architecture. Additional courses in classical art and archæology are offered for students of Greek and Latin wishing to study classical antiquities, and are open to any student desiring to prepare herself for archæological work.

* In 1907-08 this course will be given by Miss Fernald.

In addition to the graduate courses announced, other courses will be provided as need for them arises, and individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Early Christian, Mediæval, and Renaissance Architecture and Sculpture, Dr. Ransom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

Free
Elective
Courses.

Greek and Roman Vases, Dr. Ransom.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

This course begins with Attic black-figured ware. A good collection of original material for illustration is in the possession of the department.

Greek and Roman Architecture, Dr. Ransom.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

The principles and history of Doric and Ionic architecture are considered, and one important building is studied in detail by each student. The houses of Priene and Pompeii are then carefully studied.

Greek Myths, Dr. Ransom.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10.)

During the first semester the representations in Greek art of certain of the gods are considered. The second semester is devoted to Heracles, Theseus, and other Greek heroes.

A Survey of the History of Painting, Dr. Ransom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

Greek and Roman Industrial Arts (exclusive of vase-painting), Dr. Ransom.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

In the first semester terra-cottas, small bronzes, gold and silver vessels, and jewelry are studied. In the second semester glass, work in wood, ivory, and other materials, and coins, and gems are treated.

Greek and Roman Art, Dr. Ransom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

In the first semester the Archaic and Transitional periods are treated and sculptures of the time of Phidias are discussed. The study of the great age of Greek sculpture continues through the second semester until the Easter vacation. The remaining weeks are devoted to Hellenistic and Roman sculpture.

Greek Vase Painting, Dr. Ransom.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Egyptian Art, Dr. Ransom.Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in 1909-10.)

The architecture, sculpture, pottery, and other material remains of ancient Egypt are considered, beginning with the prehistoric period and continuing to the time of the Roman supremacy in Egypt. Special attention is paid to the subjects bearing on the art of Greece.

GRADUATE COURSES.Graduate Courses.

Three courses are offered to graduate students in addition to the elective courses open also to undergraduate students; other courses will be added if there should be a demand for them. A reading knowledge of French and German is indispensable for graduate work in art and archæology.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Archæological Seminary, Dr. Ransom.Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archæology. Special work in sculpture, coins, or vases will be arranged according to the needs of the students.

Journal Club, Dr. Ransom.One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The graduate students and the instructor meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archæological literature.

Mathematics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, Mr. Joseph Edmund Wright, Associate Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. Isabel Maddison, Associate in Mathematics. The instruction offered in mathematics covers twenty-four hours of lectures and recitations a week, in addition to the time devoted to the seminary work in the graduate department; it includes two hours a week for one semester of a preparatory course in trigonometry, ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work, one hour a week of free elective work, five hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates who have completed the major course in mathematics, and six hours a week of graduate work.

In the major course the students are able to gain a fair knowledge of the principal subjects belonging to the department of pure mathematics. The points of contact of mathematics with other branches of mental and physical science are indicated as far as possible throughout the course, special attention being paid to the nature of mathematical reasoning, and to the true relation and mutual dependence of mathematics and physics. The course of lectures on the history of mathematics in the second year is intended to give an outline of the development of the subject from its beginning to 1700 A. D.

A course in trigonometry of two hours a week throughout the first semester of each year is offered by Mr. Wright. This course may be taken either as a free elective or may be counted, by students who have completed the mathematical group, as part of the year of mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science. A knowledge of elementary trigonometry is necessary for students entering the minor course in mathematics or the major course in physics, and those who do not elect the course must pass the examination for advanced standing before admission to these courses.

Preparatory Course.

FIRST YEAR.
(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Analytical Conics, Dr. Scott.

Three hours a week.

Theory of Equations, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week.

Major Course.

2nd Semester.

Elementary Differential and Integral Calculus, Mr. Wright.

Three hours a week.

Algebra and Advanced Trigonometry, Mr. Wright.

Two hours a week.

The two hour and three hour courses in each semester may not be elected separately

SECOND YEAR.
(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Differential and Integral Calculus, Mr. Wright.

Three hours a week.

Theory of Equations, Determinants and Differential Equations, Mr. Wright.

Two hours a week

2nd Semester.

Analytical Geometry of two and three Dimensions, History of Mathematics, Dr. Scott.

Three hours a week.

Curve Tracing, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week.

The three hour and two hour courses in each semester may not be elected separately.

Group: Mathematics with Greek, or with Latin, or with Philosophy, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Geometrical Conics, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

Free Elective Course.

This course may be taken as a free elective, and may be combined by students who have completed the mathematical group with trigonometry and post-major mathematics to make up the year of mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry, Dr. Scott.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course is offered in alternate years. Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful not only to students electing mathematics as a major, but also to those intending to teach elementary mathematics. It may be taken as a free elective and may be combined by students who have completed the mathematical group with post-major mathematics to make up the year of mathematics which may be taken as an alternative for the second year of required science.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Post-Major Courses.

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and advanced work. They deal, therefore, with the subjects of the major course, carried to higher developments and treated by higher methods. As the order of mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to devote a part of their time to these courses. Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to five hours a week. The courses given are the following, with occasional modifications:

I. (a.) Lectures introductory to Modern Analytical Geometry, in connection with Salmon's Conic Sections and Scott's Modern Analytical Geometry, Dr. Scott.

or, I. (b.) Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry, Dr. Scott.

or, I. (c.) Lectures on Special Topics in Geometry, such as Homogeneous Coordinates, Circular Coordinates, Families of Curves, Certain Transcendental Curves, Geometrical Transformations, etc., Dr. Scott.

Special permission to take this course before completing the two years of the major course may be granted to students whose work in the major course has shown that they are able to profit by the lectures.

II. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra, in connection with Salmon's Modern Higher Algebra, and Elliott's Algebra of Quantics, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (b.) Lectures preparatory to the Theory of Functions, in connection with Harkness and Morley's Introduction to the Theory of Analytic Functions and Chrystal's Algebra, Vol. II, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (c.) Lectures on Differential Equations, ordinary and partial, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (d.) A general course in Analysis, dealing with the higher development of subjects only touched upon in the major course, such as Determinants, Fourier's Series, Infinite Series, Definite Integrals, etc., Mr. Wright.

III. (a.) Lectures on Analytical Geometry of Three Dimensions, Dr Maddison.

or, III. (b.) A practical course in Differential Equations Dr. Maddison.

or, III. (c.) Lectures on the Theory of Envelopes, Dr. Maddison.

In 1906-07 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (c.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (d.) Mr. Wright. Two hours a week throughout the year.

III. (a.) Dr. Maddison. One hour a week throughout the year.

In 1907-08 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (a.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (b.) Mr. Wright. Two hours a week during the first semester.

II. (c.) Mr. Wright. Two hours a week during the second semester.

III. (a.) Dr. Maddison. One hour a week throughout the year.

In 1908-09 the following post-major courses are offered:

I. (b.) Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

II. (d.) Mr. Wright. Two hours a week throughout the year.

III. (c.) Dr. Maddison. One hour a week throughout the year.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses consist of lectures and seminary work, supplemented by private reading under the direction of the instructors, the courses being arranged each year with reference to the wishes and degree of preparation of the students concerned. Graduate Courses.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Linear Systems of Curves, Intersections of Curves, and Geometry on a Curve, Dr. Scott. Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

A general elementary knowledge of properties of curves is desirable for students taking this course.

Plane Algebraic Curves and Systems of Curves, Dr. Scott.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

This course will probably include a treatment of Rational, Elliptic, and Hyperelliptic curves. The course in Algebraic Invariants may be substituted for it if it seems desirable.

Theory of Algebraic Invariants, Dr. Scott

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

In this course binary and ternary forms are considered by means of Aronhold's symbolic notation. During the first semester the work is purely algebraic; during the second semester more attention is paid to the geometrical applications. A general knowledge of the theory of plane algebraic curves is necessary for students taking this course.

Elliptic Functions, Mr. Wright.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

A knowledge of the elementary properties of elliptic functions is presupposed. The properties of the theta functions are considered, and some time is given to the transformation theory. In the latter portion of the course the properties of modular functions are discussed.

Differential Geometry, Mr. Wright. Two hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

An account will be given of the general differential properties of curves and surfaces.
Journal Club, Dr. Scott and Mr. Wright.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The Mathematical Journal Club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

SCIENCE.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

In January, 1893, the trustees opened Dalton Hall, a large building containing ample laboratories, lecture-rooms, research-rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. A plan of the building accompanies the present program. The physical, chemical, and biological laboratories are open to students from nine to six daily.

The attention of graduates of medical colleges and of undergraduate and graduate students intending to take the degree of Doctor of Medicine is called to the facilities offered by the laboratories, and to the resolutions of the Trustees of the Johns Hopkins University in regard to the admission of students to the Medical School of that University, which opened in the autumn of 1893, and has from the first admitted women on the same terms as men.†

* Granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07.

† RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY, ON FEB. 6TH, 1893.

"A course of four years' instruction will be provided leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

To this course there will be admitted as Candidates for the degree:

1. Those who have satisfactorily completed the Chemical-Biological Course which leads to the A.B. degree in this University.

The value of a practical knowledge of biology and chemistry as preliminary or accessory to the professional study of medicine is generally recognised. Through the courtesy of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, allowance is made in its professional courses for work carried on at Bryn Mawr in the scientific laboratories. Students of Bryn Mawr College that have completed major courses in chemistry and biology are released from the primary, or first year's examination in this college, and from laboratory practice in chemistry and biology. The courses of Bryn Mawr College in physics, chemistry, and biology correspond to those of the Johns Hopkins University, and it is easy for a student to elect a course corresponding exactly to the Preliminary Medical Course of the Johns Hopkins University. Every effort is made to enable students of medicine to complete the studies necessary to their purposes in the shortest possible time.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff, Associate Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Associate in Physics, and Dr. Frances Lowater and Miss Helen Schaeffer, Demonstrators in Physics. The instruction offered in physics covers seventeen hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work, three hours a week of post-major work, open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in physics; and four hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work.

The first year of the major course deals principally with the development of physical facts and is accordingly mainly

2. Graduates of approved Colleges or Scientific Schools who can furnish evidence: (a) That they have acquaintance with Latin and a reading knowledge of French and German; (b) That they have such knowledge of Physics, Chemistry, and Biology as is imparted by the regular minor courses* given in these subjects in this University.

3. Those who give evidence by examination that they possess the general education implied by a degree in arts or in science from an approved college or scientific school and the knowledge of French, German, Latin, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology above indicated."

* By a minor course is understood one that requires one year for its completion. In the languages, the course involves five class-room exercises a week; in Physics, four class-room exercises and three hours a week in the laboratory; and in Chemistry and Biology, four class-room exercises and five hours a week in the laboratory in each subject.

experimental and descriptive in its nature. A wide range of physical phenomena and the elements of physical theories are treated. The course is planned to cover the whole subject from this point of view so as to give those who do not intend to pursue physics further, such a knowledge of its principles as will enable them to follow its recent development and applications, and also to provide those electing physics as a group with a good foundation for more advanced work. No knowledge of physics is presupposed. In the second year the course is intended to serve as an introduction to the theories to which experimental evidence has led. The treatment is accordingly more mathematical than in the first year, but the experimental side of the subject is still emphasised. A knowledge of trigonometry is required, and some familiarity with the methods of the calculus will be of assistance.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Major
Course.

Mechanics, Heat, Light, and Properties of Matter, Dr. Huff.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff, Miss Schaeffer.

Four hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Sound, Electricity, and Magnetism, Dr. Barnes.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Barnes, Miss Schaeffer.

Four hours a week.

The instruction in this course is given by means of lectures, daily oral quizzes, occasional written quizzes, regular problem papers and required private reading. Students are expected to use, in connection with the lectures, text-books on the special part of the subject under discussion; at present Carhart's University Physics is used for reference; also the text-books of Ames and Glazebrook. The lectures are illustrated throughout by means of the lantern, by demonstrations on the lecture table, and by the exhibition of apparatus, etc.

In the laboratory, the students are first instructed in the methods of accurate measurement of the simple quantities, length, time, and mass; later, they make a series of determinations, mainly quantitative, on the part of the subject under discussion in the lecture room at the time. Ames and Bliss's Manual of Experiments in Physics is found useful as a reference work for part of this course. A system of laboratory lectures has also been developed to supplement the class-room work, to point out sources of error and their treatment, to demonstrate methods of manipulation, and, in general, to give directions for working which are applicable to the class as a whole; they are given at the beginning of each week's laboratory work. The object of the work is to familiarise the students with the instruments and methods used in physical measurements, with special reference to the quantitative laws upon which the science is based. The laboratory is equipped with this object in view, and the apparatus is all of the most modern design.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Theory of Light, Problems in Mechanics, Dr. Barnes. *Five hours a week.*Laboratory Work, Dr. Barnes. Five hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Theory of Heat, Theory of Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff.

Five hours a week.

The instruction is given by lectures, supplemented by the discussion of weekly problem papers; the text-books mentioned below indicate the character of the ground covered, and form the basis of the lectures. An endeavour is made to bring the students into contact with the work of original investigators.

The general text-book used is Watson, Physics; the books used in special subjects are as follows: heat: Maxwell, Theory of Heat, Preston, Theory of Heat; dynamics: selections from Tait and Steele's Dynamics of a Particle, MacGregor's Kinematics and Dynamics; and special lectures dealing with the applications of dynamics to physical problems; electricity and magnetism: J. J. Thomson, Elements of the Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism; optics, physical and geometrical: Preston, Theory of Light, Edser, Light.

The laboratory work of the second year is designed to follow and illustrate the subject-matter of the lectures. The student is taught the use of accurate instruments and the methods of physical investigation. A special study is made of the sources and amounts of the errors involved in the different operations, and the problems assigned are adapted as far as possible to the requirements and wishes of the individual students.

Group: Physics with Philosophy, or with Mathematics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology, or with Biology.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major lectures take up the subject at the stage reached in the major course, and are intended to give the student an insight into the more advanced work. A knowledge of differential and integral calculus is required. These lectures deal not only with the theoretical development of the subject, but great stress is laid on the important experimental work which has been done in it, and methods and results are criticised and opportunities for further investigation pointed out. The object of the courses is to prepare students to undertake independent work. The laboratory work is designed with this object in view and is arranged to meet the special needs of each individual student. Graduate students may be permitted to take the lectures without the laboratory work. In addition to the laboratory work which accompanies the lectures a student may take extra laboratory work sufficient to make the courses equivalent to five hours a week.

Post-
Major
Courses.

Spectroscopy, Dr. Barnes.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject; the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser's Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required and in this work Mann's Manual of Advanced Optics will be found useful.

Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. Emphasis is laid upon giving clear ideas of physical phenomena. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

General Optics, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1908-09.)

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Properties of Matter, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the first semester.
(Given in 1909-10.)

The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matter and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson's Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1909-10.)

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson's Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. The graduate courses consist of lectures, laboratory work, and original research work under the direction of the instructors, the lecture courses varying from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through consecutive years. A good working library containing the current and bound numbers of all the important physical journals is kept in the laboratory.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Radioactivity, Dr. Huff. Three hours a week during the first semester.
(Given in 1906-07.)

The earlier lectures deal with the motion of a charged particle in the field. A discussion of the methods of measuring the velocity of a moving charged particle, and the ratio of its charge to its mass follows. After a discussion of the various radioactive processes a brief account of the theories of the structure of the atom is given.

Discharge of Electricity through Gases, Dr. Huff.
Three hours a week during the second semester.
(Given in 1906-07.)

The lectures deal primarily with the study of ions and the part they play in the mechanism of the electric discharge.

Physical Optics, Dr. Barnes. Three hours a week throughout the year.
(Given in 1907-08.)

This course gives a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Attention will be paid to the methods and results of important investigations, bringing in the essential points.

Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism, Dr. Huff.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a somewhat detailed account of the later development of the theory.

Thermo-dynamics and Radiation, Dr. Barnes.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1909-10.)

The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

Physical Seminary and Journal Club, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The advanced students and the instructors meet to hear reports and discuss recent scientific articles.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes.

The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarising the student with methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in work in the laboratory. The laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical, and electrical work, and in the basement is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc. The stock of apparatus is being added to yearly. A well-equipped shop and a skilled mechanic make it possible to construct special forms of apparatus designed for research.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Elmer P. Kohler, Professor of Chemistry, Dr. David Wilbur Horn, Associate Professor of Chemistry, Dr. George Shannon Forbes, Associate (elect) in Chemistry, and Miss Gertrude Langden Heritage, Demonstrator in Chemistry. The instruction offered in chemistry covers nineteen hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, three hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in chemistry, and six hours a week of graduate work.

The first year's work, or minor course, is a general introduction to the subject. Lectures are given in both inorganic and organic chemistry, making an elementary course that is complete in itself.

In the second year particular attention is paid to the quantitative side of chemical phenomena. The lectures are mainly on theoretical and organic chemistry.

The post-major courses are intended to prepare students for independent work, particular attention being paid to laboratory methods.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Major Course.

Introduction to General Chemistry, Dr. Kohler.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Kohler and Miss Heritage.

Five and a half hours a week.

The course does not presuppose any knowledge of chemistry. In the class-room the nature of chemical action is taught by lectures that are illustrated by a series of experiments in which the more important substances are made and transformed. Throughout the semester the lectures and the laboratory work are complementary. The laboratory work of each day is outlined in the lecture, sufficient instruction being given to enable the students to observe intelligently. After all the experiments on a given subject have been made, the results are discussed in the class-room.

2nd Semester.

Introduction to Organic Chemistry, Dr. Horn.

Two hours a week.

This course is designed to meet the needs of students who take only one year of chemistry; but the material is so selected that it serves as an introduction to the more systematic course given in the second year. An effort is made to give an accurate conception of the underlying principles of organic chemistry.

Qualitative Analysis, Dr. Horn.

Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Horn and Miss Heritage. Five and a half hours a week.

This course consists of lectures, reviews, and laboratory work in qualitative analysis, the object being to familiarise the students with the properties and distinguishing characteristics of inorganic substances, and with the help of a systematic scheme of analysis to separate and identify various substances.

These courses will be conducted by Dr. Forbes in and after 1907-08.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Lectures on Theoretical Chemistry, Dr. Horn.

Five hours a week.

In this course chemical facts are considered from the point of view of common and exact relations and from these relations the laws and theories of chemistry are developed. This course will be conducted by Dr. Forbes in and after 1907-08.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Horn.

Five and a half hours a week.

The laboratory work consists of quantitative analyses. Each exercise is important in itself and illustrates some principle or involves some manipulation of general application in analytical work. This course will be conducted by Dr. Forbes in and after 1907-08.

2nd Semester.

Organic Chemistry, Dr. Kohler.

Five hours a week.

This course presupposes a knowledge of the elements of organic chemistry as given in the first year, and is devoted to a systematic and detailed study of organic compounds.

In the lectures the typical compounds are studied in detail; the general relations existing between classes of compounds, as well as the methods of transforming one class into another, are discussed. The experimental processes and the reasoning employed in determining constitutional or structural formulas are considered, and an attempt is made to trace the influence which organic investigations have had in developing the general theories of the science, and in enlarging our conceptions of the ultimate constitution of matter.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Kohler and Miss Heritage.

Five and a half hours a week.

The laboratory work is devoted to organic preparations. A few simple substances are first studied with care. These are then transformed in a variety of ways to illustrate the relations on which the method of classifying organic compounds is based. Finally the same substances are used as material with which to build up more complex compounds in order to illustrate the synthetical methods by which the complicated organic compounds occurring in nature can be prepared in the laboratory.

Group: Chemistry with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Geology, or with Biology.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Horn.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

Post-Major Courses.

The aim of the lectures is to extend the students' knowledge of inorganic and theoretical chemistry. One hour a week is given to a discussion of the laboratory work and subjects suggested directly by it.

In the laboratory, the calibrations necessary for exact quantitative analysis are taken up first, and are then used in analyses by the most accurate methods. The analysis of air, water, and food follows, and is directed toward the detection and estimation of impurities and adulterations. The last part of the course consists of physical-chemical measurements, especially those bearing directly upon electrolytic dissociation. The laboratory course is modified when necessary to adapt it to individual students.

Organic Chemistry, selected topics, Dr. Kohler.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The aim of this course is to lay the foundation for independent work in organic chemistry. The lectures begin with a study of current problems as illustrated by some particular class of organic compounds. This is followed by a discussion of the laboratory methods available for the solution of such problems.

The laboratory work is varied to meet the wants of the individual students. In general, the student begins with the preparation of some of the more important substances that are discussed in the lectures. This is followed by organic analyses, molecular weight determinations, and the transformations necessary to establish the structural formulas of the substances prepared. In the second semester some elementary problem in organic chemistry is assigned to each student.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The advanced courses in chemistry consist of lectures upon inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, seminary work, reports upon current chemical literature, and laboratory exercises. In the laboratory work the students are required to become familiar with the literature bearing upon the subjects they are studying, and it is therefore necessary for them to have a reading knowledge of French and German.

Graduate Courses.

The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the chief subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in organic chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Kohler, or in inorganic and physical chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Forbes, but students who make organic chemistry the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as one of their minor subjects, and students who make inorganic chemistry the major subject, must take organic chemistry as one of their minor subjects.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry, Dr. Kohler.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The students who specialise in organic chemistry present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Advanced Organic Chemistry, Dr. Kohler.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

Physical Chemistry, Dr. Forbes.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The lectures give a complete survey of the subject, including relations of mass and volume, thermo-chemistry, theory of solutions, Guldberg and Waage's mass law, reaction velocities, and chemical equilibria.

The laboratory work in connection with the course includes the determination of specific gravities of solids, liquids, and gases, calorimetry, the use of the polariscope and refractrometer and the study of the conductivity of electrolytes, standardisation and calibration of instruments, determination of vapor density and molecular weights, and electro-chemical measurements.

Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry, Dr. Horn.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The lectures are on structural inorganic chemistry, including the latest theories on the structure of inorganic compounds (stereometric isomerism). This course will be given by Dr. Forbes in and after 1907-08.

Journal Club, Dr. Kohler and Dr. Horn. One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to hear reports and discuss recent scientific articles.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom,* Professor of Geology, Dr. Benjamin Le Roy Miller, Associate in Geology, and Dr. Daniel W. Ohern, Associate (elect) in Geology.

*Dr. Bascom has been granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07 and the courses usually offered by her are given by Dr. Miller.

The instruction offered in geology covers twenty hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate major and minor work, two hours a week of free elective work, two post-major courses of three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology and three graduate courses of five, three, and two hours a week respectively.

The first year of the major course in geology is arranged to give a general survey of two divisions of the science and at the same time to introduce the student to the larger field of geology. It may be taken as a free elective or as a year of required science or as the first year of the group course in geology. The purpose of the course is to make clear to the student the present constitution and form of the earth's crust, to promote keen and accurate observation of natural phenomena, and to give some insight into the nature of geological problems. The second year of the major course deals with the evolution of the earth's crust, and affords training in palæontology, stratigraphy, and structural geology.

Post-major courses in petrography and palæontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in petrographic methods for the exact determination of rock species and rock families and in the principles of invertebrate and vertebrate palæontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey. The department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. Within easy reach of the college there are excellent collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Lectures on Physiography, Dr. Bascom.

Field Work, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week.

Three hours a week.

Major
Course.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week.

The lectures first deal with the character and action of the forces which control the landscape; subsequently the features produced by these physiographic processes are treated; finally physiographic regions are discussed. The lectures are illustrated by photographs, geographical relief models, and maps. No text-book is used, but English, German, and French manuals are accessible for reference.

In the laboratory the student is first occupied with the study of crystal forms; physiographic forms are then studied by means of models, photographs, topographic maps, and natural illustrations.

For the field work, excursions are made into the immediate neighborhood on Mondays from 2 to 5 P.M. during the autumn and spring. As the course progresses, more extended excursions may be taken among the crystalline rocks of the South Mountain Range or the fossiliferous formations of the Coastal Plain. On all excursions instruction in field geology is given, areal mapping is accomplished, material for further study is collected, and reports of the areas covered are required of the students. Reading amounting to three hours will be required of students absent from a field trip. During the winter months laboratory work replaces the field excursions.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on Lithologic Geology, Vulcanism, and Seisinology, Dr Miller *

Five hours a week

Field Work, Dr. Miller.*

Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Miller.*

Two hours a week.

The lectures discuss the materials which constitute the earth's crust; the principal rock-forming minerals and others of especial economic importance are first described; later the important rock types, sedimentary, igneous, and metamorphic are described and their relations to each other shown. The course closes with a discussion of the phenomena and principles of vulcanism and seismology. The lectures are illustrated by mineral and rock specimens, photographs, and wooden models.

In the laboratory rock-forming minerals and rock types are systematically studied.

Field mapping similar to that of the first semester is continued throughout the semester.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)1st Semester.

Lectures on Historical Geology, Dr. Miller.*

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Miller.*

Three hours a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Miller.*

Two hours a week.

The lectures deal with the chronological succession and distribution of the formations of the earth's crust. The publications of the U. S. Geological Survey and the State Reports are used for reference.

In the laboratory the student becomes familiar with the typical flora and fauna of the successive geologic formations and with the development in some detail of the more important phyla. The field work involves frequent excursions to fossiliferous localities in the Cretaceous formations of New Jersey and systematic areal mapping of the unconsolidated Mesozoic and Cenozoic formations of the Coastal Plain.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on Pleistocene Geology, Cosmology, and Advanced Structural Geology, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week.

Field Work, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week.

*In and after 1907-08 the courses announced by Dr. Miller will be given by Dr. Ohern.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.Two hours a week.

The origin, nature, and work of the glacial period, the development of man, the origin and age of the earth and the causes and effects of crustal movements are discussed in the lectures.

In the laboratory the student determines the Tertiary and Pleistocene fossils; subsequently models illustrating geologic structures are studied and problems in structure sections are solved.

The field work of the first semester is continued and training in topographic mapping may also be given.

Group: Geology with Mathematics, or with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Biology.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.*(Given in each year.)1st Semester.Lectures on Elements of Geology, Dr. Ohern.Two hours a week.

These lectures are elementary and form an introduction to the general subject of Geology. The geologic agencies on and beneath the earth's surface and the general form and structure of the earth are discussed.

Free
Elective
Courses.*2nd Semester.Lectures on Meteorology, Dr. Miller.Two hours a week.

The lectures begin with a description and discussion of the elements and general movements of the atmosphere, the origin and progress of storms, and the various factors which determine climate. The practical phases of meteorological investigations are then considered, and in this connection special attention is given to the work of the U. S. Weather Bureau, involving descriptions of the instruments used, the data collected, and the use made of this information in the preparation of weather maps and the forecasting of weather conditions. The current daily weather maps are interpreted and the work is illustrated by numerous charts and meteorological instruments. In 1907-08 this course will be given by Dr. Ohern.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The following post-major courses are offered in each year:

Lectures on Petrography, Dr. Bascom.*Two hours a week throughout the year.Field Work, Dr. Bascom.Three hours a week throughout the year.Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.Two and a half hours a week throughout the year.Post-
Major
Courses.

During the first semester the lectures deal with the principles of optical crystallography, the optical means of mineral determination, and the microscopical characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the structure, composition, characters, origin, geographical distribution, and geological associations of the igneous rocks are treated. The new system of quantitative chemical classification of igneous rocks is used and quantitative calculations of the chief types of igneous rocks are made for the purpose of determining their position in the new system. Petrographical investigation in the field and laboratory is included in the course. The works of Groth, Rosenbusch, Zirkel, and Michel Lévy are used for reference. Special field problems are given to the students for independent solution.

Lectures on Palæontology, Dr. Miller.Two hours a week throughout the year.Field Work, Dr. Miller.*Three hours a week throughout the year.Laboratory Work, Dr. Miller.Two and a half hours a week throughout the year.

*In and after 1907-08 the courses announced by Dr. Miller will be given by Dr. Ohern.

After a brief preparatory review of the various groups of fossils, lectures on the principles of paleontology are given, special attention being paid to phylogeny. The work of Hyatt, Cope, Jackson, Beecher, and many others is discussed. The different groups of fossil invertebrate animals are then systematically studied throughout the remainder of the year. Zittel-Eastman's Text-book of Palæontology, Vol. I, is used. Field trips are made to fossiliferous regions.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses. The graduate course in petrology should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and is intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate course in mineralogy is intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make mineralogy a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. It is open to all graduate students who have had previous training in chemistry. The graduate course in palæontology is designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; it may also be taken by graduate students in biology who wish to make palæontology a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate courses in petrology will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Lectures on Petrology, Dr. Bascom.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Field Work, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the problems of metamorphism of both aqueous and igneous rocks. The character of metamorphic processes and the conditions which control these processes, the megascopic and microscopic structures, the criteria determining the origin of metamorphic rocks, and their classification, geographic distribution and geologic occurrence are treated. Direction is given in research-work, map making, and advanced field work. The amount of laboratory, field work, and private reading required makes the course the equivalent of five hours a week.

Lectures on Mineralogy, Dr. Bascom.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Bascom.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course opens with lectures on morphological crystallography, illustrated by models of crystal forms and accompanied by problems in crystal projections and construction and in the determination of indices by zones; there are also lectures on molecular and dynamical physical crystallography; optical crystallography and optical methods of mineral determination are treated in detail. A large portion of the second semester is devoted to descriptive mineralogy and the discussion of important mineral species. The lectures are illustrated by minerals, and the student is encouraged to make her own collection.

In the laboratory opportunity is given for the study of crystal forms, optical methods of mineral determination, and mineral species.

Williams's Crystallography and the works of Hintze, Groth, Tschermak, and Dana are used as reference books.

Lectures on Palæontology, Dr. Miller.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

Field Work, Dr. Miller.*

Three hours a week throughout the year.

*In and after 1907-08 the courses announced by Dr. Miller will be given by Dr. Ohern.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Miller.*

Three and a half hours a week throughout the year.

It is the aim of this course to give a systematic review of the fossil remains of the animal and vegetable kingdoms, and to study in detail one or more of the more important classes, or some special fauna. An endeavour is also made to emphasise the principles of palæontology and the bearing of this science on the doctrine of evolution. This three-fold purpose is accomplished largely by required reading and laboratory study of fossil specimens. So far as practicable, the more detailed work will be confined to the study of forms collected by the student, which is made possible by the easy access to several good collecting regions. Nicholson and Lydekker's Manual of Palæontology, Bernard's Éléments de Paléontologie, and Zittel-Eastman's Text-book of Palæontology furnish the basis for systematic study. Monographs and State Reports constitute a large amount of special literature. Through the coöperation of the biological department students of palæontology are enabled to make constant comparison between fossil and living forms and thus by inference to reconstruct the entire organism of type forms.

Specially assigned problems requiring careful field examination form the basis of field work.

Journal Club, Dr. Bascom and Dr. Miller.*

One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation of reports and the discussion of recent geological literature.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Associate Professor of Biology, Dr. Joseph W. Warren, Associate Professor of Physiology, Dr. Nettie Maria Stevens, Associate in Experimental Morphology, and Dr. Harriet Randolph, Demonstrator in Biology and Reader in Botany. The instruction offered in biology covers twenty hours of lectures a week; it includes ten hours a week of undergraduate minor and major work; six hours a week of post-major work open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in biology, and four hours a week of graduate lectures and seminary work. The post-major work may be further extended by special laboratory courses.

The work of the first year, or minor course, forms a general introduction to the subject through a broad, comparative study of living things (general biology). In the second year the foundation of a minuter knowledge of animal morphology and physiology is laid. The third year's work, or post-major course, is devoted to the study of more advanced subjects and the practical investigation of simple problems. A knowledge of the elements of chemistry and physics is very desirable for students entering any course in biology, and is necessary for advanced work in the subject.

* In and after 1907-08 the courses announced by Dr. Miller will be given by Dr. Ohern.

FIRST YEAR.

(Minor Course.)

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Major Course.

Lectures on General Biology, Dr. Tennent.

Four hours a week.

Lectures on Plants, Dr. Randolph.

One hour a week.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent and Dr. Randolph.

Five and a half hours a week.

2nd Semester.

Lectures on Vertebrates, Dr. Warren.

Five hours a week for the first nine weeks.

Lectures on the Embryology of the Chick, Dr. Tennent.

Five hours a week for the last four weeks.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Randolph.

Five and a half hours a week.

It is the object of this course to give the student clear conceptions of the fundamental principles of vital structure and action, the outlines of general classification, and the relations of the biological sciences to one another and to other branches of science. The laboratory practice is designed to enable the student, as far as possible, to examine for herself the facts discussed in the lectures, to encourage the habit of exact observation, and to impart a knowledge of methods of practical work.

The general subject is treated in two courses which supplement each other and must be taken together. The course in the first semester deals especially with the lower forms of life, the relations of plants and animals, and the more general principles of the science. The course in the second semester is devoted more largely to the higher forms of animal life, with special reference to physiology.

The work is designed not simply to teach the elements of zoology and botany, as commonly understood, but in addition to this to treat plants and animals with constant reference to one another, both in their structure and in their mode of action. Stress is therefore laid on the essential facts of comparative morphology and physiology (general biology) as illustrated by the thorough study of a few types, rather than on the minutiae of classification. At the same time the work is arranged with reference to subsequent special work in zoology, botany, and physiology.

In the first semester the student examines a number of animals and plants, so arranged as to form a natural and progressive introduction to the general principles of biology. After certain general preliminary studies of familiar and highly organised forms, the student makes a detailed examination of unicellular organisms, and from these proceeds gradually to the complex conditions of structure and function found in higher plants and animals. In the second semester attention is given mainly to the biology of the higher animals. The course ends with a study of the embryology of the frog and, in greater detail, that of the chick.

SECOND YEAR.

(Given in each year.)

1st Semester.

Animal Physiology, Dr. Warren.

Five hours a week.

Laboratory work, Dr. Warren and Dr. Randolph.

Five and a half hours a week.

A knowledge of scientific physiology is conveyed by a detailed account of the microscopic structure and the mode of working of the higher animal organisms. The application of this knowledge to hygiene, medicine, and psychology is indicated.

The chief organs and tissues of the vertebrate body are examined with the microscope. Considerable time is given to familiarising the student with the preparation and mounting of material for microscopical study. The fundamental facts of physiology and the methods of physiological inquiry are taught by means of demonstrations and experiments by the students. The laboratory has a good equipment of apparatus, to which additions are constantly made.

2nd Semester.

General Zoology, Dr. Tennent.

Two hours a week.

The course in general zoology extends the work of the first year so as to include a survey of the phenomena of animal life and a systematic presentation of the more important facts of general morphology.

Comparative Anatomy of Mammals, Selected topics, Dr. Warren.

Two hours a week.

Theoretical Biology, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week.

In this course the student is introduced to some of the leading questions of theoretical general biology. The first part of the course treats of the history of biological discovery with special reference to the development of the more important generalisations and theories of the science. The latter part is mainly devoted to a critical analysis of the theory of evolution and discussions of the broader philosophical problems of biology, such as heredity, variation, adaptation, and kindred topics. These lectures vary somewhat from year to year, and are intended to be suggestive rather than exhaustive in character.

Laboratory work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Randolph.

Five and a half hours a week.

In the laboratory thorough dissections are made of typical forms, illustrating the leading groups of animals. A portion of the course is devoted to a study of the sense organs.

Group: Biology with Physics, or with Chemistry, or with Geology.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Embryology, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09.)

This course consists of lectures and laboratory work on the embryology of the vertebrates. In the lectures an effort is made not only to discuss the embryology of specific forms but also to consider carefully the fundamental questions of embryological interest. The development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amia, Lepidosteus, Squalus, Ctenolabrus, Necturus, Rana, Chick, and Mammal is studied. After the study of these forms some elementary problem in embryology is assigned to each student.

Comparative Anatomy and Embryology of the Protochordates, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

This course of lectures, with assigned reading and laboratory work, is intended to supplement the major course in zoology. A study of types of the principal groups of the Protochordates forms the basis of the laboratory work.

The Structure of Protoplasm and the Cell, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10.)

The structure of protoplasm, the mechanism of cell division, fertilisation, reduction, and some of the problems of cell organisation are discussed.

Post-
Major
Courses.

Advanced Physiology, Dr. Warren.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The topics selected depend upon the previous training of the students, and as far as possible the preferences of the students are consulted. Occasional conferences are held for the discussion of essays prepared by the students and presenting the more important evidence concerning the fundamental problems of physiology. By this means it is hoped to familiarise the student with the literature and with the methods of investigation.

Lectures on the Structure and Function of the Central Nervous System.

Dr. Warren.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course may, under special circumstances, be taken at the same time as the major course. The finer structure of the nervous system of the higher vertebrates is discussed in considerable detail. The physiology of the cord and brain is presented as fully as the time will permit. This course may also be taken as a one hour elective by properly qualified students.

Lectures and Demonstrations in Physiological Chemistry, Dr. Warren.

Two hours a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The instruction in this course is given by lectures and conferences on selected topics and also by laboratory work of about three hours a week. It treats of the problems of secretion and excretion, and also of the principal questions of nutrition in considerable detail and with reference to the more modern theories relating to these processes. The lectures are intended to supplement those of the major year, and a preliminary training in chemistry at least equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is required. This course may be taken as a two hour elective by properly qualified students.

Human Osteology, Dr. Warren.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

This course is intended for students in the preliminary medical course; it may also be taken as a free elective by properly qualified students receiving special permission. Two hours laboratory work is required in connection with the course.

Problems in Experimental Morphology, Dr. Stevens.

One hour a week throughout the year.(Given in each year.)

The object of this course is to give a general view of experimental morphology, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in this subject. The most interesting problems in experimental morphology will be discussed and special attention will be given to the literature bearing on these problems. This course may be taken as a one hour course with one and a half hours laboratory work or assigned reading, but it is recommended that it be taken with four or more hours of laboratory work as a two, three, or four hour course.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Stevens.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the lectures offered above. The time to be spent in the laboratory is not rigidly fixed, but the maximum requirement is such that the lectures count as equivalent to a full five hour course. Special problems, moreover, are assigned to each student, and at the end of the year the result of the work is presented in writing.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate Courses.

The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in animal morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in animal physiology under the guidance of Dr. Warren. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

The History of Evolution, Dr. Tennent.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1906-07.)

This course of lectures deals with the growth of the idea of organic evolution, the greater part of the course being devoted to a critical examination of the work of Lamarck, Darwin, and De Vries.

Adaptation of Organisms, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

In this course the adaptation of organisms to environment, the origin of adaptations, and the theories that have been advanced to account for adaptation are considered.

Problems in Embryology, Dr. Tennent. One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Germinal organisation, cleavage, and differentiation and the problems of inheritance and development are studied.

Selected Problems of Nutrition with special reference to the Digestion and Absorption of Foods, Dr. Warren. One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1906-07.)

Selected Problems in Respiration and their bearing on the Nature of Metabolism, and The Problem of Animal Heat (Thermometry and Calorimetry), Dr. Warren.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1906-07.)

The Physiology of the Special Senses, Dr. Warren.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in 1907-08.)

The Interstitial Secretion of Glands ("Internal Secretion"), Dr. Warren.

One hour a week during the first semester.

(Given in 1908-09.)

The Problem of the Knee-jerk, and a Discussion of the Graphic Method in its application to Physiology, Dr. Warren.

One hour a week during the second semester.

(Given in 1908-09.)

Advanced Experimental Morphology, Dr. Stevens.

One hour a week throughout the year.

(Given in each year.)

The topics treated in this course vary from year to year according to the needs of the graduate students attending the lectures and the work being done by prominent investigators in the field of experimental morphology. Special use will be made of recent periodical literature. The subjects considered in 1905-06 and 1906-07 were sex determination, organisation of the cytoplasm of the egg, the mutation theory, some problems in regeneration, statistical methods for the study of biological variation, and experimental morphology from a historical standpoint. A selection from these topics will be given in 1907-08 unless some other topics seem more desirable. Problems for laboratory research are assigned to each student.

Seminary and Journal Club, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Stevens.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Laboratory Work, Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Stevens.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student desiring to devote a considerable portion of her time to such work is given an experimental problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

Athletics and Gymnastics.

The health and exercise of the students are under the care of Miss Constance M. K. Applebee, Director of Athletics and Gymnastics, Miss Emma Isabella Sisson, Assistant Director of Athletics and Gymnastics, Dr. Thomas F. Branson, Attending Physician of the College, and Dr. Ella B. Everitt, Visiting Physician of the College, who spends two hours at the college twice every week, and may then be consulted by all the students free of charge.

The gymnasium (see page 159) is open for the use of students from 7 A.M. to 10 P.M. daily. Four periods of exercise a week are required of all resident and non-resident undergraduate students and hearers from November first till May first, but only two of these periods must be spent in gymnastic classes. Non-resident undergraduate students must register the exercise they take, but are not obliged to take this exercise in the gymnasium. Before admission to the gymnasium or the swimming tank or any form of athletics, each student must be examined each year by the Visiting Physician of the College and twice each year by the director with reference to physical development, strength of heart and lungs, and general health. Students may take part during the year in the following forms of exercise which are organised by the Athletic Association under the supervision of the Director: in the autumn, tennis, hockey, and riding; in the winter, water polo, lacrosse, indoor base ball, skating, swimming meet, fencing, and indoor track athletics; in the spring, basket ball, cricket, and tennis. No undergraduate student will be excused from the required exercise except by order of the Visiting Physician of the College. Special exercises are prescribed for students needing individual corrective work, and these are taken in addition to the regular class work. Every student, while exercising in the gymnasium, must wear a gymnasium suit of the pattern prescribed by the director.

Opportunities for Public Worship.

In the vicinity of the college there are churches of almost all the various religious denominations. Coaches are provided by the college on Sundays to enable students to attend the more distant places of worship.

Religious meetings are held every Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the College and of the Students' Christian Union, and prominent clergymen of different denominations are invited to address the students. There is daily morning chapel. Attendance on all the religious exercises of the college is voluntary.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis-courts, and two large athletic fields, one of which is converted in winter into a skating-pond.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, eleven lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

A library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, begun in April, 1903, was completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630, and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three-story stack with accommodation for 88,000 volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet, as in the British Museum reading-room, to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side is the newspaper and magazine room, and reached through this a study room. On the north side is the Art Seminary, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains offices for the librarians and cataloguers, a study room for the non-resident students, and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and twenty-five professors' offices. There is accommodation in each seminary room for ten or twelve graduate students, and graduate lectures are held in the seminary rooms, where the books needed principally for graduate and research work are kept. The total book capacity of the library, including the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fireproof. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Italian and Spanish, and Philosophy in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics, Psychology, and Semitic Languages in the south wing. Professors' offices for the senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also two seminary lecture-rooms accommodating about fifteen students, one general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, four interview rooms, and a library for the use of the Christian Union of the Students.

On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. The basement of the north wing contains rooms for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, the Alumnae Association, the Students' Association for Self-Government, and fireproof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the center of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnae and students.

Around Taylor Hall the trustees have erected halls of residence for the accommodation of students. Plans and descriptions of the six halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West, and Rockefeller Hall, the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, and plans of the academic buildings, Taylor Hall, the Library, and Dalton Hall, are enclosed in the present program.

Bicycle-rooms are provided in Merion Hall, music-rooms with sound-proof walls and ceilings in Pembroke Hall East, and rooms where the students can have hairdressing and dressmaking done, and a luncheon-room for non-resident students in Rockefeller Hall.

The gymnasium, which is open to the students at all times, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director, with an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students. In the basement are bath-rooms for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, seventy-four feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnae, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with spring boards, life preservers, and other apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium was built in accordance with the plans of Dr. Sargent, is furnished with his complete apparatus, and is under the charge of a director and two assistants.

There is on the grounds, separated from the other buildings, a cottage infirmary, or hospital, with accommodation for patients and nurses, and its own kitchen and bath-rooms.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1903 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basements of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the piping system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils as well as in the individual rooms. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees during all the twenty-four hours of the day, in all the bath-rooms and stationary wash-stands and tea pantries.

The Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Company, a branch of the long-distance Bell Telephone Company, maintains telephone pay stations in each of the halls of residence, in the library and in the gymnasium, by means of which the students may be communicated with at any time. Near the college are a Postal Telegraph-Cable Company office (service 6 A.M. to 12 P.M.), an Adams Express office, a United States money-order office, and two banks. There are good roads in every direction. Horses for riding and driving may be kept at livery near the college, at a cost of twenty-five dollars a month.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE.

GRADUATE COURSES OF INSTRUCTION.

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE, situated at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, five miles from Philadelphia, was endowed by Dr. Joseph W. Taylor, of Burlington, New Jersey, who purposed founding an institution of learning for the advanced education of women which should afford them "all the advantages of a college education that are so freely offered to young men." In the spring of 1885 the first program was issued, and the college opened for instruction in the following autumn.

Three classes of persons are admitted to the lectures and class work of the college—graduate students, undergraduate students, and hearers. For the convenience of graduate students the regulations of the graduate department and the graduate courses of instruction are published separately. No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Regulations of the Graduate Department.

From the first it has been the policy of the Trustees of Bryn Mawr College to organise no department in which they could not provide for graduate as well as undergraduate study. Only such instructors have been chosen as are qualified to direct both graduate and undergraduate work. In each department a consecutive series of graduate courses pursued throughout three years provides preparation in the chief or major subject of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and certain courses may be pursued for one or two years and offered as one of the two minor or secondary subjects.

Admission.

Graduate students must have presented a diploma from some college of acknowledged standing.* They may pursue any courses offered by the college for which their previous training has fitted them; but they must satisfy the several instructors of their ability to profit by the courses they desire to follow, and may be required to pursue certain introductory or auxiliary studies before they are admitted to the advanced or purely graduate courses. They are, moreover, entitled to personal guidance and direction, supervision of their general reading and furtherance of their investigations, from the instructors, and their needs will be considered in the arrangement of new courses of lectures; they must consult the President in regard to the courses they are to pursue, and must be duly registered for those courses at the President's office.

* The certificates of the women's colleges of the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge, are regarded as equivalent to a first degree,—i. e. to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

A reading knowledge of French and German is regarded as of the utmost importance to all graduate students, and is required of all candidates for a second degree. The undergraduate department will afford the student every opportunity for making good any deficiencies in this respect.

Fellowships and Scholarships.

The most distinguished place among the graduate students is held by the Fellows, who must reside in the college during the academic year. Eleven resident fellowships, of the value of five hundred and twenty-five dollars each, are awarded annually—one in Greek, one in Latin, one in English, one in German and Teutonic philology, one in Romance languages, one in history or economics and politics, one in philosophy, one in mathematics, one in physics, one in chemistry, and one in biology. These fellowships are awarded in recognition of previous attainments as an honour. They are open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, or of any other college of good standing, and will be awarded only to candidates who have completed at least one year of graduate study. Generally speaking, they will be awarded to the candidates that have studied longest, or whose work gives most promise of future success. Applications should be made as early as possible to the President of the College, and must be made not later than the fifteenth of April preceding the year for which the fellowship is desired. Blank forms for application will be forwarded to applicants by the President. A definite answer will be given within two weeks of the last date fixed for application. The holder of a fellowship is expected to show, by the presentation of a thesis, or in some other manner, that her studies have not been without result. Fellows are expected to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, to assist in the conduct of examinations, and to give about an hour a week to the care of the special libraries in the halls of residence and in the seminaries, but no such service may be required of them except by a written request from the President's office; they are not permitted, while holding the fellowship, to teach or to undertake any other duties in addition to their college work. All Fellows may study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, the fellowship being counted, for this purpose, as equivalent to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Fellows that continue their studies at the college after the expiration of the fellowship, may, by vote of the Trustees, receive the rank of Fellows by Courtesy.

Eighteen graduate scholarships, of the value of two hundred dollars each, may, on the recommendation of the head of the department in question, be awarded to the candidates next in merit to the successful candidates for the fellowships; they are open also to all graduates of Bryn Mawr College or of other colleges of good standing. Scholars are expected to reside in the college, to attend all college functions, to wear academic dress, and to assist in the conduct of examinations.

Two European fellowships, founded by Miss Garrett, of Baltimore, are open to graduate students who are enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. One, founded in 1896, and named by the donor the President M. Carey Thomas Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of graduate work at Bryn Mawr College; the other, founded in 1894, and known as the Mary E. Garrett Fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. These fellowships, of the value of five hundred dollars each, are intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Research Fellowships.

A Research Fellowship in German and Teutonic Philology has been founded by a donor whose name will be announced later, and will be awarded for the first time in 1907. It is open to graduate students who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy or who have completed equivalent work. The Fellowship is of the value of seven hundred dollars, and is intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or Continental. The result of the year's study is to be embodied in a thesis.

A Research Fellowship in Chemistry has been founded and will be awarded for the first time in 1907. It is open to graduate students who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy or who have completed equivalent work. The Fellowship is of the value of five hundred dollars, and the holder is required to reside at Bryn Mawr College for one year and to assist the head of the department of chemistry in research work.

Studies Leading to a Second Degree.

Graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and graduates of other colleges, who shall have satisfied the Academic Council that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given at Bryn Mawr College, or who shall have attended such additional courses of lectures as may be prescribed, may apply to the Academic Council to be enrolled as candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts; admission to the graduate school does not, in itself, qualify a student to become a candidate for this degree. A separate degree of Master of Arts is open to graduates of Bryn Mawr College, but to them only.

The Degree of Master of Arts.

The candidate for the degree of Master of Arts must be a Bachelor of Arts of Bryn Mawr College and must have studied for one full year in the graduate school of Bryn Mawr College, devoting herself to systematic advanced work approved by the Graduate Committee of the Academic Council. The candidate must submit her proposed course of study for the approval of this committee on or before the second Wednesday in November. She must pass a special written examination on each subject to the satisfaction of the department, or an oral examination in the presence of the members of the Faculty, as may be preferred by the heads of the departments in which she has studied.

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts.

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts may be conferred upon graduates of Bryn Mawr College, and upon graduates of other colleges who shall have satisfied the Academic Council either that the course of study for which they received a degree is equivalent to that for which the degree of Bachelor of Arts is given by Bryn Mawr College, or that it has been adequately supplemented by subsequent study.

Expenses.

The charge for tuition for graduate students attending six or more hours a week of lectures and for fellows and graduate scholars is one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, payable half-yearly in advance. Those graduate students who do not take the full amount of work are charged for one hour a week of lectures, ten dollars a semester; for two hours a week of lectures, twenty dollars a semester; for three hours a week of lectures, thirty dollars a semester; and for four or five hours a week of lectures, forty dollars a semester, payable in advance.* This arrangement is made especially for non-resident students, but those who wish to take only five hours a week of lectures or less may live in the college halls on the understanding that they must give up their rooms if needed for students who are taking the full amount of graduate work and paying the regular tuition fee. The tuition fee for the semester becomes due as soon as the student is registered in the college office.

Graduate students taking courses in scientific departments (Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology, and Psychology) amounting to six or more hours a week of lecture courses, or its equivalent in laboratory courses, are charged a laboratory fee of eighteen dollars a semester, with the following exceptions: if the student takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above amounting to six hours a week, the laboratory fee is reduced to twelve dollars a semester; and if she takes, as a regular student, courses in subjects not enumerated above, amounting to ten hours a week, the laboratory fee is reduced to six dollars a semester.

Graduate students taking less than six hours a week of lectures, or its equivalent in laboratory work, are charged ten dollars a semester for every laboratory course of four or more hours a week, and five dollars a semester for every laboratory course of less than four hours a week.

In courses in Geology each hour of field work counts as one hour of laboratory work.

* Graduate students are admitted to residence or attendance on the lectures at any time during the year, and in this case a proportionate reduction is made in the charges for board, room-rent and tuition.

The fees charged are reckoned on the basis of the actual hours of conference or lecture, irrespective of the number of undergraduate hours to which the course is regarded as equivalent.

In counting the number of hours for which a graduate student is registered the following special arrangements are made in regard to laboratory courses: payment for a one hour lecture course in a scientific department entitles the student to four hours of laboratory work in addition, with no extra charge except the laboratory fee; a two and a half hour undergraduate laboratory course or a five hour graduate laboratory course is considered in respect to charges for tuition as a one hour lecture course. The laboratory fees, as stated on page 44, are charged in addition.

Residence.

Residence in the college buildings is optional except for holders of resident fellowships and scholarships. The expense of board and residence in the graduate wings of the college halls is two hundred and seventy-five dollars. Of this amount two hundred dollars is the charge for board, and is payable half-yearly in advance; the remainder is room-rent, and is payable yearly in advance. Every student has a separate bedroom. Room-rent includes all expenses of furnishing, service, heating, and light.

The health of the students is under the charge of Dr. George S. Gerhard, of Overbrook, Consulting Physician of the College, Dr. Thomas F. Branson, of Rosemont, Attending Physician of the College, and Dr. Ella B. Everitt, a physician practising in Philadelphia, who spends two afternoons a week from four to six, at her office in the College, and may be consulted by the students free of charge. She may also be consulted at other times by appointment.

The conduct of the students in all matters not purely academic, or affecting the management of the halls of residence, or the student body as a whole, is in the hands of the Students' Association for Self-Government. All resident students of Bryn Mawr College, whether graduates or undergraduates, are members of this association.

In 1893 the Bryn Mawr Graduate Club was organised by the graduate students then in residence, its object being to further the social life of the graduate students and to facilitate interchange of opinion with other colleges and universities doing graduate work. A room in Denbigh Hall is set apart by the college to be used by the members as a club-room. Informal meetings are frequently held in these rooms, and several times during the year the club invites the Faculty and friends of the college to larger social gatherings, which are addressed by well-known speakers. The club belongs to the Federation of Graduate Clubs and sends its representatives to the meetings of the Federation.

Plans of the graduate wings of Denbigh Hall, Radnor Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West, and Rockefeller Hall with a full account of the halls and tariff of rooms, may be obtained by application to the Secretary of the College. Each of these halls (except Pembroke, which has a common dining-hall and kitchen for the two wings) has its separate kitchen and dining-hall, and provides accommodation for from fifty to eighty students; a special wing or corridor is reserved for graduate students, and in order to secure entire quiet no undergraduate students are permitted to engage rooms in the graduate wings.

Application for rooms should be made as early as possible. The demand for graduate rooms is very great, and since every room unnecessarily reserved may prevent some other student from entering the college, a deposit of fifteen dollars is required in order that the application may be registered. In case the applicant enters the college in the year for which the room is reserved, the amount of the deposit is deducted from the first college bill. If she changes the date of her application or files formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before July first of the year for which the application is made, the deposit will be refunded. If, for any reason whatever, the change or withdrawal be made later than July first, the amount will be forfeited. Students making application for a room in February forfeit the deposit if they do not file formal notice of withdrawal at the secretary's office before December first of the academic year for which the room is reserved. In order to make application for a room it is necessary to sign a room-contract, which will be sent on application, and return it with the fee of fifteen dollars to the Secretary of the College. A deposit of fifteen dollars must also be made by each student in residence in order to insure the tenure of her room for the following academic year. This sum will be forfeited if formal notice of withdrawal is not filed at the secretary's office on or before May first of the current year.

All students reserving rooms who do not inform the Secretary of their change of intention before September first of the academic year for which the room is reserved, are responsible for the rent of the room for the entire academic year. All students applying for rooms in February will be responsible for the rent of the room for the semester if they do not inform the Secretary of their change of intention before January first.

Students are expected to provide their own rugs and towels, but in every other respect the rooms are completely furnished. Electric reading lamps, table napkins, sheets, etc., are provided by the college. No part whatever need be taken by the students in the care of their own rooms.

There are open fire-places in nearly all the studies and in many single rooms, but the rooms are sufficiently heated by steam. The air in each room is changed every ten minutes, and the temperature is regulated by a thermostat in each room. The students' personal washing may be done by any laundry recommended by the college for 50 cents a dozen, or about $8 a half-year for one dozen pieces a week.

No charge is made for sending meals to students that are in the infirmary by the order of a physician.

Accommodation is provided for students that wish to remain at the college during the Christmas and Easter vacations at a rate proportional to that paid by them for board and residence during the college year.

The charge for tuition is $125 a year, payable half-yearly in advance.

The charge for residence in the graduate wings of the college halls, exclusive of board, is $75 a year, payable in advance.

The charge for board is $200 a year, payable half-yearly in advance. The charges for room-rent for the year, and for tuition and board for the first semester must be paid at the Bursar's office before November 1st; the charges for tuition and board for the second semester must be paid before March 1st. The charges for tuition and room-rent are not subject to return or deduction under any circumstances; in case of prolonged illness and absence from the college extending over six weeks or more a proportional reduction in the charge for board will be made. Students whose fees are not paid by the dates above specified will not be allowed to continue in residence or in attendance on their lectures.

THE STUDENTS' LOAN FUND OF BRYN MAWR COLLEGE was founded by the Class of 1890 for the purpose of receiving contributions, however small, from those who are interested in aiding students to obtain an education. The money thus contributed is distributed in the form of partial aid, and as a loan. It is as a rule applied to the assistance of those students only who have attended courses in the college for at least one year. The Fund is managed by a committee consisting of the President of the College and representatives of the Alumnae Association of Bryn Mawr College. The committee reports yearly to the Board of Trustees and to the Alumnae Association. The committee consists of the following members: President M. Carey Thomas; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Secretary and Treasurer, Bryn Mawr College; Miss Helen S. Hoyt, Low Buildings, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. Samuel Emlen, Jr., East Johnson Street, Germantown, Philadelphia, Mrs. Herbert Seymour Darlington, Villa Nova, Pa., and Mrs. Warren Parsons Thorpe, 1523 Locust Street, Philadelphia. Contributions may be sent to any member of the committee. Applications for loans should be sent to the Treasurer of the committee, and all applications for loans for any given year should be made before May 1st of the preceding academic year.

Libraries.

The fact that the college is situated in the suburbs of Philadelphia enables the student to make use of all the resources of the libraries of Philadelphia, as well as of those of the college proper.

The college library has been collected within the past twenty-two years, and is designed to be, as far as possible, a library for special study. There are at present on its shelves about fifty-two thousand bound volumes, and eight thousand doctors' dissertations and pamphlets, the collection including the classical library of the late Professor Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was presented to the college in 1894, and the Semitic library of the late Professor Amiaud, of Paris, acquired in 1892. A more detailed description of these two collections may be found on pages 52 and 74.

The sum of four thousand dollars is expended yearly for books under the direction of the heads of the several collegiate departments, and, in addition to many gifts of books, over seventeen thousand dollars has been presented to the library during the past nine years for expenditure in special departments. Three hundred and sixty-four serial publications and reviews in the English, German, Greek, French, Italian, Spanish, Norse, and Swedish languages, are taken by the library, as follows:

The library is open daily from eight A.M. to ten P.M. Books may be taken out by the students unless specially reserved for library reference use.

There are in Philadelphia the following important libraries which are available for students:

The Philadelphia Library, which contains about 220,145 volumes and 39,500 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation. Private subscription, for four volumes, $12 a year, or $10 for nine months.

The Mercantile Library, which contains about 190,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets. Private subscription, $2.00 a year for two separate works at a time.

The Library of the Academy of Natural Sciences, which contains about 57,950 volumes. The Council of the Academy has generously conceded the use of its library and of its museum to the students of Bryn Mawr College.

The Library of the University of Pennsylvania, which contains about 265,000 volumes and 50,000 pamphlets. The custodians of this library have always shown great courtesy in placing rare volumes at the disposal of the college.

The Free Library of Philadelphia, which contains about 277,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets, and is at all times open to the students for consultation.

Sanskrit and Comparative Philology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. Collitz offers in 1906-07 the following graduate courses:*

Lectures on Comparative Philology. and Philological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Students entering this course are expected to be familiar with German and French. A short preliminary course in Sanskrit is also of great aid to the student. The lectures on comparative philology treat of the connection of the Greek and Latin languages with the related languages of the Aryan group, first, phonetically, secondly, from the point of view of grammatical forms, and lastly, from the point of view of syntax. In the first part of the course, which covers what during the last few years has been the field of the most active research, the student is introduced to the latest theories and discoveries in Aryan phonetics, and is expected to read and criticise the articles appearing from time to time in the philological journals, and to prepare reports on these articles. The same method is pursued during the investigation of the history of forms; and in the third part of the course the student begins the study of comparative syntax by a close comparison of the use of cases and verbal forms in Sanskrit, Greek, and Latin.

* These courses will be offered in 1907-08 by a professor whose name will be announced later.

Elementary Sanskrit.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Whitney's Grammar and Lanman's Reader are used.

The courses in Comparative Philology and in Elementary Sanskrit will not, as a rule be given in the same year.

Advanced Sanskrit.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course selections from the Rig-Veda are read.

Iranian.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended mainly as an introduction to the study of the Avesta. In order to study Iranian, students must be familiar with Sanskrit.

Greek.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Nevill Sanders, Professor of Greek; Dr. Wilmer Cave Wright, Lecturer and Associate Professor (elect) in Greek; Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages, Dr. Caroline Louise Ransom, Associate in the History of Art and Classical Archæology, and Miss Abby Kirk, Reader in Greek.

Exceptional facilities for the study of all departments of classical philology are offered by the large classical library owned by the College. The greater part of this library is formed by the well-known collection of the late Professor Hermann Sauppe, of Göttingen, which was acquired in 1894. This has been supplemented by purchases made by the college library, so that the classical library now numbers some seven thousand volumes, including complete sets of most of the important journals, and about seven thousand dissertations and monographs.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses in Greek are varied from year to year in two series, Attic Tragedy, Orators, and Historians, and the Homeric Question, Plato and Aristophanes, in order that they may be pursued by a student for consecutive years. In and after 1907-08 students electing the Greek seminary are required to take also the two hour course given in the same year. Three five hour courses are required of students who offer Greek as a major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; two five hour courses are required when Greek is the only minor subject offered, and one five hour course when two minors are offered. The post-major courses also are open to graduate students. A large part of the work expected of graduate students consists of courses of reading pursued under the direction of the department; and reports of this reading are from time to time required of the students. The course in comparative philology conducted by Dr. Collitz is recommended to graduate students of Greek. For graduate courses in History of Art and Classical Archaeology, which may be offered as a minor by students taking Greek as a subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, see pages 87 to 88.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Sanders conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Greek Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 Greek orators are studied in the seminary. The work consists of the reading of large portions of all the orators and the critical interpretation of a selected part of each. Lectures are given on legal antiquities, the syntax, and the style of the various authors, in conjunction with which Dionysius of Halicarnassus and the Greek Rhetoricians are studied. The later rhetoricians are treated and their criticism of antiquity investigated. Students are expected to provide themselves with the Teubner text editions of Antiphon, Andocides, Lysias, Isocrates, Isæus, Æschines, Hyperides and Demosthenes. The classical library is well equipped with works on the orators. In 1906-07 the Greek Seminary met for four hours a week.

In 1907-08 the main subject of the seminary will be the Greek Historians. Thucydides is studied in detail and reports are made on data of history contained in Greek literature in general. Lectures are given by the instructor on subjects connected with Greek historiography, such as the composition of Thucydides's history, the syntax and style of Thucydides, the history of early prose, Greek historical inscriptions.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be Attic Tragedy. One hour a week is devoted to the reading of general and critical papers on selected passages of Æschylus by members of the seminary. One hour is devoted to the interpretation of Aristotle's Poetics and the application of his theories to the drama. A third hour is occupied in reading and criticising papers and recording and analysing current classical literature, especially that bearing on ancient tragedy. Reports on journals are also made at these meetings.

Dr. Wright offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Plato.

Two hours a week throughout the year

The work is mainly literary and critical. Lectures on the style, philosophy, and chronology of the dialogues are given by the instructor; a detailed interpretation of a portion of Plato, and reports on topics set for discussion are given by the class. The students are expected to read the Theætetus, Parmenides, and Sophist and discuss certain problems arising from these dialogues. The aim of the course is to lay a foundation for independent work by familiarising the students with the achievements of German scholarship and the general field of Platonic literature up to the present day. Analyses of German and Latin dissertations are expected from the class. Lutoslawski's Origin and Growth of Plato's Logic is studied and criticised in detail.

Dr. Wright offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Aristophanes.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The aim of the course is to make the students familiar with the more important Aristophanic literature up to the present day. Portions of the text are interpreted by the class and reports on assigned topics, literary, historical, and archaeological, connected with the plays are expected from all the members. All the comedies of Aristophanes are read in the course of the year; lectures are given by the instructor on the metres and syntax of Aristophanes, on the dramatic structure of the plays and on the history of Attic comedy. Part of the work consists of analyses of Latin and German dissertations on Aristophanes which are presented by members of the class.

Dr. Wright offers in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

The Homeric Question.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course will consist of a review of the discussions of the Homeric poems since the publication of Wolf's Prolegomena. The various tests that have been applied to the poems by archaeologists, linguists, historians of myths, and æsthetic critics will be taken up and criticised in detail. A reading knowledge of German is essential.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1906-07 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Æschylus, Oresteia.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

Aristophanes, Acharnians, Knights.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Pindar.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

Sophocles, Electra.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1907-08 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Private Orations of the Attic Orators.

Two hours a week during the first semester

Sophocles, Antigone.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Æschylus, Agamemnon.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

Aristotle, Poetics, and Nicomachæan Ethics or Rhetoric.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Sanders offers in 1908-09 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lucian.

Two hours a week during the first semester,

Sophocles, Ajax.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Greek Prose Composition, Rhetoric, and the Theory of Imitative Writing.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Greek Melic Poets.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Euripides, Heracles.

One hour a week during the second semester.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Free elective courses, amounting to four hours a week, are offered in Classical Art and Archaeology; see page 88.

A free elective course of two hours a week is offered in New Testament Greek; see page 78.

Latin.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Arthur Leslie Wheeler, Professor of Latin, and Dr. Tenney Frank, Associate in Latin.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate work in Latin is conducted according to the seminary method, its object being not only to broaden the student's knowledge, but also to teach methods of work and the handling of materials. The courses cover five hours a week. Three hours each year are devoted to the study of one department of Latin literature or one Latin author. The subject selected varies from year to year (Latin Lyric Poetry, Comedy, Elegy, etc.), so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for several successive years. It is desirable that all students who intend to do advanced work in Latin should have some knowledge of Greek.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Wheeler conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Latin Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 the subject of the seminary is Latin Comedy. All the plays of Plautus and Terence are read by the students: single plays form the basis of special work on the language, text, metres, etc.

Students should provide themselves with the text edition of Plautus, edited by W. M. Lindsay, Oxford, 1903-04, and with Dziatzko's text of Terence, Leipsic, Tauchnitz, 1884. The plays of Plautus, annotated by Brix (Leipsic, Teubner, 1888-1901), and by Lorenz (Berlin, Weidmann, 1876-86), and the plays of Terence, annotated by Dziatzko (revised by Hauler), 1898 and 1903 (Teubner), and by Spengel, 1879 and 1905 (Weidmann), are also recommended.

In 1907-08 Roman Elegy as represented by Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid will be the subject of the seminary. In addition to a careful study of selected poems an effort will be made to trace the history of elegy among the Romans. The various topics connected with the subject will be treated in detail as far as time permits, and the students will be encouraged to familiarise themselves with the best literature in editions, periodicals, and dissertations. The text recommended is the Oxford Clarendon Press edition of Catullus, Tibullus, and Propertius edited by Ellis, Postgate, and Phillimore, 1906 (one volume).

In 1908-09 Lyric Poetry of the Republic will be the subject of the seminary. The poems of Catullus are studied in detail. Each student is expected to present a paper at least once during the year on some subject connected with the seminary.

Students should provide themselves with Catulli Carmina, edited by Robinson Ellis, Oxford, 1904, and with the annotated edition of Catullus by E. T. Merrill, Boston, 1893.

Dr. Frank offers in 1906-07 the following graduate course

Roman History from the sources.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this study is to examine in detail the course of events during the last years of the Roman Republic, and to familiarise the student with the sources of historical knowledge for that period. The course will consist largely of research work on the part of the student.

Dr. Frank offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Latin Epigraphy and Palæography. Two hours a week throughout the year.

About two-thirds of the course will be devoted to the study of the Corpus Inscriptionum. The questions assigned for investigation deal mainly with Roman political institutions, public and private life, and with historical grammar. Dessau's Inscriptiones Latinae Selectae will be used in the class room. The paleographical facsimiles of Chatelain, Zangemeister and Wattenbach, and Arndt will form the basis for work in the latter part of the course.

Dr. Frank offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Latin Syntax. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Wheeler and Dr. Frank together conduct the Journal Club.

Latin Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1906-07, and again in 1908-09, the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Roman Elegy: its Origin and Development.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

An effort is made to trace historically the development of this branch of poetry among the Romans. Selections from Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Ovid are read. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Special attention is devoted to the structure and reading of the elegiac distich and to the characteristics of Roman poetic diction. Each student is required to prepare a paper on an assigned topic in each semester.

In 1908-09 the course will be given two hours a week.

Dr. Wheeler offers in 1907-08, and again in 1909-10, the following post-major course open to graduate students:

Latin Satire, its Origin and Development.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The subject is treated historically in order to give an outline of the origin and development of Satire. The class reads selections from Horace, Persius, Seneca, Petronius, and Juvenal, together with some of the fragments of Ennius, Lucilius, and Varro. The readings are supplemented by occasional lectures. Each student is required to prepare one paper on an assigned topic in each semester.

Dr. Frank offers in 1906-07, and again in 1908-09, the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Roman Epic, Ennius, Vergil, Lucan.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

This course consists chiefly of studies in the history of the Roman Epic, and in a rapid reading of the last six books of the Æneid.

Pliny, Letters; Martial

Two hours a week during the first semester.

Special attention is paid to a study of the political and social conditions of the period included in the course.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition. One hour a week throughout the year.

Seneca's works. Three hours a week during the second semester

The first half of the semester will be devoted to a study of the Tragedies of Seneca. During the remainder of the course a study will be made of representative selections from his prose writings, special attention being given to his philosophical and religious views, and to the literary characteristics of the school of writing which he represents.

Vergil, Bucolics and Georgics. Two hours a week during the second semester.

Dr. Frank offers in 1907-08, and again in 1909-10, the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lucretius. Three hours a week during the first semester.

The first three books of the De Rerum Natura and selections from the fourth, fifth, and sixth books are read. The philosophical bearings of the poem are discussed in lectures by the instructor and papers by the students.

Lectures on Roman History. Two hours a week during the first semester.

Collateral reading will be assigned from the Latin sources and independent reports on special topics required.

Advanced Latin Prose Composition. One hour a week throughout the year.

Cicero and Cæsar. Three hours a week during the second semester.

An effort will be made by means of lectures and discussions and extensive reading to gain an intimate acquaintance with the literary work and the political careers of Cicero and Cæsar.

Catullus, and Horace, Epistles. Two hours a week during the second semester.

In connection with the reading of Horace's Ars Poetica special stress will be laid upon his theories of literary criticism.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. M. Carey Thomas, Professor of English, Miss Lucy Martin Donnelly, Lecturer in English, Dr. Clarence Carroll Clark,* Associate in English, Dr. Carleton Fairchild Brown, Associate in

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07. The courses announced by Dr. Clark are given by Dr. Long in 1906-07.

English Philology, Dr. Percy Waldron Long, Lecturer in English Literature, Mr. Samuel Arthur King, Non-resident Lecturer in Elocution, Miss Helen Strong Hoyt, Miss Katharine Fullerton, Dr. Regina Katharine Crandall, Miss Katharine Lord, Dr. Orie Latham Hatcher, and Miss Georgiana Goddard King, Readers in English, and Miss Bertha Marion Pillsbury, Reader (elect) in English.

GRADUATE COURSES.

There are offered each year distinct graduate courses in English literature and in English language, and these courses are varied so as to enable candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy to pursue graduate work for three or more successive years. The graduate courses in literature presuppose at least as much knowledge as is obtained in the two years' course of undergraduate lectures on English literature and in one of the literature years of the English major; and the graduate courses in Anglo-Saxon presuppose as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year in the English major.

Students who choose English as their chief subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must have, if they specialise in literature, at least as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon, and if they specialise in language, at least as much knowledge of literature, as is obtained in the courses required of those students who make English one of the chief subjects of undergraduate study, and must have taken at least the equivalent of the essay work in the required English course.

The graduate instruction in English literature includes the direction of private reading and the assignment of topics for investigation.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Clark conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in English Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 seventeenth century prose writers are studied. The authors usually chosen for discussion are Bacon, Milton, and Hooker.

In 1907-08 the literary movement of the eighteenth century will be studied in connection with Johnson.

In 1908-09 romantic criticism will be the subject of the seminary. The overthrow of eighteenth century standards, and the rise of a new school of criticism is studied in the works of Coleridge, Hazlitt, and Lamb. Though the class meets only three times a week, the time required for reading in connection with the lectures makes the work equivalent to that of a five hour course.

Dr. Brown conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in Middle English.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 the beginnings of English Drama are the subject of the seminary. The English mystery plays are studied in the four cycles and in the extant separate plays with the Towneley group as the basis of comparison. The development of the dramatic elements of the liturgy is followed through the liturgical drama and thence through the mystery plays. The moralities and the secular drama are studied historically up to the time of Heywood. In addition to the reading and discussion of selected plays, lectures are given by the instructor with the object of setting various elements of dramatic development in proper proportion. Critical reports on assigned topics are required from the students.

In 1907-08 Middle English Romances will be studied. After an introductory study of the development of Romance literature in France, the romances of Germanic origin, the Arthurian and the Classical cycles, as represented in Middle English are taken up in the order named. By means of lectures and reports the different groups are studied in relation to their general European development. Careful investigations of various elements in individual romances will be undertaken from time to time by the students.

In 1908-09 the subjects of the seminary are Middle English Grammar and Literature. Students taking the course are expected to have as much knowledge of Anglo-Saxon as is obtained in the language year of the English group. Representative examples of ecclesiastical, courtly, and popular mediæval literature are read with the class. Attention is paid to historical development and dialects. Special topics in the recent criticism of Middle English literature are assigned to the students for report.

Dr. Brown offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Beowulf.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course gives in the first place a general survey of Beowulf criticism, including textual problems, theories as to the composition of the poem, and an enquiry into its historical and mythological elements. In this connection a study is also made of the other pieces of Anglo-Saxon heathen poetry. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts, or its equivalent.

Dr. Brown offers in 1907-08 and again in 1908-09 the following graduate courses:

Cynewulf and Cædmon.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Several of the poems traditionally ascribed to these authors are critically studied. Lectures are given with a view to furnishing a thorough introduction to Anglo-Saxon Christian poetry and the literary problems connected with it. This course is open to graduate students who have already taken the course in Anglo-Saxon grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon texts or its equivalent.

English Historical Grammar.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course the development of the English Language is traced from the earliest times. After an outline has been given of the history and external relations of English, the change and decay of inflections, the use of prepositions and the more important points in historical syntax are discussed. The course presupposes a knowledge of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English.

Dr. Hatcher offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Seminary in Elizabethan Drama.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The history, development, sources, types, and later tendencies of the Elizabethan drama are lectured on and studied.

Dr. Clark and Dr. Brown together conduct the journal club.

English Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

The following advanced undergraduate courses may be attended by graduate students:

Miss Donnelly offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following course:

English Poetry from 1780 to 1832. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a detailed study of the poetry of Cowper, Burns, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Scott, Byron, Shelley, and Keats; special attention is paid to the rise and development of the Romantic movement in English poetry, with occasional reference to similar movements in France and Germany.

Miss Donnelly offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following course:

English Drama. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is intended to give students that have completed the required course in English a more intimate knowledge of the later Elizabethan and the Jacobean drama. The lectures follow the development of the realistic and romantic tendencies in the comedy and tragedy of the period both as an expression of the national life and of the individual genius of the various dramatists. Selected plays of Shakespeare Heywood, Ben Jonson, Beaumont and Fletcher, and other dramatists are read in connection with the lectures.

Dr. Clark offers in each year the following course:

Classical and Romantic Prose. Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the writings of Edmund Burke are considered with special reference to Classicism and Romanticism, and to the ideas of the French revolution. In the second semester the works of Lamb, Hazlitt, and De Quincey are studied.

Dr. Clark offers in each year the following course:

English Critics of the Nineteenth Century.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The essayists and critics after 1832 are studied. In the first semester the authors usually chosen are Carlyle, Matthew Arnold, and Newman. Short papers and one long essay must be prepared by the students attending the course. In the second semester Ruskin, Pater, and Mr. Swinburne are discussed.

Dr. Brown offers in each year the following course:

Anglo-Saxon Grammar and reading of Anglo-Saxon Texts.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with an outline of Anglo-Saxon grammar as presented in Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader. Selections in prose and verse from Bright's reader are next read with the class. In the second semester after a brief study of alliterative verse selections from Beowulf are read. Throughout the year lectures are given outlining the literature of the period and texts are read in translation.

Dr. Brown offers in 1906-07 the following course:

Critical Reading of Shakespeare. Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course is designed to give a careful training in Shakespeare's grammar, diction, and literary development; six plays are read and the sources discussed. The plays studied are Othello, Henry V, Hamlet, Winter's Tale, Romeo and Juliet, and Anthony and Cleopatra. This course will not be given after 1906-07.

Dr. Brown offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following courses:

Middle English Poetry.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The course begins with an outline of Middle English grammar sufficient to enable the students to read ordinary texts intelligently. Selections are then read from Layamon's Brut, Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle, Barbour's Bruce, Richard Rolle's Robert of Brunne's Handlyng Synne, Langland's Vision of Piers the Plowman, Gower's Confessio Amantis, and other pieces of Middle English literature. Lectures are given on the development of the language and literature during this period. The course is designed as an introduction to the course on Chaucer given in the second semester but may be taken independently.

Chaucer.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

In this course the best of the Canterbury Tales are studied, also the Legend of Good Women, The House of Fame, and portions of Troilus and Criseyde. The lectures discuss Chaucer's sources and literary art, and his relation to the English, French, and Italian literature of his time. Students taking this course are recommended, but not required, to have taken the course in Middle English poetry.

Dr. Brown offers in 1908-09 the following course:

Middle English Romances.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Selected romances are read by the members of the class. The lectures deal with the development of Romance literature in English with special reference to the romances of Germanic origin and the Arthurian cycle.

Miss Donnelly offers in 1906-07 the following free elective course:

English Letter Writers.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The more important letter writers of the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries are studied and special stress is laid on their characters, their relation to their time, and their style. The students are required to write short papers from time to time.

Miss Pillsbury offers in 1907-08 the following free elective courses:

Milton.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course Milton's Minor Poems, the Areopagitica, certain books of Paradise Lost, and Samson Agonistes are studied.

A Literary Study of the King James Version of the Bible.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a history of the successive English translations of the Bible previous to 1611, and a literary study of the form and characteristics of the different books of the King James Version.

Dr. Clark offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following free elective courses:

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The history of the novel up to the nineteenth century is presented briefly. The novels of Jane Austen and Walter Scott are studied as an introduction to the work of the second semester.

English Fiction in the Nineteenth Century (continued).

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The development of fiction is considered in the works of Thackeray, Dickens, Trollope, George Eliot, Mr. George Meredith, and others.

Dr. Clark offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following free elective courses:

Victorian Poets.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The works of Tennyson, Arnold, Clough, Fitzgerald, and Landor are studied.

Victorian Poets (continued).

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The Pre-Raphaelite movement is considered, and the works of Morris, Rossetti, Swinburne, and Browning are studied.

Dr. Brown offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following free elective course:

Early English Drama.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The development of the miracles and moralities up to the time of Heywood is considered by means of lectures and discussions. The various national elements which merged in Elizabethan drama are thus traced from their origins. Selections which present linguistic difficulties are read in class.

Dr. Brown offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following free elective course:

The English Ballad.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course is designed as an introduction to the study of popular poetry. Selections from the ballad literature of England and Scotland, representative of various types and periods, are read in class. The lectures illustrate the origins and history of the ballad as developed in English and other literatures, together with a study of various imitations of the genuine ballad.

Miss Hoyt offers in 1906-07 and Dr. Crandall in 1907-08 the following free elective course:

Argumentation.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the technique of argumentation is studied, and in the second semester the relation between the laws of thought emphasised in the first semester and the ordinary forms of prose composition is established.

Miss Fullerton offers each year the following free elective course:

Descriptive and Narrative Writing.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Lectures are given on the theory and practice of description and on the style and methods of the best modern writers of short stories, both English and French. Students are required to write papers each week.

Miss Fullerton offers in 1906-07 the following free elective course:

Advanced Course in Descriptive Writing.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Various fundamental problems of style are discussed in the lectures with reference both to description and to narration. This course is open only to those students who have taken the course in Descriptive and Narrative Writing.

Mr. King offers in each year the following free elective courses in Elocution:

General Reading of Prose Authors.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have attended the required course in Elocution or who have done equivalent work.

Reading of Shakespeare.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to those students who have taken the course in general reading of prose authors. A special study is made of the principles of correct delivery of blank verse. The needs of those students who intend to teach English Literature, and desire to read Shakespeare to their pupils, are given special attention.

German.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German, Dr. Karl Detlev Jessen, Associate in German Literature, and Miss Rose Chamberlin, Reader in German.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses offered in German philology may be found under the head of General Teutonic Philology.

Graduate work in the history of modern German literature is conducted according to the seminary method. The courses are so varied that they may be followed by graduate students throughout three successive years and cover the work required of students who offer German literature as a major or a minor for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Jessen conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in German Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Although the seminary meets only two hours a week throughout the year, the amount of reading required makes the course equivalent to five hours a week. It is hoped that the students will become familiar in these courses with the methods of scientific literary criticism and investigation.

In 1906-07 among the subjects studied is Goethe as a lyrical poet.

In 1907-08 Goethe's life and works are the subject of the seminary. Goethe's views on æsthetics and philosophy, translations by and from Goethe, Goethe and romanticism, text criticism applied to selected works, studies of Goethe's style and use of words, and similar subjects are investigated.

In 1908-09 the Romantic School and the Völklied will be studied.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10 the following graduate courses:

Goethe's Weltanschauung.

One hour a week during the first semester.

In this course the philosophy of Goethe is studied with a view to its importance in understanding the currents of thought underlying modern German culture. Its unscholastic character gives it special interest. The students are referred to the writings of Wilhelm Bode, Moritz Heynacher, Hermann Siebeck, and others on the subject.

Germanic Antiquities.

One hour a week during the second semester.

This course deals with the study of ethnic conditions and characteristics, the racial and social conditions of the Germanic peoples and the important influences exerted by classical study and the Christian religion. The recent scientific discussions of Comte Gobineau, H. St. Chamberlain, and others have emphasised the importance of the subject. Tacitus's Germania will be read with reference to Müllenhoff, Deutsche Altertumskunde.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1907-08 the following graduate courses:

German Metrics.

One hour a week during the first semester.

This course consists of lectures on Deutsche Metrik or Verslehre, with an introduction to phonetics, this being an indispensable Hilfswissenschaft for the study of German literature.

German Poetics.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Lectures will be given on Deutsche Poetik and Stilistik.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1908-09 the following graduate courses:

German Literary Criticism.

One hour a week during the first semester.

The lectures trace the development of literary and æsthetic criticism in Germany from Leibniz to Schiller and Goethe. The course is comparative, and French and English literary criticism will also be considered. Lessing's Laokoön and Hamburgische Dramaturgie and Schiller's essays on aesthetics are specially studied. The course is open to those students only who have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The German Essay.

One hour a week during the second semester.

The history of the essay in German literature is studied and the most eminent German essayists, Schopenhauer, Herman Grimm, Karl Hillebrand, Friedrich Nietzsche, etc., are discussed. The influence of French, English, and American writers, in particular Montaigne, Macaulay, and Emerson, is traced, and incidentally the evolution of modern German prose style is treated.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Collitz offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Elementary Middle High German.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course has been arranged primarily for undergraduate students who wish to be able to read the Middle High German classics in the original. A general acquaintance with the history of early German literature, such as may be obtained from the lectures on the history of German literature in the minor course, is presupposed. Wright's Middle High German Primer (2nd edition, Oxford, 1899) is used.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

German Literature from 1850 to the present time.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The subject of this course is, in the first semester, the Epigonen-Literatur. The development of the modern German Novelle is discussed and Keller's, Storm's, and C. F. Meyer's works are specially studied. A full account of the poets of the Münchener Schule is given, in particular of Richard Wagner, Reuter, Groth, Freytag, Spielhagen, Scheffel, Raabe, Geibel, Heyse, and Schack.

German Literature from 1850 to the present time (continued).

Two hours a week during the second semester.

In the second semester among the subjects discussed are the influence of French, Russian, and Scandinavian literatures, especially of the work of Zola and Ibsen on German literature; modern German realism and naturalism as represented by Fontane, Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Liliencron, and Rosegger; the increased importance of women in literature, and the work of Marie von Ebner-Eschenbach, Luise von François, Ricarda Huch, Helene Böhlau, Isolde Kurz, Clara Viebig and others; the significance of Nietzsche for German life and literature; Neo-romanticism and Heimatsdichtung.

Dr. Jessen offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Lectures on the History of German Literature from the Romantic School till 1850.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course begins with a general study of the principles of philosophy, life, art, and poetry, as represented by the Romantic School, which is followed by lectures on the literary movements, expressed mainly in lyric poetry and in the novel, which supersede the Romantic Weltanschauung. The lyrics of the war of liberation, the Weltschmerz, and the political revolution; the novel of Jungdeutschland; the drama of Heinrich von Kleist; the works of the Schlegels, Tieck, Hölderlin, Jean Paul, Novalis, Uhland, Lenau, Heine, Immermann, Freiligrath, Herwegh, Gutzkow, Mörike, and Gotthelf, are the principal topics discussed.

German Drama in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The drama of Heinrich von Kleist is studied with special reference to that of the classical period, and to the dramatic efforts of the Romanticists. The place of Grillparzer in German literature is defined, as well as the significance of Grabbe and Raimund. This leads to Otto Ludwig and to Friedrich Hebbel, who is the central figure, chronologically as well as in importance, of the German drama during the nineteenth century. The course ends with a review of Anzengruber, Wildenbruch, Sudermann, Hauptmann, and of other modern writers.

Dr. Jessen offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Advanced Critical Reading.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The reading is selected from works discussed in the post-major lectures on literature. The students give reports on dramas or novels, the object of the discussion being to trace the characteristics of the author, as shown in his works.

Miss Chamberlin offers in each year the following elective course, open to graduate students:

German Syntax, Advanced Reading, and Composition.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Attention is given in this course to the needs of students wishing to make teaching their profession. Each student is required to lecture to the class at least once during the year.

GENERAL TEUTONIC PHILOLOGY.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German.

Special attention is called to the facilities for the study of comparative Teutonic philology offered by Bryn Mawr College. The English and the German departments together have provided for a complete course in Teutonic philology, comprising both the study of the individual languages (Gothic, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Old Saxon, Old High German, Middle High German, Platt-Deutsch, etc.) and the study of general comparative philology.

The courses in introduction to the study of Teutonic philology: Gothic and Middle High German grammar (first-year course), are designed for students in their first year of graduate study in Teutonic languages, and the remaining courses for students in their second or third year.

Students intending to elect Teutonic philology are advised to study Greek for at least one year during their undergraduate course.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. Collitz offers the following graduate courses:

Introduction to the Study of Teutonic Philology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

These lectures deal with the following topics: a discussion of Teutonic in its relation to the cognate Aryan languages; a brief sketch of the single Teutonic languages, accompanied by an account of the chief grammatical and lexicographic works on each; a discussion of the aim and method of historical and comparative grammar, including problems such as those of the relationship of dialects and the consistency of phonetic laws; a brief history of Teutonic philology, and finally the outlines of general phonetics.

Gothic.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Gothic phonetics and inflection are studied in connection with the elements of comparative Aryan grammar. Wright's Primer of the Gothic Language (2nd ed., Oxford, 1899); or Braune's Gotische Grammatik (6th ed., Halle, 1905) are used as text-books.

As a thorough knowledge of Gothic is the foundation of the study of historical and comparative Teutonic grammar, every graduate student of Teutonic grammar is advised to take this course as early as possible.

Middle High German Grammar and reading of Middle High German Texts (first-year course).

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course includes a brief abstract of Middle High German grammar, with special reference to the difference between Middle High German and Modern German, and a study of the most prominent authors in Middle High German. Part of Hartmann's Armer Heinrich is read, and is followed by selections from the Nibelungenlied, a brief account being given of the "Nibelungenfrage" and of the manuscripts of the Nibelungenlied.

Students of Middle High German should be provided with Paul's Mittelhochd. Grammatik (6th ed., Halle, 1904), or Michels's Mittelhochd. Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1900).

This course is required of all students that make German the minor subject in their examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The private reading includes the works of the authors treated in the course.

Old High German.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is offered to students acquainted with Gothic and Middle High German, or at least modern German, and includes a practical study of Old High German grammar, and a comparison of the Old High German sounds and forms with those of Middle and Modern High German. Selections are read from Old High German texts, arranged so as to proceed from easy to more difficult pieces, and to illustrate the differences between the old High German dialects.

Middle High German (second-year course).

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for students that have followed the first year's course in Middle High German. The first semester is devoted to the Höfisches Epos (Veldeke, Wolfram, Gottfried von Strassburg, Rudolf von Ems, Conrad von Würzburg), and the second semester to Minnesangs Frühling and Walther von der Vogelweide.

Old Saxon.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The work presupposes on the part of the students a sufficient knowledge of Gothic, Anglo-Saxon, and Old High German. Holthausen's Altsächsische Elementarbuch (Heidelberg, 1899); the Heliand (in Sievers's or Heyne's or Behaghel's edition), and Zangemeister-Braune's Bruchstücke der altsächsischen Bibeldichtung (Heidelberg, 1894), are used.

Old Norse.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course may, by request, be substituted for the course in Old Saxon.

Students entering this course are supposed to be acquainted with Gothic and with Anglo-Saxon or Old High German grammar. In the grammatical part of the course attention is paid to the relation between Gothic and Norse, and to the differences between the East Teutonic and West Teutonic branches. Among the texts read, selections from the younger and the older Eddas take a prominent place. The critical reading of songs from the elder Edda is supplemented by a discussion of the different views on the structure of the Old Germanic alliterative verse.

The books used are Sweet's Icelandic Primer (Oxford, 1886), or Holthausen's Altisländisches Elementarbuch (Weimar, 1895), and Hildebrand's Edda (2nd edition, Paderborn, 1804), with Gering's Glossar (2nd edition, Paderborn, 1896).

Attention is called to the facilities afforded for the study of Old Norse. A considerable portion of the library of the late philologist, Th. Wisén, of Lund, was acquired by Bryn Mawr College, and hence the library is probably as well supplied as any other college library in the United States with Old Norse texts, Norse periodicals, and works on Old Norse language and literature.

Comparative Teutonic Grammar (First Part).

One hour a week throughout the year.

The study of comparative Teutonic philology is recommended to those students only who are acquainted with the single old Teutonic languages, and have studied Gothic, Old High German, Old Saxon, Anglo-Saxon, and Norse. The object of the course is to compare the various old Teutonic languages with each other and with the related Aryan languages,—or in other words (1) to reconstruct the primitive Teutonic language; (2) to point out the characteristic features of primitive Teutonic in distinction from primitive Aryan; (3) to carry down the history of early Teutonic from the period of unity into the early stages of the individual Teutonic languages.

Teutonic Seminary.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This seminary is arranged for the benefit of the most advanced students in Teutonic philology. Its object is to encourage independent work on the part of the students. The exercises consist mainly of the discussion of special topics by the instructor and the students. The subjects for discussion are announced in advance, and the members of the seminary are expected to study the literature on these subjects, and to make an effort to contribute some additional material, or an independent opinion of their own.

In addition to the above courses, others in Old Frisian, Dutch, Middle Low German, or Modern Low German may be arranged for students that have previously studied Gothic, Old and Middle High German, Anglo-Saxon, and Old Saxon.

ROMANCE LANGUAGES.

French.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of M. Lucien Foulet, Professor of French Literature, Dr. Albert Schinz, Associate Professor of French Literature, and Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate in French Philology and Italian.

GRADUATE COURSES.

There are offered each year two distinct graduate courses in French, one in literature and one in language, and these courses are varied so that they may be followed by the graduate student throughout three years.

Graduate students interested in the study of literature will find it to their advantage to attend the lectures on French literature two hours a week throughout the two years of the major course in French.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

M. Foulet offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Seminary in French Literature.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07, and again in 1909-10 the subject of the seminary is La 'Matière de Bretagne' et l'épopée courtoise. The course includes a careful study of the Lais of Marie de France, the poems referring to Tristan, the Romans of Chrétien de Troie, and selected poems on the Holy Grail; these are studied in connection with the question of their origin in Celtic countries and their later development in France. The different theories that have been proposed as to their origin and evolution are examined and discussed and an attempt is made to determine their relative value.

The subject of the seminary in 1907-08 will be Ronsard and the Pléiade, the object being to determine the origin, the extent, and the success of the Renaissance movement in France. The chief works of Ronsard and his successors, especially Du Bellay and Baif, will be read and discussed.

The subject of the seminary in 1908-09 will be Molière; French Comedy before Molière, Molière's comedies, their Latin, Italian, and French sources, his style and method of composition, the nature of his "comique," his philosophy and his morality will be discussed.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Victor Hugo as a lyric, epic, and philosophical poet.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Among the subjects discussed are: Victor Hugo, the Royalist and Catholic poet; what Victor Hugo owes to Chateaubriand and other contemporaries; Victor Hugo in relation to Napoleon I, the Republic, Napoleon III; Victor Hugo's social, political, and religious ideas as expressed in his latest poetical works. This course will be given two hours a week in 1908-09.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

Life and Writings of Rousseau.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Special attention is devoted to the following points: Rousseau as the father of the Romanticism of the nineteenth century; Rousseau as the first representative of cosmopolitan literature, Joseph Texte's ideas on "Cosmopolitisme littéraire;" the personality of Rousseau, a study of his works with special reference to the theories of his insanity.

The course in Old French Philology is intended for students in their first year of graduate study; the Old French Seminary is designed for students in their second or third year of graduate study; the Journal Club may be attended by students in their first, second, or third year of graduate study. The course in Old French Readings is designed to be taken in connection with the seminary in Old French Literature.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Old French Philology.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures on the Phonology, Morphology, and Syntax of Old French, and is designed not only for students whose main pursuit is Romance philology, but also for those who wish to acquire more precise knowledge of the French elements in Middle English. The main principles of Historical Grammar will be illustrated by a minute study of the Extraits de la Chanson de Roland, published by Gaston Paris, and of various texts in Bartsch and Horning's Chrestomathie (Leipsic, 1901). Other books used are Nyrop's Grammaire Historique de l'Ancien Français (vol. 1, 1904, and vol. 2, 1903), and Schwan's Grammaire de l'Ancien Français (latest French edition).

Old French Readings.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The purpose of this course is to study from a scientific point of view various typical Old French masterpieces. The essential facts of Old French grammar will be reviewed and all rare or difficult locutions will be minutely studied for the sake of precise interpretation; dialectal features will be considered and attention will be given to the relation of manuscripts to printed texts. In addition to the works named below, students are expected to supply themselves with Gaston Paris's Littérature française au moyenâge.

The following courses may be rearranged to suit the needs of students in any particular year.

In 1907-08 Epic and Historical literature will be the subject of the course. The texts required are Stengel's edition of the Chanson de Roland (Leipsic, 1900); the Pèlerinage de Charlemagne (ed. by Koschwitz, Leipsic, 1900); Aliscans (ed. by Wienbeck, Hartnacke and Rasch, Halle, 1903), and the Extraits des Chroniqueurs Français (Villehardouin, Joinville, Froissart, Commines), ed. by G. Paris and A. Jeanroy, Paris, 1893.

In 1908-09 Dramatic Literature will be studied. Various mysteries and miracle plays will be critically examined with regard to their origin, construction, language, and versification; but this course will deal mainly with purely mediæval comedy (ca. 1260—ca. 1530). The texts most needed will be Adam de la Hale's Jeu de la feuillée (edition of Rambeau, Marburg, 1886, and of Langlois, Paris, 1895); Paul Lacroix's Recueil (Paris, 1859), and the facsimile of Guillaume Le Roy's Patelin (1486?), printed by Protat frères of Mâcon, France.

In 1909-10 various texts will be read with a view to deriving from them a first-hand knowledge of every-day life—customs, manners, dress, and habits of thought—in mediæval France. Linguistic features will be examined in accordance with the introductory statement.

Old French Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work of the seminary is on the most important Old French dialects. Texts in Norman, Picard, French proper and Franco-Provençal are studied with reference to their dialectal features in order that the student may acquire the power to determine approximately the origin of other texts in which the same dialectal features occur.

M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz and Dr. Holbrook together conduct the Journal Club in Romance Languages.

Romance Language Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club is intended to make the advanced students familiar with all the important European periodicals and with new books dealing with Romance Philology. For each session of the club an important article chosen from some one of the various periodicals is assigned to a student for review. The student is also referred to previous articles or publications treating of the same subject as that of the review, and is expected to present to the club a chronological outline of the history and stages of the discussion on the given point. Thus the students become familiar with the names of leading Romance scholars and with the particular lines of research in which each of the latter excels. At the same time such reviews prepare the way for seminary work and original investigations.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

M. Foulet offers in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The French Novel from Lesage to Flaubert.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures treat of the origin of the modern novel in Lesage and Marivaux, the influence of Rousseau on its further development, the romantic novel of Mme. de Staël, Chateaubriand, Vigny, Hugo, and the realistic novel of Stendhal, Mérimée, and Balzac.

M. Foulet offers in 1907-08 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Romantic Drama of the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the origin and development of the romantic drama in the works of Victor Hugo, Alexandre Dumas père, Alfred de Vigny, and Alfred de Musset. Its renaissance in the latter part of the century in Richepin and Edmond Rostand is then discussed.

M. Foulet offers in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Origin, Development, and Decline of Realistic Comedy.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures treat of the origin of realistic comedy with Beaumarchais; its period of highest development with Augier, Dumas fils, Pailleron, and Sardou; its decline, the comédie naturaliste; new systems and new writers, Jules Lemaitre, and Edmond Rostand.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

French Lyric Poetry of the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the lectures treat lyric poetry until the year 1866. Special attention is paid to the period from 1850 to 1866, while Lamartine, Hugo, Sainte-Beuve, de Vigny, and de Musset are treated only so far as is necessary for the understanding of the evolution of lyric poetry in their successors, Baudelaire, Gautier, de Banville, Leconte de Lisle, etc. The lectures of the second semester treat contemporary lyric poetry from 1866 to 1900. A careful study is made of the Parnassian and Symbolist schools.

Dr. Schinz offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

The Short Story (Nouvelle) in the Nineteenth Century.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The genre nouvelle is studied in connection with the following writers: Xavier de Maistre, Chateaubriand, Nodier, de Vigny, de Musset, Balzac, Mérimée, Gautier, Laboulaye, Daudet, Bourget, Maupassant, France, Bazin, Rod, Coppée, Loti, Villiers de l'Isle Adam, de Régnier, Paul Adam, Masson Forestier and others.

Dr. Schinz offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Teachers' Course in Advanced French. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is especially intended to give students the practical knowledge of French required for teaching the language. A correct pronunciation will be taught by means of a study of French phonetics, of the comparative value of sounds, of the tonic and oratorical accents, and of the rhythmical language. Classical texts will be analysed as a preparation for exercises in composition and lectures on the principles of French rhetoric will be given.

Italian.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Richard Thayer Holbrook, Associate in French Philology and Italian.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Italian Philology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course presupposes a knowledge of Old French Philology and the equivalent of the minor and major courses in Italian offered at Bryn Mawr College. The work is founded upon Meyer-Lübke's Grammatica Storico-Comparata della Lingua Italiana e dei Dialecti Toscani (Torino, Loescher, 1901). A few pages of the Decamerone (Fanfani's edition) will be examined critically, and each word treated with regard to its phonological and morphological aspects.

Old Italian Readings.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Students should provide themselves with the first volume of D'Ancona and Bacci's Manuale della Letteratura Italiana (Florence, 1904).

M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz and Dr. Holbrook together conduct the Journal Club in Romance Languages.

Romance Language Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

Dr. Holbrook offers in each year the following undergraduate courses, open to graduate students:

FIRST YEAR.

Modern Italian.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course is designed to prepare beginners for the study of Italian literature, as well as for the practical use of the language. Reading is taken up from the start, a careful pronunciation is insisted upon, and the essentials of the grammar are taught by a critical observation of the texts used and by graded exercises in the rendering of English into Italian. The books read are the following, and are taken up in the order indicated: C. H. Grandgent's Italian Grammar (Boston, 1905); Bowen's Italian Reader and Grandgent's Italian Composition; selections from Pellico's Le mie prigioni and all his tragedy of Francesca da Rimini (Milan, 1906); selections from the verse and prose of Renato Fucini and others; selections from the autobiography of Benvenuto Cellini (Bacci's smaller edition, Florence, 1900), and, if possible, Dante's Vita Nuova.

Representative Italian Classics in English Translations.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course deals with typical masterpieces of Italian literature from Dante to Cellini. The author's life, character, and surroundings, his place in literary history, and his translators are discussed.

The works studied are as follows: Dante and his Circle (for early lyrics), Vita Nuova, most of the Inferno, parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso; Boccaccio, Life of Dante and several tales translated by John Payne and others; Petrarch, selected Letters, Sonnets and Triumphs; Ariosto, Orlando Furioso; Tasso, Jerusalem Delivered; Castiglione, The Courtier; Cellini, Autobiography. Students are asked to provide themselves at the beginning of the course with Rossetti's Dante and his Circle, Edmund Gardner's Dante, Rossetti's The Early Italian Poets (ed. by Edmund Gardner, Dent, 1904), and Carey's translation of the Divine Comedy. Knowledge of Italian is not required.

SECOND YEAR.

Italian Classical Literature

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The work in this course is three-fold: first, a brief outline of the rise of Italian literature with special attention to Dante; second, a critical translation of the whole Inferno and of selected parts of the Purgatorio and Paradiso; third, the study and translation of parts of Pulci, Morgante Maggiore; Bojardo, Orlando Innamorato; Ariosto, Orlando Furioso, and Tasso, Gerusalemme Liberata. For the third section a study of difficult modern Italian prose and poetry and composition may be substituted. The lectures on literature are delivered in Italian.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Italian Influences on English Literature.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Lectures are given on the influence of mediæval and modern Italy on various English writers, such as Chaucer, Wyatt, Surrey, Ascham, Shakespeare, Coryat, Milton, Byron, Landor, and George Eliot.

Early in the course each student chooses some theme or author upon which she gives a written report in the second semester. Students taking this course are required to have a reading knowledge of Italian.

Spanish.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Fonger DeHaan, Professor of Spanish.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following graduate courses:

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History till the death of Calderon (1681). One hour a week throughout the year.

The lectures are supplemented by extensive private reading of important works.

Essays in Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Philology. One hour a week throughout the year.

Old Spanish Readings. One hour a week throughout the year.

M. Foulet, Dr. DeHaan, Dr. Schinz and Dr. Holbrook together conduct the Journal Club in Romance Languages.

Romance Language Journal Club.

One and a half hours a fortnight throughout the year.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course in composition and conversation is offered to those students who have completed the major course.

Dr. DeHaan offers in each year the following undergraduate courses, open to graduate students:

FIRST YEAR.

Spanish. Five hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give beginners a good knowledge of modern Spanish, and to ground them thoroughly in the essentials of the grammar. As a preparation for understanding the spoken language, two half-hours a week during the second semester are devoted to dictation. The books studied are the following (taken up in the order indicated): DeHaan's Cuentos Modernos; Pérez Nieva, Tomás el torrero (Madrid, Colección Klong); De Haan's Selected Works of G. A. Béquér; Hartzenbusch, Los Amantes de Teruel (Obras, vol. III.); Zorrilla, Granada (Madrid, 1895, 2 vols.).

Private reading: Palacio Valdés, José; Galdós, Marianela.

SECOND YEAR.

Lectures in Spanish on Spanish Literary History of the Nineteenth Century. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Spanish Composition. One hour a week throughout the year.

Critical Reading in Spanish. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Private reading: Private reading supplementing the lectures on literary history comprises representative works in the various branches of literature.

CELTIC AND SLAVONIC LANGUAGES.

Dr. Hermann Collitz, Professor of Comparative Philology and German, will offer courses in Celtic and Slavonic languages to students of comparative Aryan or of comparative Teutonic philology. Such students will find it of great advantage to gain at least some knowledge of Old Irish and Old Slavonic. Courses will also be arranged for students that prefer to study Lithuanian or any of the more important living Slavonic languages (Russian, Polish, or Servian).

SEMITIC LANGUAGES AND BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. George A. Barton, Professor of Biblical Literature and Semitic Languages.

The college was particularly fortunate in securing in the year 1892 the library of the late M. Arthur Amiaud, of Paris. While M. Amiaud was especially eminent as an Assyriologist, he was also prominent as a general Semitic student. His library was the collection of an active scholar, and forms a working library for the student in every department of Semitic study. It is especially rich in the Hebrew, Syriac, and Assyrian languages, containing several works, indispensable to the student, which are now out of print. Another Semitic library containing many works on the Talmud and on Jewish literature was acquired in 1904. The contents of these two libraries, together with the books already owned by the college and those easily accessible in neighboring libraries, form an exceptionally good collection of material for the specialist in Semitic languages. A good working collection of cuneiform tablets is under the control of the department, and affords an excellent opportunity for students of Assyrian to become familiar with original documents.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses in Semitic languages are varied from year to year, as indicated below, so that they may be pursued by a student for four successive years. As students of Semitic languages, in addition to the work of investigation, must master the elements of a number of dialects for use in Semitic philology, those who offer Semitic languages as the major subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are required to spend in Semitic work half their time for at least three years.

The work of the department is so arranged that students may specialise in Hebrew or Assyrian. They must offer as subjects in the examination Hebrew, Assyrian, and Arabic, and must possess a knowledge of the grammatical forms of Aramaic and Ethiopic. Students that offer Semitic languages as the minor subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy must show that they have a knowledge of three Semitic languages.

The regular alternation of courses is indicated below and at least five hours a week will be given in each year, the courses being selected according to the needs of the graduate students. Graduate students may enter in any year of the four years' course, as there will be afforded each year an opportunity for graduate students to begin Hebrew, even if such a course should not be announced for the year in question.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Barton and a Reader in Semitic Languages offer in 1907-08 and in 1908-09 the following first and second year graduate courses in Semitic languages:

Elementary Hebrew.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

This course comprises a thorough study of the elements of the language, and the interpretation of parts of Genesis and Deuteronomy. It enables students to read ordinary Hebrew at sight.

Aramaic, including Syriac and Biblical Aramaic.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The first semester is devoted to Syriac. After the forms are learned, which is an easy matter for students acquainted with Hebrew, selections are read from the Syriac versions of the New Testament, from the chronicles of Barhebraeus, and from the hymns of Ephrem. The second semester is devoted to Jewish Aramaic, which is the dialect of large parts of the books of Daniel and Ezra, as well as of the Targums.

Elementary Assyrian.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

This course includes a study of the elements of the language, the interpretation of selections from the royal annals, and exercises in writing Assyrian.

Hebrew, The Prophets.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The text of one or more of the Prophets is critically interpreted, and Hebrew syntax and composition are studied.

Semitic Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

For students that specialise in Hebrew the work of the seminary consists of a critical study of one of the following subjects: the Psalter, Job, Canticles, Ecclesiastes, or one of the historical or prophetic books; for those who specialise in Assyrian, a critical study is made of one of the following subjects: old Babylonian texts and the Sumerian problem, administrative records of the temple at Telloh, Assyrio-Babylonian epic and mythological poetry, Assyrio-Babylonian religious and magical texts, Babylonian contracts, or the Laws of Hammurabi.

Elementary Arabic.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the elements of the language, the interpretation of selections from Brünnow's Chrestomathia and from the Thousand and One Nights, together with Arabic prose composition.

Hebrew Literature.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of Old Testament poetry and of the apocalypses, Jewish and Christian.

Dr. Barton offers in 1909-10 the following graduate courses in Semitic languages:

THIRD YEAR.

Assyrian, 'Historical Texts.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to the interpretation of royal annals, both Assyrian and Babylonian.

Assyrian Literature.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Assyrio-Babylonian literature, history, and art are briefly reviewed.

Arabic Literature.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Arabic civilisation and its chief literary products are studied

Advanced Arabic.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester portions of the Qur'an are read and in the second semester portions of the Mu'allakât poems are interpreted; special attention is given to syntax. The grammars of Socin and Wright are used.

Hebrew Literature.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the Prophets, the Pentateuch and the historical books of the Old Testament.

Comparative Semitic Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The course is devoted to Semitic phonetics and grammatical forms with a comparison of old Hamitic. In connection with the work selected Egyptian texts are read, to supply the student with Hamitic linguistic material. The first semester is devoted to phonetic material and its laws, the second to the pronoun and the verb.

Dr. Barton offers in 1906-07 the following graduate courses in Semitic languages:

FOURTH YEAR.

Semitic Seminary.

One hour a week throughout the year.

One of the subjects of the preceding year is continued for the first semester and the second semester is devoted to comparative Semitic grammar.

Ethiopic.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

The grammar and Chrestomathia of Dillmann are used, and in the latter part of the course selections are read from the book of Enoch.

Semitic Epigraphy (Phœnician, Aramaic, and Sabæan).

Two hours a week during the second semester.

The course begins with a study of the Moabite stones the language of which differs only slightly from Hebrew. As the grammatical forms of Phœnician do not greatly differ from those of Hebrew, the Phœnician part of this course is practically a course in Hebrew epigraphy, the Aramaic is practically an extension of the Aramaic course, while the Sabæan is in part a review of Arabic forms. Lidbarski's Nordsemitische Epigraphik, Cooke's North Semitic Inscriptions, and Hommel's Südarabische Chrestomathie are the text-books used.

Semitic and Hebrew Religions.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the fundamental conceptions of the Semites as to gods and men, sin, sacrifice, and atonement are studied; in the second semester the religion of Israel is compared with the Semitic religion, and the preparation for Christianity is traced.

Comparative Semitic Grammar.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The Semitic verb is completed and the noun is studied. Selected Coptic texts are read to gain some variety of Hamitic material.

Dr. Barton offers in 1906-07 and in 1907-08 the following graduate course in Biblical literature:

New Testament Seminary.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course may be given occasionally as the time of the department permits. Portions of the Greek text of the New Testament are critically interpreted. Students are assisted in familiarising themselves with the facts and theories of textual and historical criticism, or in investigating such problems as their previous training has fitted them to attack.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

The courses in Biblical Literature and Oriental History are intended primarily for undergraduate students, but may be elected by graduate students also.

Dr. Barton offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following free elective courses in Biblical literature:

History of Christian Doctrine.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester Christianity is studied as presented by its Founder and by the apostles, and in the second semester the history of Christian doctrine from 100 A. D. to the present time is briefly reviewed, and problems presented by modern thought are touched upon.

History of the New Testament Canon.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of a study of the New Testament, similar in its methods and aims to the course on the Old Testament Canon.

Dr. Barton offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following free elective courses in Biblical literature:

New Testament Biography.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The first semester of this course is devoted to a careful study of the life and teaching of Christ; the second semester to the life and teaching of St. Paul. The Gospels and Epistles are read, together with the most helpful of the modern works on these topics. The course is illustrated with photographs of the most important places connected with the lives of Christ and St. Paul.

History of the Old Testament Canon.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the history of the composition and collection of the books of the Old Testament is studied. The instruction is given in lectures, and reading is assigned in the Old Testament and in modern literature concerning it.

Dr. Barton offers in each year the following free elective course:

Oriental History.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats in broad outlines the history and civilisation of the Classical Orient. The beginnings of the Hamito-Semitic race, and the influence of environment upon its primitive institutions are first studied. The separation of the races into the different nations is then traced, and the history of the principal Oriental nations, Egyptians, Babylonians, Assyrians, Phœnicians, Hebrews, Hittites, Sabœans, and Persians; of Alexander and his successors; of the Parthians, and the oriental empire of the Romans, is followed in outline. Special attention is paid to the history of the Hebrews, and to their unique religious contribution to the civilisation of the world. The course concludes with a study of the Arabic caliphates, and of Mohammedan civilisation. The lectures are illustrated by archæological specimens and by photographs. Either semester may be elected separately.

Dr. Barton offers in each year, when the time of the department permits, the following free elective courses:

Biblical Geography and Archæology. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with a survey of the physical features of Palestine and an estimate of their effect upon its civilisation. The succession of races dominant in Palestine since the beginning of history is then reviewed, after which the positions of the places important in the Biblical narratives are carefully noted. The principal Biblical narratives are studied in connection with the geography of the country and the archæological remains of the period. In this way the narratives of the Patriarchs, Kings, Prophets, and Apostles, as well as the life of Christ, are illustrated. The course is illustrated by photographs. Use is made throughout the course of the publications of the Palestine Exploration Fund, and of other modern explorers.

New Testament Greek.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course presupposes a knowledge of classical Greek. After some introductory lectures on the formation and peculiarities of the New Testament Greek, one hour a week during the first semester is devoted to lectures on the history of the New Testament text, both in its written and in its printed form, the helps extant for emending it, and the method of using them. The remainder of the time is devoted to the interpretation of the New Testament Epistles, especially those of Paul. The students are expected to read privately during the first semester the text of one of the Gospels, and during the second, either the Acts of the Apostles, the Apocalypse, or the Epistle to the Hebrews.

History.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charles McLean Andrews, Professor of History, Mr. Robert Matteson Johnston, Associate Professor (elect) in History, and Dr. William Roy Smith, Associate in History.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Eight courses are offered to graduate students in history in addition to the direction of private reading and original research.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Andrews offers in 1906-07 the following graduate courses:

Historical Method and Criticism.

Two hours a week throughout the year,

The lectures in this course discuss the great collections of material in Germany, France, Italy, England, and America, the methods employed in treating such material, and historical criticism from the Renaissance to the present time, including the different kinds of evidence and their treatment, critical analysis, aids to evidence, geography, archæology, etc.

History of the Community in England and America.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course is a general survey of the history of the primitive community, the manor, vill, town, and parish in England, and the town, parish, hundred, county, and township-county in America.

The American Colonies in the Seventeenth Century.

Two hours a week during the second semester.

This course deals chiefly with the political, constitutional, and social problems affecting the colonies in the seventeenth century.

Mr. Johnston offers in 1907-08 the following graduate courses:

Historical Method and Criticism. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The questions dealt with in this course are the scope of historical work and its relations to allied subjects; the outlines of historical bibliography; the great collections of printed material; archives and MSS.; editing, criticism, and evidence.

The French Revolution. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The work is set chiefly from printed documentary material.

Mr. Johnston offers in 1908-09 two of the following graduate courses:

The Napoleonic System and Institutions.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The work will be set largely from printed documentary material.

History of Political Theories. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Starting from the theories of the civil lawyers before the period of Christian influence, the course will trace the great conflict for supremacy between politics and religion down to its latest modern phases. The influence of the economic development since the Renaissance will be considered in this relation, and in general a foundation laid for an historical approach to questions of economics and politics.

Historical Method and Criticism. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The course given in 1907-08 will be extended and continued throughout the year.

Dr. Smith offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

The Period of National Development. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to discuss in some detail the chief features of American history from the establishment of the national government to the election of President Jackson. Special attention is paid to the formation of the departments of government, the origin and development of political parties, the purchase of Louisiana, the war of 1812, the Monroe Doctrine, and the Panama Congress. The student is instructed in the use of congressional debates and reports, public statutes, supreme court decisions, and such other public documents as are available.

Dr. Smith offers in 1906-07 and again in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Seminary in American Politics, the Slavery and Negro Question.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course begins with a preliminary survey of the history of slavery in the Colonial period. This is followed by a discussion of such topics as the slavery compromises of the constitution, the growth of slavery in the South, the abolition of the slave trade, the Missouri Compromise, the anti-Slavery movement, nullification, the Mexican War, the Wilmot Proviso, the compromise measures of 1850, the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Dred Scott decision, the abolition of slavery, and the adoption of the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments. Special attention is paid to the connection between slavery, territorial expansion, and the development of constitutional theories.

Dr. Smith offers in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

England during the Reign of George the Third.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course covers the period from the accession of George III. to the downfall of Napoleon. Emphasis is laid upon the development of British colonial policy after 1763, the American revolt, the relations with Ireland leading to the Act of Union, and finally upon the attitude of England during the Revolutionary and Napoleonic eras.

Dr. Andrews and Dr. Smith conduct in 1906-07 and Mr. Johnston and Dr. Smith will conduct in 1907-08 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminary:

Historical Seminary.

Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The seminary is attended by the instructors in the department of history and the graduate students who are pursuing advanced courses in history. At the meetings, which are held once a fortnight, reports are made upon assigned topics, recent articles and books are reviewed, and the results of special investigations presented.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Andrews offers in 1906-07 and Mr. Johnston will offer in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

English Constitutional History to 1485. Two hours a week throughout the year.

The text-book used in this course is Stubbs's Select Charters. The lectures alternate with the reading and interpretation of selected charters and constitutional documents. Each student is assigned from time to time topics upon which a report is made to the class.

Mr. Johnston offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Special Topics in Nineteenth Century History.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Incidents and critical periods of nineteenth century history will be studied in detail so as to introduce the student to the use of original sources, and also to give a closer view of political action than can be obtained from general courses. Diplomacy, international law, warfare, the Monroe doctrine, and constitutional questions will be dealt with.

Dr. Smith offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

American Constitutional History, from 1789 to the present time.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the leading aspects of American constitutional history to the close of the period of reconstruction. The text-books used are MacDonald's Select Documents of United States History and Select Statutes of United States History, but frequent additional references are given to the leading secondary authorities. To a limited extent use will be made of such documents as are available in the library, and special topics will be assigned for discussion and report.

Dr. Smith offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

English Constitutional History from 1485 to the present time.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures discuss the constitutional features of Tudor absolutism, the influence of the English reformation, the struggle between the crown and parliament for supremacy, the Revolution of 1688-89, the development of the cabinet system, the union with Scotland and Ireland, the American and French Revolutions, the Reform Bills of 1832, 1867, and 1884-85, and the South African question. The text-books used are Prothero's Select Statutes and other Constitutional Documents, Gardiner's Constitutional Documents of the Puritan Revolution, and Adams and Stephens's Select Documents of English Constitutional History.

Economics and Politics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Henry Raymond Mussey, Associate Professor of Economics and Politics, Mr. Charles Clarence Williamson, Associate (elect) in Political Science, and Miss Marion Parris, Reader (elect) in Political Science.

GRADUATE COURSES.

In addition to the post-major courses, which may be elected by graduate students, six hours of graduate lectures and seminary work are offered in each year.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Mussey offers in 1906-07 and Mr. Williamson offers in 1907-08 and in each succeeding year the following graduate seminary:

Economic Seminary.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The methods of instruction in the seminary are designed to guide advanced students in special research work along the lines indicated by the titles of the courses. Some lectures are given but the main attention is devoted to the presentation and criticism of the results of studies made by the students themselves.

In 1906-07 and 1907-08 English economic theory is the subject of study. This study of the classical school first deals with the mercantilists and the eighteenth century writers, investigating briefly the character of economic problems and economic thought before Adam Smith. The conditions of Smith's work, and the direction which he gave to economic speculation are then examined; Ricardo, Malthus, and their critics are studied in the light of contemporary conditions. The reformulation of their doctrines by Mill and Senior, in consequence of further economic development, is discussed, and the work of Cairnes as the last great classical writer is carefully examined. The course concludes with Marshall's attempted reconciliation of the cost of production and utility theories.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be modern political theory, with special reference to contemporary American conditions and tendencies.

Miss Parris offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Economics and Ethical Theory. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is a comparison of economics and ethics designed to show the place of economics among the social sciences and to suggest the reaction upon economic theory of recent advances in associated fields of social study.

Miss Parris offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

The Theory of Value. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A critical study of value theories from the time of Adam Smith.

Miss Parris offers in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

Problems of Economic Theory. Two hours a week throughout the year.

A study of important problems of modern theory, illustrating the character of modern theoretical work, and training the student in methods of theoretical investigation.

Dr. Mussey and Miss Parris conduct in each year the economic journal club:

Economic Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

At the meetings recent books and articles are reviewed and the results of special investigations presented for discussion, comment, and criticism.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Mussey offers in 1906-07 and Mr. Williamson will offer again in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Theories of Socialism and Social Reform.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

During the first semester the theories of representative nineteenth century radical writers are critically examined. The second semester is devoted to a study of modern social reform movements, with constant attention to the interaction of economic and political forces.

Mr. Williamson offers in 1907-08 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Public Finance.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course begins with a discussion of the nature of public finance, its history and present position in the field of the political and economic sciences. After tracing the development of the public economy, theories of the economic activity of the modern state are examined. This is followed by a discussion of public expenditure, its growth in modern democratic societies, and its social and industrial effects. A rapid survey of the history and theories of taxation serves as an introduction to a special study of the problems of federal, state, and local taxation in the United States, comparisons being made with the leading foreign countries. Attention is also called to the nature and significance of other forms of public revenue. The course concludes with a discussion of the theory of public credit and the policy of national and local governments in regard to public debts.

The lectures are supplemented by assigned readings with frequent written and oral quizzes.

Miss Parris offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Modern Economic Theory.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is based on a careful study of Marshall's Principles of Economics. It contrasts the results of modern economics with those of the classical political economy.

Miss Parris offers in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Economics and Statistics.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is a study of certain concrete problems capable of quantitative treatment illustrating the use of mathematical and statistical methods in social science.

Law.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Clarence D. Ashley, Dean of the Faculty of Law of New York University, Non-resident Lecturer in Law.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The undergraduate courses in law may be offered by graduate students whose major subject is history or philosophy as a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

MAJOR COURSE.

Dr. Ashley offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following courses open to graduate students:

Torts.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course that class of wrongs which violate an absolute, as distinguished from a correlative, right is discussed. The nature, character, historical development, and classification of torts is considered. The course is conducted mainly by class discussion. The text-book used is Ames's Cases on Torts, Vol. I.

Constitutional Law.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The subject of this course is the Constitution of the United States and its development and construction by judicial decision. This involves an examination and study of the leading decisions of the United States Supreme Court on constitutional questions. The case system of study is adopted, and the course is conducted mainly by class discussion.

Dr. Ashley offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following courses, open to graduate students:

Law of Contract.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course treats of the formation and discharge of contract as embraced in the topics of Mutual Assent and Consideration and Conditions. It is conducted by class discussion of cases contained in a collection of selected and condensed cases. A statement of each case, with a critical examination and full discussion of the principles involved, is required. The aim is to train the class in accurate legal thought, and incidentally to impart a thorough knowledge of the principles underlying the subjects covered. For collateral reading reference is made to Langdell's Summary of the Law of Contract and other standard authors.

Theory of Legal Procedure.One hour a week throughout the year.

This course treats of the elements of jurisprudence, including the nature, scope, and divisions of law, with the distinctions between contract, tort, and quasi-contract, the nature and classification of rights, and a brief survey of the jurisdiction of common law and equity courts.

Philosophy.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Theodore de Leo de Laguna, Associate Professor (elect) of Philosophy, Dr. James H. Leuba,* Professor of Psychology and Education and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, Dr. George W. T. Whitney, Associate in Philosophy, Mr. Clarence Errol Ferree, Lecturer (elect) in Psychology, Miss Clara Jean Weidensall, Demonstrator in Psychology, and Miss Grace Maxwell Fernald, Reader (elect) in Education and Demonstrator in Psychology.

GRADUATE COURSES.

In addition to the post-major courses, which may be elected by graduate students, ten hours of graduate lectures and seminary work are offered in each year. The laboratory of experimental psychology is open to graduate students for research work.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. de Laguna conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Ethical Seminary.Three hours a week throughout the year.

The subject of the seminary is either a study of one of the chief problems of ethics or a critical examination of some important movement of ethical thought.

In 1907-08 the special subject of the seminary will be English evolutionary ethics.

Dr. Whitney conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Metaphysical Seminary.Two hours a week throughout the year.

In 1906-07 the subject of the seminary is an examination of the most important metaphysical theories of the present time. The chief object of this inquiry is to indicate the fundamental postulates and tacit agreements of contemporary philosophical thought.

In 1907-08 the subject of the seminary will be a study of modern logic, the works of Mill, Lotze, Bradley, Sigwart, Hobhouse, Dewey, and Bosanquet will be used as a basis.

In 1908-09 the subject of the seminary will be an examination of the more important metaphysical theories of recent times. The chief object of this inquiry is to indicate the fundamental postulates and tacit agreements of contemporary philosophical thought.

In 1909-10 the subject of the seminary is the history of the development of epistemological theory. The works of the great modern philosophers such as Descartes, Spinoza, Leibnitz, Locke, Hume, and Kant are examined and discussed from this point of view.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1907-08. The courses announced by Dr. Leuba will be given by Mr. Ferree in 1907-08.

Dr. de Laguna and Dr. Whitney together conduct in each year the Journal Club.

Philosophical Journal Club. Two hours once a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet to report on and discuss recent reviews and critical articles.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate course:

Psychological Seminary. Three hours a week throughout the year.

The work is conducted mainly according to the seminary method. One or two of the following subjects will be chosen each year; the fundamental principles, and most important results of modern psychology; a comparative study of Wundt, William James, James Ward, Stout, and other psychologists; volkpsychologie; language, myths, customs; attention, apperception, the will; the psychology of religion and of ethics; psychology of the beautiful; psychiatry, insanity, and criminology; animal and child psychology, comparative psychology; the history of psychological theories, beginning with the Greek philosophers.

Dr. Leuba conducts in each year the following graduate seminary and laboratory work:

Psychological Journal Club. One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students meet once a week to hear reports on the literature of the subject and on the work done in the laboratory.

Laboratory Work.

The laboratory work consists of individual practice and research.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Whitney offers in each year the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Types of Metaphysical Theory. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Each semester is devoted to the examination of some important type of metaphysical theory. After the historical development of the theory under investigation has been traced, its implications and relationships are examined and criticised. The particular subjects selected vary from year to year.

The Philosophy of Kant. Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is devoted to a study of the problems which arise in connection with the Kantian point of view. The Critique of Pure Reason forms the basis of the work. Its relation to the rest of Kant's system is discussed in order to indicate the general tendency of the system.

Education.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. James H. Leuba,* Professor of Psychology and Education, and Director of the Psychological Laboratory, and Miss Grace Maxwell Fernald, Reader (elect) in Education and Demonstrator in Psychology. The instruction offered covers six hours of lectures a week, in addition to the time devoted to the seminary; it includes two hours a week of free elective work, and four hours a week of graduate work.

It is the purpose of the department to offer to students intending to become teachers an opportunity to obtain a technical preparation sufficient for their profession. Hitherto practical training has been thought necessary for teachers of primary schools only, but similar training is very desirable for teachers in high schools and colleges also. Indeed, it is already becoming increasingly difficult for college graduates without practical and theoretical pedagogical knowledge to secure good positions. In addition to the lectures open to undergraduates, courses will be organised for graduate students only; conducted with special reference to preparation for the headship and superintendence of schools. Education cannot be studied to the best advantage unless an acquaintance with at least the rudiments of psychology is presupposed. The elementary experimental course in psychology is therefore earnestly recommended to all students of education.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Graduate students are recommended to follow the work offered in the undergraduate course mentioned below.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Leuba offers in each year the following graduate courses:

The Methods and Principles of Teaching. One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to graduate students who have already taught or to those who take the practice work announced below.

The Psychology of Mental and Bodily Growth with reference to Education. One hour a week throughout the year.

A knowledge of elementary psychology is assumed in this course.

Lectures upon school-hygiene; physical training; organisation of education in the United States and in Europe; the training of teachers, etc.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSE.

Dr. Leuba* offers in each year the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Education.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course deals with the great educators and their systems considered with reference to modern educational methods and the problems of to-day.

* In 1907-08 this course will be given by Miss Fernald.

History of Art and Classical Archæology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Caroline Louise Ransom, Associate in the History of Art and Classical Archæology.

An archæological seminary of two hours a week throughout the year is offered to graduate students who have done elementary archæological work, and also a Journal Club meeting one hour a week.

The undergraduate work is divided into courses of three hours a week, and one or two hours a week, and these change from year to year so that every student has an opportunity, during the course of four years, of taking each undergraduate course offered in the department. The courses in Greek and Roman Sculpture, in Early Christian, Mediæval and Renaissance Architecture and Sculpture, and the History of Painting are designed to give an outline of the art of Europe. Students wishing a more complete introduction to the history of art are advised to elect also the courses in Egyptian Art and in Greek and Roman Architecture. Additional courses in classical art and archæology are offered for students of Greek and Latin wishing to study classical antiquities, and are open to any student desiring to prepare herself for archæological work.

In addition to the graduate courses announced, other courses will be provided as need for them arises, and individual students will be directed in special work by means of private conferences.

GRADUATE COURSES.

Two courses are offered to graduate students in addition to the elective courses which are open also to undergraduate students; other courses will be added if a demand should arise. A reading knowledge of French and German is indispensable for graduate work in art and archæology.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Ransom offers in each year the following graduate seminary:

Archæological Seminary.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course is open only to graduate students who have had some previous training in classical archæology. Special work in sculpture, coins, or vases will be arranged according to the needs of the students.

Dr. Ransom conducts the journal club in each year:

Archæological Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructor meet for the presentation and discussion of topics of current archæological literature.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Ransom offers in 1906-07 the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

Early Christian, Mediæval, and Renaissance Architecture and Sculpture.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Greek and Roman Vases.

Two hours a week during the first semester.

This course begins with Attic black-figured ware. A good collection of material for illustration is in the possession of the department.

Greek and Roman Architecture. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The principles and history of Doric and Ionic architecture are considered, and one important building is studied in detail by each student. The houses of Priene and Pompeii are then carefully studied.

Greek Myths.

One hour a week throughout the year.

During the first semester the representations in Greek Art of certain of the gods are considered. The second semester is devoted to Heracles, Theseus, and other Greek heroes.

Dr. Ransom offers in 1907-08 the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

A Survey of the History of Painting. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Greek and Roman Industrial Arts (exclusive of vase-painting).

One hour a week throughout the year.

In the first semester terra-cottas, small bronzes, gold and silver vessels, and jewelry are studied. In the second semester glass, work in wood, ivory and other materials, and coins and gems are treated.

Dr. Ransom offers in 1908-09 the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

Greek and Roman Art.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

In the first semester the Archaic and Transitional Periods are covered, and sculptures of the time of Phidias are discussed. The study of the great age of Greek sculpture continues through the second semester until the Easter vacation. After this the remaining weeks are devoted to Hellenistic and Roman sculpture.

Greek Vase Painting.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Ransom offers in 1909-10 the following free elective courses open to graduate students:

Early Christian and Mediæval Art.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Egyptian Art.Two hours a week throughout the year.

The architecture, sculpture, pottery, and other material remains of ancient Egypt are considered beginning with the prehistoric period and continuing to the time of the Roman supremacy in Egypt. Special attention is given to subjects bearing on the art of Greece.

Mathematics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Charlotte Angas Scott, Professor of Mathematics, Mr. Joseph Edmund Wright, Associate Professor of Mathematics, and Dr. Isabel Maddison, Associate in Mathematics.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses consist of lectures and seminary work, supplemented by private reading under the direction of the instructors, the courses being arranged each year with reference to the wishes and degree of preparation of the students concerned.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Scott offers in 1906-07 the following graduate course:

Linear Systems of Curves, Intersections of Curves, and Geometry on a Curve.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

A general elementary knowledge of properties of curves is desirable for students taking this course.

Dr. Scott offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Plane Algebraic Curves and Systems of Curves.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

This course will probably include a treatment of Rational, Elliptic, and Hyperelliptic curves. The course in Algebraic Invariants may be substituted if it seems desirable.

Dr. Scott offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Theory of Algebraic Invariants.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

In this course binary and ternary forms are considered by means of Aronhold's symbolic notation. During the first semester the work is purely algebraic, during the second semester more attention is paid to the geometrical applications. A general knowledge of plane algebraic curves is necessary for students taking this course.

Mr. Wright offers in 1906-07 the following graduate course:

Elliptic Functions.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

A knowledge of the elementary properties of elliptic functions is presupposed; the properties of the theta functions are considered and some time is spent on the transformation theory. In the latter portion of the course the properties of modular functions are discussed.

Mr. Wright offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Differential Geometry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

An account will be given of the general differential properties of curves and surfaces.

Dr. Scott and Mr. Wright together conduct the journal club.

Mathematical Journal Club.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The journal club holds fortnightly meetings at which reports on special topics or memoirs are presented by the instructors and the graduate students.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

The post-major courses in mathematics are designed to bridge over the interval between the ordinary undergraduate studies and advanced work. They deal, therefore, with the subjects of the major course, carried to higher developments and treated by higher methods. As the order of mathematical studies differs in different colleges, graduate students frequently find it advisable to devote a part of their time to these courses. Regular written work is expected from all mathematical students, and a reading knowledge of French and German is presupposed.

The post-major courses in any one year amount to five hours a week. The courses given are the following, with occasional modifications:

I. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Analytical Geometry, in connection with Salmon's Conic Sections and Scott's Modern Analytical Geometry, Dr. Scott.

or, I. (b.) Lectures on Modern Pure Geometry, Dr. Scott.

or, I. (c.) Lectures on Special Topics in Geometry, such as Homogeneous Coordinates, Circular Coordinates, Families of Curves, Certain Transcendental Curves, Geometrical Transformations, etc., Dr. Scott.

Special permission to take this course before completing the two years of the major course may be granted to students whose work in the major course has shown that they are able to profit by the lectures.

II. (a.) Lectures Introductory to Modern Algebra, in connection with Salmon's Modern Higher Algebra, and Elliott's Algebra of Quantics, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (b.) Lectures preparatory to the Theory of Functions, in connection with Harkness and Morley's Introduction to the Theory of Analytic Functions and Chrystal's Algebra, Vol. II, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (c.) Lectures on Differential Equations, ordinary and partial, Mr. Wright.

or, II. (d.) A general course in Analysis, dealing with the higher development of subjects only touched upon in the major course, such as Determinants, Fourier's Series, Infinite Series, Definite Integrals, etc., Mr. Wright.

III. (a.) Lectures on Analytical Geometry of Three Dimensions, Dr. Maddison.

or, III. (b.) A practical course in Differential Equations, Dr. Maddison.
 or, III. (c.) Lectures on the Theory of Envelopes, Dr. Maddison.

In 1906-07 the following post-major courses are offered:

- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| I. (c.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (d.) Mr. Wright. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| III. (a.) Dr. Maddison. | One hour a week throughout the year. |

In 1907-08 the following post-major courses will be offered:

- | | |
|-------------------------|---|
| I. (a.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (b.) Mr. Wright. | Two hours a week during the first semester. |
| II. (c.) Mr. Wright. | Two hours a week during the second semester. |
| III. (a.) Dr. Maddison. | One hour a week throughout the year. |

In 1908-09 the following post-major courses are offered:

- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| I. (b.) Dr. Scott. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| II. (d.) Mr. Wright. | Two hours a week throughout the year. |
| III. (c.) Dr. Maddison. | One hour a week throughout the year. |

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Scott offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

- | | |
|---------------------|---|
| Geometrical Conics. | Two hours a week during the second semester. |
|---------------------|---|

Dr. Scott offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following free elective course, open to graduate students:

Fundamental Theorems of Algebra and Geometry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is offered in alternate years. Certain standard problems of historical interest are considered in order to elucidate some of the fundamental principles of mathematics. Either semester may be taken separately. No knowledge of mathematics beyond the requirements for matriculation is presupposed. It is hoped that the work will prove useful to those intending to teach elementary mathematics.

SCIENCE.

Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Biology.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07.

Harriet Randolph, Dr. Frances Lowater,* Miss Gertrude Langden Heritage, and Miss Helen Schaeffer.

In January, 1893, the Trustees opened Dalton Hall, a large building, containing ample laboratories, lecture-rooms, research-rooms, special libraries, and professors' rooms for the work of the scientific departments. The chemical, geological, biological, and physical laboratories and the laboratory for experimental psychology are open for students from nine to six daily.

The chemical department includes a lecture-room, a large laboratory for the first-year students, and several smaller ones for advanced and special work, a special room for Physical Chemistry, preparation and balance rooms, and a chemical library. The supply of apparatus and chemicals has been carefully selected for the purpose of instruction and research, and is increasing from year to year. The chemical library contains, besides necessary treatises and reference books, complete sets of the most important chemical journals.

The biological laboratories are equipped with the best (Zeiss) microscopes, microtomes, etc., and are supplied with apparatus for the study of experimental physiology.

The physical laboratories are carefully furnished with the apparatus necessary for thorough work.

Graduate work in the natural sciences is highly special, and consists of laboratory work, private reading, and special investigations pursued by the student under the guidance of the instructors.

Physics.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. William B. Huff, Associate Professor of Physics, Dr. James Barnes, Associate in Physics, Dr. Frances Lowater,* and Miss Helen Schaeffer, Demonstrators in Physics.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate courses consist of lectures, laboratory work, and original research work under the direction of the instructors, the lecture courses varying from year to year so that they may be pursued by students through consecutive years. A good working library containing the current and bound numbers of all the important physical journals is kept in the laboratory.

*Granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Huff offers in 1906-07 the following graduate courses:

Radioactivity.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The earlier lectures deal with the motion of a charged particle in the field. A discussion of the methods of measuring the velocity of a moving charged particle, and the ratio of its charge to its mass follows. After a discussion of the various radioactive processes a brief account of the theories of the structure of the atom is given.

Discharge of Electricity through Gases.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

The lectures deal primarily with the study of ions and the part they play in the mechanism of the electric discharge.

Dr. Huff offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Mathematical Theory of Electricity and Magnetism.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures are based on Maxwell's standard work, and include a somewhat detailed account of the later development of the theory.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Physical Optics.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course gives a general mathematical discussion of physical optics. Attention will be paid to the methods and results of important investigations, bringing in the essential points.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

Thermo-dynamics and Radiation.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The modern developments of thermo-dynamics and radiation are considered. Attention is paid to the application of the laws of thermo-dynamics in physical chemistry.

In each year Dr. Huff and Dr. Barnes together conduct the seminary, the journal club, and the laboratory work.

Physical Seminary and Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The advanced students meet with the instructors once a week to hear or read papers on assigned topics in physics.

Laboratory work.

The laboratory work is arranged for the purpose of familiarising the student with the methods of research; the student begins by repeating methods and investigations of well-known experimenters, with any modifications that may be suggested, passing on to points of investigation left untouched by previous experimenters, and finally to the study of new methods and the prosecution of original research. Students taking physics as their chief subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy are expected to spend all the time possible in the laboratory. In the basement there is a constant-temperature vault designed for accurate comparison of lengths, etc., and the laboratory is provided with special rooms for magnetic, optical, and electrical work. A well-equipped shop and a trained mechanic make it possible to have special forms of apparatus constructed which are needed in research work.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1906-07 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Spectroscopy.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The course begins with a complete discussion of the apparatus used in this subject; the results of past and present investigations are then considered, and problems for investigation are pointed out. The many important applications of spectroscopy to astronomy are not neglected. The standard book of reference is Kayser's Handbuch der Spectroscopie. Detailed reports of laboratory investigations are required and in this work Mann's Manual of Advanced Optics will be found useful.

Dr. Huff offers in 1907-08 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Electricity and Magnetism.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures of this course treat typical mathematical and experimental problems chosen from the various parts of the entire subject. Emphasis is laid upon giving clear ideas of physical phenomena. A large number of problems on potential and attraction are assigned.

Dr. Barnes offers in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

General Optics.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

These lectures give a general discussion of the theories advanced to explain many phenomena in light. Students are required to have a good knowledge of elementary optics and to be sufficiently familiar with optical apparatus to undertake a detailed study of some special problem.

Dr. Huff offers in 1909-10 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Properties of Matter.

Three hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures cover the general subject of the properties of matter studied from the point of view of the Molecular Theory. The different theories of matter are discussed and an account of recent investigations concerning the relations of matters and electricity is given. Poynting and Thomson's Properties of Matter is read in connection with the course.

Theory of Sound.

Three hours a week during the second semester.

The lectures form an introduction to the theory of modes of vibration of pipes, strings, and rods. The theory of music and of musical instruments is then studied. Poynting and Thomson's Sound is used during the earlier part of the course, and frequent references are made to Helmholtz and Rayleigh.

Chemistry.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Elmer P. Kohler, Professor of Chemistry, Dr. David Wilbur Horn, Associate Professor of Chemistry, Dr. George Shannon Forbes, Associate (elect) in Chemistry, and Miss Gertrude Langden Heritage, Demonstrator in Chemistry.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The advanced courses in chemistry consist of lectures upon inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry, seminary work, reports upon current chemical literature, and laboratory exercises. In the laboratory work the students are required to become familiar with the literature bearing upon the subjects they are studying, and it is therefore necessary for them to have a reading knowledge of French and German.

The lecture courses are varied from year to year to meet the requirements of students and to form a consecutive course for those who wish to make chemistry the chief subject in the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in organic chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Kohler, or in inorganic and physical chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Horn, but students who make organic chemistry the major subject of examination must take physical chemistry as one of their minor subjects, and students who make inorganic chemistry the major subject, must take organic chemistry as one of the minor subjects.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Kohler conducts in each year the following graduate seminary:

Chemical Seminary, Organic Chemistry. One hour a week throughout the year.

The students who specialise in organic chemistry present formal reports upon assigned topics.

Dr. Horn conducts in 1906-07, and Dr. Forbes will conduct in 1907-08 the following graduate seminary:

Chemical Seminary, Inorganic Chemistry.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The lectures are on structural inorganic chemistry, including the latest theories on the structure of inorganic compounds (stereometric isomerism).

Dr. Kohler offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Advanced Organic Chemistry.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Dr. Forbes offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

Physical Chemistry.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures give a complete survey of the subject, including relations of mass and volume, thermo-chemistry, theory of solutions, Guldberg and Waage's mass law, reaction velocities, and chemical equilibria.

The laboratory work in connection with the course includes the determination of specific gravities of solids, liquids, and gases, calorimetry, the use of the polariscope and refractrometer and the study of the conductivity of electrolytes, standardisation and calibration of instruments, determination of vapor density and molecular weights, electro-chemical measurements.

Dr. Kohler and Dr. Horn together conduct the journal club.

Chemical Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year

The advanced students, with the instructors, meet to hear reports and discussions on recent scientific articles.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Horn offers in 1906-07 and Dr. Forbes will offer in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Inorganic Chemistry.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The aim of the lectures is to extend the students' knowledge of inorganic and theoretical chemistry. One hour a week is given to a discussion of the laboratory work and subjects suggested directly by it.

In the laboratory the calibrations necessary for exact quantitative analysis are taken up first, and are then used in analyses by the most accurate methods. The analysis of air, water, and foods follows, and is directed toward the detection and estimation of impurities and adulterations. The last part of the course consists of physical-chemical measurements, especially those bearing directly upon electrolytic dissociation. The laboratory course is modified when necessary to adapt it to individual students.

Dr. Kohler offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Organic Chemistry, selected topics.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

The aim of this course is to lay the foundation for independent work in organic chemistry. The lectures begin with a study of current problems as illustrated by some particular class of organic compounds. This is followed by a discussion of the laboratory methods available for the solution of such problems.

The laboratory work is varied to meet the wants of the individual students. In general the student begins with the preparation of some of the more important substances that are discussed in the lectures. This is followed by organic analyses, molecular weight determinations, and the transformations necessary to establish the structural formulas of the substances prepared. In the second semester some elementary problem in organic chemistry is assigned to each student.

Geology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. Florence Bascom,* Professor of Geology, and Dr. Benjamin Le Roy Miller, Associate in Geology.

The instruction offered in geology includes, in addition to the minor and major courses, two hours a week of free elective work, two post-major courses of three hours a week open only to graduates and to undergraduates that have completed the major course in geology and three graduate courses of five, three, and two hours a week respectively.

*Dr. Bascom has been granted leave of absence for the year 1906-07 and the courses usually offered by her are given by Dr. Miller.

Post-major courses in petrography and palæontology are offered in each year, and are designed to train the student in petrographic methods for the exact determination of rock species and rock families and in the principles of invertebrate and vertebrate palæontology. They are an essential preliminary to research work in the science.

Excellent illustrative material for the graduate and undergraduate courses is furnished by the geological collections of the college, including the Theodore D. Rand rock and mineral collection, which alone contains over 20,000 specimens, by the private collections of the instructors, and by material lent by the United States Geological Survey. The department is also fortunate in its proximity to the museum of the Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia. Within easy reach of the college there are excellent collecting fields for fossil, mineral, and rock specimens.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The graduate course in petrology should be preceded by the major and post-major courses or their equivalents and is intended primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The graduate course in mineralogy is intended to meet the needs of graduate students in chemistry who wish to make mineralogy a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. It is open to all graduate students who have had previous training in chemistry. The graduate course in palæontology is designed primarily for graduate students wishing to make geology a major subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy; it may also be taken by graduate students in biology who wish to make palæontology a minor subject for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Further graduate courses in petrology will be arranged to suit the requirements of candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy and research problems will be assigned.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Bascom offers the following graduate courses:

Lectures on Petrology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Field Work.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work.

Five hours a week throughout the year.

The lectures deal with the problems of metamorphism of both aqueous and igneous rocks. The character of metamorphic processes and the conditions which control these processes, the megascopic and microscopic structures, and the criteria determining the origin, classification, geographic distribution and geologic occurrence of metamorphic rocks are treated. Direction is given in research-work, map making, and advanced field work. The amount of laboratory, field work, and private reading required makes the course the equivalent of five hours a week.

Lectures on Mineralogy.

Two hours a week throughout the year

Laboratory Work.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

This course opens with lectures on morphological crystallography, illustrated by models of crystal forms and accompanied by problems in crystal projections and construction and in the determination of indices by zones; there are also lectures on molecular and dynamical physical crystallography; optical crystallography and optical methods of mineral determination are treated in detail. A large portion of the second semester is devoted to descriptive mineralogy and the discussion of important mineral species. The lectures are illustrated by minerals, and the student is encouraged to make her own collection.

In the laboratory opportunity is given for the study of crystal forms, optical methods of mineral determination, and mineral species.

Williams's Crystallography and the works of Hintze, Groth, Tschermak, and Dana are used as reference books.

Dr. Miller offers the following graduate course:

Lectures on Palæontology.

One hour a week throughout the year

Field Work.

Three hours a week throughout the year

Laboratory Work.

Three and a half hours a week throughout the year.

It is the aim of this course to give a systematic review of the fossil remains of the animal and vegetable kingdoms, and to study in detail one or more of the more important classes, or some special fauna. An endeavor is made to emphasise the principles of palæontology and the bearing of this science on the doctrine of evolution. This three-fold purpose is accomplished largely by required reading and laboratory study of fossil specimens. So far as practicable, the more detailed work will be confined to the study of forms collected by the student, which is made possible by the easy access to several good collecting regions. Nicholson and Lydekker's Manual of Palæontology, Bernard's Éléments de Paléontologie, and Zittel-Eastman's Text-book of Palæontology furnish the basis for systematic study. Monographs and State Reports constitute a large amount of special literature. Through the coöperation of the biological department students of palæontology are enabled to make constant comparison between fossil and living forms and thus by inference to reconstruct the entire organism of type forms.

Specially assigned problems requiring careful field examination form the basis of field work.

Dr. Bascom and Dr. Miller together conduct the journal club:

Journal Club.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet for the presentation and discussion of recent geological literature.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Bascom offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Lectures on Petrography.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

Field Work.

Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work.

Two and a half hours a week throughout the year

During the first semester the lectures deal with the principles of optical crystallography, the optical means of mineral determination, and the microscopical characters of rock-forming minerals. In the second semester the structure, composition, characters, origin, geographical distribution, and geological associations of the igneous rocks are treated. The new system of quantitative chemical classification of igneous rocks is used and quantitative calculations of the chief types of igneous rocks are made for the purpose of determining their position in the new system. Petrographical investigation in the field and laboratory is included in the course. The works of Groth, Rosenbusch, Zirkel, and Michel Lévy are used for reference. Special field problems are given to the students for independent solution.

Dr. Miller offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Lectures on Palæontology. Two hours a week throughout the year.

Field Work. Three hours a week throughout the year.

Laboratory Work. Two and a half hours a week throughout the year.

After a brief preparatory review of the various groups of fossils, lectures on the principles of palæontology are given, special attention being paid to phylogeny. The work of Hyatt, Cope, Jackson, Beecher and many others is discussed. The different groups of fossil invertebrate animals are then systematically studied throughout the remainder of the year. Zittel-Eastman's Text-book of Palæontology, Vol. I, is used. Field trips are made to fossiliferous regions.

FREE ELECTIVE COURSES.

Dr. Miller offers in each year the following free elective courses, open to graduate students:

Lectures on Meteorology. Two hours a week during the first semester.

The lectures begin with a description and discussion of the elements and general movements of the atmosphere, the origin and progress of storms, and the various factors which determine climate. The practical phases of meteorological investigations are then considered, and in this connection special attention is given to the work of the U. S. Weather Bureau, involving descriptions of the instruments used, the data collected, and the use made of this information in the preparation of maps and the forecasting of weather conditions. The current daily weather maps are interpreted and the work is illustrated by numerous charts and meteorological instruments.

Lectures on Oceanography. Two hours a week during the second semester.

The lectures deal with the physical geography of the submerged portion of the earth. The results of the deep-sea exploring expeditions of recent years form the basis of the lectures, and the publications of these expeditions are used for reference. The physiography of the ocean bottom is compared with that of land areas and the relations existing between them are discussed.

Biology.

The instruction in this department is under the direction of Dr. David Hilt Tennent, Associate Professor of Biology, Dr. Joseph W. Warren, Associate Professor of Physiology, Dr. Nettie Maria Stevens, Associate in Experimental Morphology and Dr. Harriet Randolph, Demonstrator in Biology and Reader in Botany.

GRADUATE COURSES.

The advanced courses are varied from year to year, so as to form a consecutive course for students that wish to make biology one of the chief subjects of the examination for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Such students may specialise either in animal morphology under the guidance of Dr. Tennent, or in animal physiology under the guidance of Dr. Warren.

No undergraduates are admitted to graduate courses.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1906-07 and again in 1909-10 the following graduate course:

The History of Evolution.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course of lectures deals with the growth of the idea of organic evolution, the greater part of the course being devoted to a critical examination of the work of Lamarck, Darwin, and De Vries.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

Adaptation of Organisms.

One hour a week throughout the year.

In this course the adaptation of organisms to environment, the origin of adaptations and the theories that have been advanced to account for adaptation are considered.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1908-09 the following graduate course:

Problems in Embryology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Germinal organisation, cleavage, and differentiation and the problems of inheritance and development are studied.

Dr. Warren offers in 1906-07 the following graduate courses:

Selected Problems of Nutrition with special reference to the Digestion and Absorption of Foods.

One hour a week during the first semester.

Selected Problems in Respiration and their bearing on the Nature of Metabolism, and the Problem of Animal Heat (Thermometry and Calorimetry).

One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Warren offers in 1907-08 the following graduate course:

The Physiology of the Special Senses.

One hour a week throughout the year.

Dr. Warren offers in 1908-09 the following graduate courses:

The Interstitial Secretion of Glands ("Internal Secretion").

One hour a week during the first semester.

The Problem of the Knee-jerk, and a Discussion of the Graphic Method in its Application to Physiology.

One hour a week during the second semester.

Dr. Stevens offers in each year the following graduate course:

Advanced Experimental Morphology.

One hour a week throughout the year

The topics treated in this course vary from year to year according to the needs of the graduate students attending the course and the work being done by prominent investigators in the field of experimental morphology. Special use will be made of the recent periodical literature. The subjects considered in 1905-06 and 1906-07 were sex determination, organisation of the cytoplasm of the egg, the mutation theory, some problems in regeneration, statistical methods for the study of biological variation, and experimental morphology from a historical standpoint. A selection from these topics will be given in 1907-08 unless some other topics seem more desirable. Problems for laboratory research are assigned to each student.

Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Stevens together conduct the journal club, the seminary, and the laboratory work.

Biological Journal Club.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The advanced students and the instructors meet fortnightly for the discussion of topics of current biological literature.

Biological Seminary.

One hour a fortnight throughout the year.

The graduate students and the instructors meet fortnightly for the formal presentation of assigned topics.

Laboratory Work.

There is no regular course of laboratory instruction for graduates. Each student desiring to devote a considerable portion of her time to such work is given an experimental problem for verification or extension. The nature of the work depends in each case on the qualifications of the student.

POST-MAJOR COURSES.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1906-07 and again in 1908-09 the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Embryology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course consists of lectures and laboratory work on the embryology of the vertebrates. In the lectures an effort is made not only to discuss the embryology of specific forms but also to consider carefully the fundamental questions of embryological interest. The development of Amphioxus, Ascidian, Amia, Lepidosteus, Squalus, Ctenolabrus, Necturus, Rana, Chick, and Mammal is studied. After the study of these forms some elementary problem in embryology is assigned to each student.

Dr. Tennent offers in 1907-08 and again in 1909-10 the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Comparative Anatomy and Embryology of the Protochordates.

One hour a week during the first semester.

This course of lectures, assigned reading, and laboratory work is intended to supplement the major course in zoology. Types of the principal groups of the protochordates are studied in the laboratory and some individual work is assigned.

The Structure of Protoplasm and the Cell.

One hour a week during the second semester

The structure of protoplasm, the mechanism of cell division, fertilisation, reduction and some of the problems of cell organisation are described and studied.

Dr. Warren offers in each year the following post-major courses, open to graduate students:

Advanced Physiology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

The topics selected depend upon the previous training of the students, and as far as possible the preferences of the students are consulted. Occasional conferences are held for the discussion of essays prepared by the students and presenting the more important evidence concerning the fundamental problems of physiology. By this means it is hoped to familiarise the student with the literature and with the methods of investigation.

Lectures on the Structure and Function of the Central Nervous System.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course may, under special circumstances, be taken at the same time as the major course. The finer structure of the nervous system of the higher vertebrates is discussed in considerable detail. The physiology of the cord and brain is presented as fully as the time will permit. This course may also be taken as a one hour elective by properly qualified students.

Lectures and Demonstrations in Physiological Chemistry.

Two hours a week throughout the year.

The instruction in this course is given by lectures and conferences on selected topics and also by laboratory work of about three hours a week. It treats of the problems of secretion and excretion, and also of the principal questions of nutrition in considerable detail and with reference to the more modern theories relating to these processes. The lectures are intended to supplement those of the major year, and a preliminary training in chemistry equivalent to that obtained in the minor course is required. This course may be taken as a two hour elective by properly qualified students.

Human Osteology.

One hour a week throughout the year.

This course is intended for students in the preliminary medical course; it may also be taken as a free elective course by properly qualified students receiving special permission. Two hours laboratory work is required in connection with the course.

Dr. Stevens offers in each year the following post-major course, open to graduate students:

Problems in Experimental Morphology. One hour a week throughout the year.

The object of this course is to give a general view of experimental morphology, to discuss some of the methods employed, to point out the results already obtained, and to indicate the nature of the work now being done in this subject. The students will be referred to the most recent investigations in the subject and an attempt will be made to make them familiar with the most interesting research problems in experimental morphology. This course may be taken in exceptional cases as a one hour course with one and a half hours laboratory work or assigned reading, but it is recommended that it be taken with five hours laboratory work as a three hour course.

Dr. Tennent, Dr. Warren, and Dr. Stevens conduct laboratory work in connection with the above courses:

Laboratory Work.

It is desirable that as much laboratory work as possible should be done in connection with the courses offered above. The object of the laboratory work is to give the student experience in the use of apparatus and in adapting it to research. Some special problem is assigned to each student; at the end of the year the results of the work are presented in writing.

COLLEGE BUILDINGS.

The college buildings are situated at Bryn Mawr, in the suburbs of Philadelphia, five miles west of the city, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The site of the college is four hundred and twenty feet above sea level, in the midst of a beautiful rolling country made accessible by good roads in every direction. The college grounds cover fifty-two acres, and include lawns, tennis courts, and two large athletic fields, one of which is converted in winter into a skating-pond.

Taylor Hall (named after the founder), a large building of Port Deposit stone, contains a general assembly room, eleven lecture-rooms, and the offices of administration.

A library, the gift of the friends, graduates, and students of the college, begun in April, 1903, was completed in February, 1907. It is built of gray stone in the Jacobean Gothic style of architecture of the period of 1630, and forms three sides of a closed quadrangle. The main building, devoted to the library proper, faces east and is opposite and parallel to Taylor Hall at a distance of about fifty yards; the principal entrances of the two buildings face each other and are connected by a broad cement path. The east front is one hundred and seventy-four feet long and contains a three story stack with accommodation for eighty-eight thousand volumes, and above this a large reading-room with desks for one hundred and thirty-six readers, each desk screened to a height of two feet, as in the British Museum reading-room, to secure privacy to the reader. No books of reference are kept in the main reading-room. Beyond the reading-room on the south side is the newspaper and magazine room, and reached through this a study room. On the north side is the Art Seminary, containing collections of photographs, vases, and coins. The main building contains offices for the librarians and cataloguers, a study room for the non-resident students, and four cloak rooms. The wings of the building, running symmetrically about two hundred feet in length from the north and south ends of the main building, contain twelve seminary rooms and twenty-five professors' offices. There is accommodation in each seminary room for ten or twelve graduate students, and graduate lectures are held in the seminary rooms, where the books needed principally for graduate and research work are kept. The total book capacity of the library, including the books for general study which are kept in the stack, is 168,449 volumes. The building is absolutely fireproof. The seminaries are arranged as follows: Greek, Latin, English, German, French, Italian and Spanish, and Philosophy in the north wing; Mathematics, History, Economics, Psychology, and Semitic Languages in the south wing. Professors' offices for the senior professors in each department adjoin the seminary rooms. There are also two seminary lecture-rooms accommodating about fifteen students, one general lecture-room accommodating forty-two students, four interview rooms, and a library for the use of the Christian Union of the Students.

On the first floor of the south wing the department of experimental psychology has two large laboratories, one for general work and one for research. The basement of the north wing contains rooms for the Monograph Committee of the Faculty, the Alumnæ Association, the Students' Association for Self-Government, and fireproof safe rooms for the records and archives of the college. The quadrangular court enclosed by the building is surrounded by cloisters and in the center of the grass enclosure is a fountain, the gift of the class of 1901.

In January, 1893, the scientific departments of the college were transferred to Dalton Hall, a stone building erected by the Trustees out of funds in large part contributed by the generosity of friends of the college. Dalton Hall is entirely occupied by the scientific departments, the special scientific libraries, and the consultation-rooms of the professors of science. The first floor and the basement are reserved for physics, the second floor is reserved for biology, the third floor for chemistry, and the fourth and fifth floors for geology. In December, 1893, a greenhouse designed for the use of the botanical department was added to Dalton Hall as the gift of the alumnæ and students.

Around Taylor Hall the Trustees have erected halls of residence for the accommodation of students. Plans, drawings, and descriptions of the six halls of residence, Merion Hall, Radnor Hall, Denbigh Hall, Pembroke Hall East, Pembroke Hall West and Rockefeller Hall, the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, and of the academic buildings, Taylor Hall, the Library, and Dalton Hall, are published in a separate pamphlet to be obtained from the Secretary of the College.

The gymnasium, which is open to the students at all times, contains a large hall for gymnastic exercises, with a running or walking track for use in rainy weather; a room for the director, and an adjoining room for the examination and record of the physical development of the students. In the basement are bathrooms for use after exercise and a swimming-tank, seventy-four feet long, twenty feet wide, and from four to seven and a half feet deep, given in 1894 by the alumnæ, students, and friends of the college, and well supplied with spring boards, life preservers, and other apparatus for the teaching of swimming. The gymnasium was built in accordance with the plans of Dr. Sargent, is furnished with his complete apparatus, and is under the charge of a director and two assistants.

There is on the grounds, separated from the other buildings, a cottage infirmary, or hospital, with accommodation for patients and nurses, and its own kitchen and bathrooms.

A central power-house, which was erected in 1903 as part of the gift of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, furnishes heat, electric light, and hot water for all the college buildings. Steam is conducted through tunnels underground to coils in the basement of each building. Air brought in from the outside is blown through the heaters by powerful fans and distributed to the various rooms, and the piping system is so adjusted as to change the air completely in every room once in every ten minutes throughout the day and night. The temperature is regulated by thermostats in the heating coils as well as in the individual rooms. The electric lights, including electric reading-lamps for each student, are installed in the most approved manner and the voltage is kept constant so that there is no fluctuation. A constant and abundant supply of hot water is laid on and maintained at a temperature of 180 degrees, during all the twenty-four hours of the day, in all the bathrooms and stationary washstands and tea pantries.

The Delaware and Atlantic Telegraph and Telephone Company, a branch of the long-distance Bell Telephone Company, maintains telephone pay stations in each of the halls of residence, in the library and in the gymnasium, by means of which the students may be communicated with at any time. Near the college are a Postal Telegraph-Cable Company office (service 6 A. M. to 12 P. M.), an Adams Express office, a United States money-order office, and two banks. There are good roads in every direction. Horses for riding and driving may be kept at livery near the college, at a cost of twenty-five dollars a month.
